Bryant Receives AACSB Accreditation

Bryant received accreditation for its undergraduate and graduate programs' Tuesday from the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB). The accreditation was accepted by AACSB at its annual meeting in Florida.

Achieving AACSB was a goal Bryant strived toward for the past 10 years. To prepare for accreditation, Bryant revised the business curriculum to make it more competitive in a global market, added more than 30 professors—increasing doctoralqualified faculty to 84 percent, and implemented new technology.

"Achieving AACSB accreditation is the result of strategic planning and hard work by many members of the Bryant community," said President William E. Truheart.

President Truheart also noted the improvements made in the facilities available to the Bryant Community, which now ranks Bryant among the best business schools in the nation. Over the years, structures such as Dorm 16, Faculty Suite F, and the new townhouses were constructed in an effort to achieve accreditation.

"We have made continuous investment in our students and our Bryant," said President Truheart. "From a more extensive library collection to a new language and learning lab, and more advanced and accessible computer resources."

Vice President of Academic Affairs and Dean of Faculty Michael B. Patterson noted the AACSB accreditation is an addition to Bryant's continuing accreditation by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges (NEASC). However, AACSB provides Bryant with a specialized accreditation for the business program. "AACSB accreditation is mandatory for Bryant," added Dean Patterson.

With this accreditation, Bryant is among the group of approximately 300 business programs at more than 1,200 schools throughout the United States, according to Patterson.

Application for AACSB is voluntary and the process takes approximately two years for approval or rejection. At Bryant, preparation included hiring new faculty, reforming the curricular system, undergoing a comprehensive self-study and a site visit, and review by AACSB bodies. Historically 50% of the self-studies are accepted and approximately 50% of the schools pass the AACSB review. Six months before the visit, the College from November 28 to December 1, 1993. In the early 1980s the Strategic Planning Committee considered the question of AACSB accreditation. "We sent a survey of 2,500 second-year students to Bryant—students took both liberal arts and business courses at the same time, AACSB required more liberal arts courses to be taken during the first two years. Professional courses are concentrated into the last two years, under the AACSB plan. Because of the extensive curriculum offered by the business administration, the Strategic Planning Committee advised the Board of Trustees not to seek the accrediting at that time."

However, the trustees soon realized that AACSB accreditation would be necessary if Bryant was to compete among top business schools in the country. The board looked at the accreditation as a vehicle for enhancing the College's continued, Accreditation, page 6

Bryant Broadens Its Horizons

English is not the mother-tongue of all people around the world, and most institutions have English proficiency requirements for admission. However, Bryant is taking steps to overcome this barrier.

The INTRAX English Institute, recently chosen by Bryant as one of three sites among the United States to set up an English as a Second Language program, or ESL program, is operational.

There are six eight-week programs during each year. Classes are held for five periods per day and are 30 minutes each. During the academic year, there is a minimum age requirement of 17 to live on campus. Over the summer sessions, secondary school students may be enrolled.

"I don't like to deny admission based on English proficiency, and this will enable Bryant to offer conditional admission for non-English-speaking applicants," remarked Nicholas Senecal, Associate Director of Admission.

This will certainly help with recruiting, and it will also promote the internationalization of the campus. Current international students will be able to provide some support for the ESL students, and perhaps receive some support in return.

INTRAX not only gives Bryant an ESL program which one of its competitors already offers, but also offers representation for Bryant around the globe. INTRAX has five centers in the United States and additional centers in the United States, according to Patterson.

Disturbance Ends in Student's Arrest

Julia Arouchon

A disturbance Saturday night involving 150 students resulted in one student being arrested. Daniel Warsiowski, 20, of Brockton, Massachusetts, was arrested and charged with two counts of assault, one count of destruction of property, and one count of possessing a false driver's license.

Warsiowski was arraigned Tuesday and pleaded not guilty. He was released on his own personal recognizance of $5,000. He is scheduled to appear in court on April 19.

According to George Coronado, director of Public Safety, the incident involving Warsiowski stemmed from an argument between a student by two visitors to campus.

Is there a problem?

A student is arrested for assaulting a police officer. An emergency phone system is vandalized. BRYCOL reports damages to soda machines. Equipment is stolen from the MRC Lecture Hall. These are just a few examples of a year which has been plagued by theft, vandalism, and violence.

These incidents show how selfish acts by a few people can bring inconvenience to everyone. The emergency phone station was installed for the use of all students and for everyone’s safety, but it barely had the chance to be used because one individual chose to destroy it.

We also can’t ignore the consequences and rising costs of these acts. Not only could there be limited access to campus facilities, but more public safety officers patrols may be required. Students most likely will not like being watched over more closely.

The financial costs of all these incidents are also adding up and it is those students who ultimately have to pay. Is this fair to those who respect our campus?

Some of these events could possibly be attributed to too much drinking on campus. Why did President arrest or injury. The financial costs of Americ Colleges and Universities”?

We also can't ignore the consequences and rising costs of their behavior.

Is be aPoble prevented if people think before they act and realize the consequences of their behavior.

Student Criticizes Spring Weekend Planning

To the Editor:

I would like to start off by saying that I have absolutely nothing against the band, Red Apple. I think they are a great group.

I would, however, like to congratulate the events chair(s) of SPB for knowing another Spring Weekend. Here are three things that left and not a single popular, headlining band.

Hmmm... I seem to recall a survey, taken a month or two ago, that of which, the five semi-popular bands we would like to see. We didn’t mind it, we’d really be like to seeing The Cranberries, Billy, or any other one-hit wonder band this year.

Nope! Instead, we’ve got “Wet ’n Wild.” Why am I not jumping up and down celebrating!!! “What if the week’s the ‘wild’? Why are we still got the weekend, right?”

Well, I suppose the dunk tank is a little wet, but how can a couple of obstacles course get? That’s it, an obstacle course and a few gallons of water. Oh, and let’s not even mention the gas and water in the ‘Wet ’n Wild’ Superbug. And boy, am I looking forward to those fun photos! A beach party, huh? If they wanted to have a real beach party, limited.

Ultimately individuals need to take responsibility for their own actions. Many incidents could probably be prevented if people think before they act and realize the consequences of their behavior.

SPB Announces Spring Weekend Performers

To the Bryant Community:

To all of you out there who are wondering what is happening during this year’s wonderful Spring Weekend—there are finally confirmed. It has been a long they'd dump two tons of sand behind Koffler, and let us go to town! I would try to comment on some of the other planned activities, but there are none! I think I know what the response will be. It will be, “Everyone wants to have a good Spring Weekend, they should come to the SPB meetings and participate. We don’t know what everyone wants to see.” A common story.

Well frankly, it’s not our job! Aren’t SPB people there to act like representatives? They should be. The law of averages suggests that mostly all tastes should have some representation. The only bands selected were Alternative-style bands, whatever that means. While I’m on the subject, who said that this is an alternative campus, anyway? WJMF! Did President Trueheart make some formal, campus-wide address that I didn’t know about? Someone, I don’t think so.

It’s like this: I wish I was on the tennis team, so I could go away every Spring Weekend.

Well, fellow students, remember the point is to have as much fun as you can, and pray for rain!

To the Editor:

Contrary to the image of today's youth being arrested and pressed publicly, a group of Bryant College sophomores decided to set a different tone when they played host to a Sophomore Prom at the Bryant dorms on Friday evening, April 8 at the college's Bryant Center Conference Room.

A handsome, clean-cut group of sophomores and a few of their friends greeted and entertained a large group of "Seniors" from Smithfield and neighboring towns. The students, all dressed in tuxedos and "Sunday best" waited on tables, served a delicious dinner and then danced with their guests to the music of the 30's, 40's and 50's provided by Jimmy O's Disc Jockey Service. Everything from the opening prayer to dinner, dancing, and door prizes was a compliment to these fine young men and women. The people of Smithfield can and should feel very proud of these young people and of Bryant College.

Thank you, Sean, Dale, Jane, Phillip, Sejal, Alicia, Joe, Mary, and your friends for carrying out a very gracious and meaningful public service idea.

Assault

April 4, 1994—Department of Public Safety officers were requested to respond to a complaint of an assault. Upon arrival to the scene the complainant claimed that she was assaulted by her roommate and roommate's boyfriend. The complainant, at the time of the incident, chose not to press charges.

Assault

April 6, 1994—DPS officers were requested to report to a disturbance allegedly caused by an unwanted visitor. Upon arrival, the DPS officers witnessed three students in the suite. The officers quickly separated the parties and began to sort out the problem. The assaultant had returned to campus with his girlfriend. He was asked to leave the suite. When he would not leave he was again asked to leave by other students.

The assaultant became violent and the assailant was taken into custody and charged with disorderly conduct and simple assault.

Motor Vehicle Hit and Run

April 4, 1994—DPS officers were requested to respond to a report of an accident. Upon arrival, April 8, 1994—DPS officers were requested to respond to a report of a motor vehicle hit and run that occurred on the strip near Hall 14. The complainant parked the vehicle on the strip on April 7, 1994 and returned on April 8, 1994 to find rear end damage. Anyone with any information on this incident is asked to contact the DPS office.

Rocking the Night Away for Diabetes

Pat Barry
Archway Staff Writer

For the third year in a row, the Theta Alpha Sorority rocked in rocking chairs for 24 hours to raise money for the American Diabetes Association. Throughout the previous week, the sisters of Theta Alpha collected donations for the time they would be rocking. On Monday, the sisters began the Rock-a-Thon in the Bryant Center at noon. Police Chief Devine of the Smithfield Police Department kicked off the event. Devine spoke about the seriousness of the disease and how the Rock-a-Thon is known for its large donation.

The sisters of Theta Alpha continued to rock in the five chairs throughout the night until noon on Tuesday. Cathy O’Donnell of the American Diabetes Association commenced the event and spoke about the number of people in Rhode Island who have diabetes and don’t know they have the disease. She announced that the money from the Rock-a-Thon would go towards Diabetes Awareness.

At the end of the rocking marathon, Dean F.J. Talley led the auctioning of the five brand-new chairs which had been donated by Cardin’s Furniture. All proceeds from the auction also went to American Diabetes. Theta Alpha Phi raised approximately $1,000 at the close of the Rock-a-Thon, but donations were still coming in at that time. This donation will be a significant help in the fight against diabetes at the American Diabetes Association.

So, You Want a Career in Sports

Angelo L. Corradino
Archway Staff Writer

Last night, people from different jobs in the sports world were on campus for a seminar called Careers in Sport for students who are interested in this field.

The panel consisted of John Paquette from the Big East; Bryant College Assistant Athletic Director Coni Fichera; Ken Betthausen from Champs Sports; Dave Gilmore '92 from Prime Network; and Joe Beninati from the Providence Bruins.

The discussion began with each panel member giving a brief scenario of how they achieved their goals. Each member briefly discussed their background, talked about how they got there, and why they chose sports as a career.

Paquette started in sports information and eventually worked his way up through the ranks to become Assistant Director of Public Relations at Big East.

"To glorify my job, I get paid to watch basketball and football games," Paquette said. "However you need to have a love for this job, and it is a lot of hard work."

Internships are the most important key to getting a jump on others in the sports world. Fichera used this path to land her job at Bryant.

"It is the best way to network, you get to know people from different colleges throughout New England," Fichera said. "You meet people and they will remember you."

Gilmore talked about his experience with the Houston Rockets. He sent resume out to every NBA team to try and land a job with one of the franchises. After receiving a number of rejection letters, the Houston Rockets called him and offered him a job in the season ticket office.

"Even if you do not get the job, send a thank you letter," Gilmore added. "They will remember you the next time a job opens up."

Betthausen, then briefly, diversified the subject by talking about the retail industry in sports. He basically said you have to work your way up through the ranks. He started as a salesman in a store in Albany, New York, and has worked his way up to manager in Brannon, Massachusetts.

The most interesting speaker of the night, Beninati talked about the Providence Bruins, and how he became a play-by-play announcer.

He actually started out in the medical field, and wanted to go into sports medicine. He then decided to change his career plan and become a sports broadcaster.

The panelists also gave their advice on how students can achieve a career in sports. They all agreed organization skills are very important as well as quality in people applying for jobs.

"In your first year or two, you will be given a lot of jobs to do. If you are not organized you will not survive," Paquette said.

They also stressed the emphasis of networking. If someone knows you, it will be easier to get in the door.

"It is not what you know, it is who you know," Gilmore added. "Last summer, while I was working in Newport, I met a woman who from Prime Network in Houston. After the Rockets let me go, she asked me to become a freelancer for the station."

Other suggestion the panel had for the audience included: know your strengths and weaknesses, and be able to evaluate yourself. Another big thing people look for is work experience. If you have had a job in any area in sports it can only help.

The panelist all stress how much work they do, but they also stated how much they love their work.

"I have the best job in the world, and would not trade it for anything," Fichera added.

If you were unable to attend, you can view a video tape version of this conference by contacting Audio Visual Services at 232-6128.

1994 Honorary Degree Recipients:
A Gallery of Modern Leaders

Paul B. Nunes
Archway Staff Writer

Bryant College will bestow honorary degrees on five distinguished businesspersons at the College's 113th Commencement on May 21. In addition, honorary degrees will also be awarded to Bill Cosby, speaker for the undergraduate commencement, and Stephen Hambly, commencement speaker for the graduate school.

The tradition of awarding honorary degrees at commencement exercises dates back to the days of Bryant's first President, Harry L. Jacobs. Jacobs always attempted to invite eminent business and political leaders to speak at Bryant and receive the prestigious honorary degree.

In past years, Bryant has had the opportunity to recognize such prominent leaders and professionals as Henry Ford in 1930, Madame Chiang Kai-Shek in 1942, James Cash Penney in 1953, and Senator Claiborne Pell in 1962.

To continue the tradition started by Bryant's first president, President William E. Trueheart's office released the names of the 1994 recipients this week.

Paul Kolton has been at the center of two self-regulatory storms for the past 28 years. During 1962 and 1978, Kolton faced increased growth in the nation's securities markets as executive vice president, president, and then chairman of the American Stock Exchange.

Then, Kolton served as the first independent chairman of the Financial Accounting Standards Board's Advisory Council from 1978 until last year where he dealt with major changes in the way companies are required to report financial information. Kolton is a native of New York City and now resides in Connecticut.

A native of Providence, Rhode Island, Lempierre joined Owens-Illinois in 1957 as an administrative trainee. Lempierre held various management positions in the company over the years. In 1990 and then in 1991, he was elected chief executive officer and chairman of the board, respectively.

Jane Cahill Pfeiffer, former broadcasting company executive, began her career with IBM in 1955. Within her twenty year employment at IBM, Pfeiffer advanced to the position of vice president, communications and government relations. Pfeiffer was appointed chairman of the board of the National Broadcasting Company (NBC) in 1978.

In addition, Pfeiffer has served as a member of a number of high-level government commissions, including the President's Commission on White House Fellows.

He served in the military intelligence during World War II and was awarded the Purple Heart in 1945. Alpert is the founder and sole owner of Warren Equities, Inc. and the Warren Companies, headquartered in Providence, Rhode Island. Alpert is the past president of the Ritz Tower Hotel from 1956 to 1989.

Guy B. Snowden, a founding father in the computerization of the worldwide government-authorized lottery industry, is chairman and chief executive officer of GTECH Corporation. Since he co-founded of GTECH, Snowden has led GTECH to a paramount position in its industry.

Prior to his co-founding of GTECH, Snowden was a systems engineer with IBM and a consultant for Systems Operations, Inc.

Do you believe alcohol and other drugs pose a problem on this campus?

"No. I think drugs and alcohol are used, but not to an extreme or enough to endanger the student population." - Greg Barry '95

"They are definitely on campus, but they're not really a problem unless used to excess. No one could get rid of them completely anyway." - Gina Ricciardi '95

"I assume drugs and alcohol are on campus, but it's not a problem." - Angelo Paoletta '94

"No. Everyone is old enough to be responsible for their actions." - Paul Dube '97

"Yes, very much so. Every weekend drinking is the main activity. We need more non-alcohol related options." - Katrina Gathers '96

"No. People drink in moderation and can handle themselves." - Mike Pavan '95

"No, because people are old enough to handle themselves appropriately." - David Scaccia '94 and Mike Blake '94

"A steak house, but I don't even like steak," I thought, when my friend on her birthday suggested that we go to Bugaboo Creek. What could we do but have the food of our choice? Of course, but we got her good and embarrassed; I'll get to that later. We were told that there would be about a half hour wait, so armed with a beeper we headed for the bar. Each of us ordered a Yellow Snow (vodka, peach schnapps and orange juice) and got down to the usual Monday conversation of what was new, who did what and who said what.

In the middle of a really juicy story, a moonshine hangover started to move through our bodies, so we closed our eyes and fell asleep. It was talking about because we were so startled that we just laughed all through it. We found out later that the talking animal heads, placed throughout, tell tales of life in the Bugaboos in British Columbia, Canada.

Soon after the interruption, our beery visions on the hung and we were shown to our table. We sat by a fire place which was placed in the middle of the restaurant. Everything was very wood and very brick. It felt as though we had gone back to the mid 1800's and were huddled somewhere in the mountains of time.

We glanced over the menu to the appetizers, called WARMING UP, and selected a Bunion Onion (deep fried onions with a spicy dijon mustard sauce for dipping).

On the to the gross stuff, where the entrees are called things like Campfire Chicken and Worms, which I could not wait to get my teeth on. It was sautéed chicken, mushrooms and broccoli over worms, just kidding, over linguini in a butter cheese sauce for $9.95. They also offer Wild Boar Chops (pork chops with apples), Hickory Smoked Mountain Mooseloaf (meatloaf with BBQ sauce) and many other fish, chicken and steak dishes from between $8.95 and $16.95.

Also on the menu were LIGHT MOUNTAIN OFFERINGS (salads and sandwiches) and THE BURGER AVALANCHE which are burgers, obviously, and a menu dedicated in beer and spices and range from $4.95 to $6.25.

The Campfire Chicken and Worms was tantalizing, especially if you like cheese. The chicken was perfectly marinated and had a pungent grilled flavor. It would have been enough for two, but I somehow managed to polish it off.

The birthday girl and the Country Catfish which was Cajun-spiced with mountain rounded potatoes. The potatoes were paramount, definitely one recipe I would like to have. They were soft and topped with tarragon, herbs and pepper. I had to stop myself from picking at her dish.

Our other lunch companion for that night was a different set.

"Alive," "Jeremy," and "Black," from Tusk, was a different set. But we got her good and embarrassed; I'll get to that later. We were told that there would be about a half hour wait, so armed with a beeper we headed for the bar. I am writing this letter about the appalling conditions at Tupper's. Why is it that this is the only store that I know of that continues to run out of supplies. I am not talking about little things like bags or wrappers; I am talking about some of your main items (such as lettuce, turkey, bread, or nachos.)

In a day and age when competition is always lurking around the corner, one has to wonder why nothing is being done about this situation?

I realize that this is the first semester that Tupper's is accepting points, but we are almost into the third month of the semester. When do you plan on getting it right?!

Hello. First off, we would like to thank those of you who unselfishly gave up their time to sit at the table for World Health Day last Thursday. So, Sean, how did you like these pictures? Also, this past Monday, we had our Window Washers promote the HAVOC Forum that was held on April 12 and 13. We wanted to thank those who helped out on this event. Also, we would like to remind everyone that Directions is open on Friday nights from 9 p.m. to 1 p.m. Hope you can come. By the way, our next meeting is Wednesday, April 20 at 4 p.m. in Room 2A. We will see you there.

The A basketball team lost a heartbreaker to URI in the opening round of the playoffs. The loss ends our basketball season, but both teams did better than expected. Next year we should be a force with four returning starters and Dack’s outside shot.

Finally, we lost our first softball game and need a lot of work on our fielding. The Leukemia Society will be holding its 16th annual auction on April 14. The auction starts at 6 p.m. and will be held at the Providence Marriott. If you would like to help in any way or want more information call 232-4065.

This week: BURU is in met form, again; Inara finally gave it; now there is one male and one female; Hatch fell and couldn’t get up. Lewie got left behind, Dobber took off without us; Dack may be reestablished due to his 3.5; and the Red Sox are off to a good start this season.

Quote of the week: “There’s never mind.”

Where should you start? A lot has been happening with BRYCOS Student Services, Inc. First, let me welcome the new directors to the board.

They are Donna Brown, Wendy Gamba and Steve Hore. Congratulations and we all welcome you to our company. Congress also goes out to Director of the-Year, Damian O’Rourke. We cannot thank you enough for all your hard work at BRYCOS. You will truly be missed next year.

Celebrations, our newest division is open for business. Specializes in Campus-wide deliveries of cakes, flowers, and balloons. We are here for all occasions, not just birthdays. For more information please read the article titled “Celebrations.”

The March of Dimes WalkAmerica is Sun. April 24. BRYCOS is proud to be co-sponsoring a team of walkers from Bryant College.

Donations will be taken in the Bryant Center on Monday, April 18 through Wednesday, April 20. This is a worthy charity and I encourage everyone to take some part in it. More information can also be found in the article “The Facts of Life.”

If you missed your chance to order an Articore ring, no problem. Just come by the booth Monday through Friday, 3-5 p.m., and you can place an order. We have a fine selection for you to choose from. You can also pick up a catalog if you need more time to think about a purchase.

Don’t forget employees! The employee party is this Saturday, April 16 at the Comfort. For more information see your general manager.

That said, for now, always wear your favorite credit card. It’s smart money.

My sisters and I had an incredible time on our little get-away to the mountains. It was great to be able to get away and forget about everything except what’s really important in life: Advice: Head toward the mountains (Lake) if you need to find a peaceful sense of yourself.

On a more serious note, I want to thank everyone who participated in the Donate A Meal program. The Comfort Happy Hour on Friday was a great success. The Special Olympics committee would also like to thank the people who participated in the Turn and palm reading activities last Thursday.

We were very pleased at the turn out at our informational meeting. Everyone would still like to become a volunteer, it’s not too late! Just fill out your registration form and contact either Carla at 272-4530, or Tony at 272-4501 for more information. Thank you for your support.

Hi, everyone! Hope you are all having a great week! The year is coming to an end and it’s time to give back to the community.

have some fun. Well, guys, SAA has just the thing for you Ooohlala! It’s volleyball in the mail! Like you’ve never seen before. Trust me, you’ll have the time of your life. Plus, PRO-FM and Subway will be out there with you. But, you better hurry! Team sign-ups take place this week during both lunch and downtime outside South Dining Room.

Also, since finals are around the corner, SAA is ready to relieve your stress with their ever-so-famous Survival Kits. Survival Kit sign-ups have been sent out to parents. So, now, it’s your turn to beg your parents to order you one.

Elections for the new executive board have been going on the past few weeks. We are all excited to see who will board SAA next year. If you’re interested in finding out results, they will be announced at Thursday’s meeting at 4 p.m. in Pappio.

Well, it’s time for me to go. Have a great week! Hope to see you all out there playing Ooohlala on Saturday, April 23, 1994.

Another week has flown by, and here’s the news...

Our sports team took another turn for the better after defeating Sigma Pi in soccer 3-2 on Tuesday. Good job by our new box John with a goal, followed by Eddie and Chet Chi with one apiece. I can’t forget the tremendous second half performance by Psy in goal, and a great job by Jim “Sneakers” Weigel.

We want to thank the sisters of Phi Sig for Saturday night. Walter seemed to be doing a good job ‘smiling’ and Skip just loved wearing those ties. Too bad we had to go because P.S. no 3-Man said “Bye-Bye.”

Some of the crew would like to thank Jim’s sister and “Blondie” for the great show at Red Lobster (next time $1 cover).

I hope everyone has a kickin’ time at the formal and enjoy sweet old Nantucket.

Hey Butler! Does she really have starty eyes?

Hey Robin! “I’m outta here!”

Hello again! Sisters had fun at Phi Kaps formal. Ask you put yourself in the running for this weekend’s Eagle Award. Don’t worry, you’ll be safe as long as you and Panchodon’ play new games of pool on the way back from the ATM!

Wendy quit school Friday and, along with Ali and Grogan, formed the ‘Invading Losers. Thanks to everyone who joined them, especially Mike. Thanks to Megan and Rachel for picking us up in Cumberland—Ali and Wendy. Speaking of Cumberland, “Are you ugly?”

Hurry 40th Birthday to Ferg, Oops! It’s only 21.

As for the formal, we hope that Ferg stays awake, the New Hampshire police aren’t waiting in Glanno’s door, and a good time is had by all (of Phi Kaps).

We hope that Burea is feeling better after his match with Rubble this weekend. By the way, you can pick up a new garbage pail anytime you get the chance! Nice job Greshed on Saturday night. Rascal needed a good whipping! Oxxy, Michelle and Angie are joining E.A. Anyone interested please come see one of us.

Thank you to Rugby for Wednesday. The Disco revival definitely made it.

Congrats to kappa Delta Phi for receiving their charter this past weekend!

Thanks goes out to all who donated to the American Diabetes Association. Our Redathon was a fabulous success!

Women’s Rugby
by Melissa Dennis
Well, ruggers, we survived yet another week of practice. Only a few more weeks left.

I want to thank the guys’ rugby team for the barbecue on Friday.

Let’s not forget to commend Sarah and Josh for their wonderful balloon popping ability. It may have been difficult to find a queen, but finally the perfect one was found: Murph!

The game against PC on Saturday started off good. In the beginning I think everyone on the sidelines almost had a heart attack when the herringbone was done. Wow!! We actually learned something in practice. You all had a great game, especially Lisa, Heather, Erin and Murph.

Hey Shirley, do you remember the ride home? Let’s refresh your memory! Head out the window over packed car and cows, does this ring any bells? We would like to thank Sara and Sarah for picking up the strays on the side of the road.

We have a game on Saturday against Bridgewater at 1 p.m. Come support the team.

Baseball Takes Two Out Of Three from Conference Foe

Eric Hands
Archway Sports Writer

This past weekend Bryant beat NE-10 rival American International College in two out of three games in Springfield, Mass. Bryant then played Springfield College, ranked nationally, on Sunday and lost a well-fought game to finish the weekend trip at 2-2.

In the first game on Friday Bryant's #2 RC's walks to propel Bryant to a 3-1 lead in the first game series. Michael Kuzmics earned the victory in relief. On Saturday, in the first game of a doubleheader Bryant lost 15-8. Both Bryant and AIC took advantage of the 30 mile per hour wind blowing in at 11 homruns being hit in the game. In the rubber game off the three game series, Bryant lead by crafty junior left-hander Scott Luca, came back to win 9-6. Danny Ardito came in to preserve the victory.

On Sunday Bryant lost to Springfield 6-3 in a well-played game. Steve Martin pitched well, but suffered the loss. Bryant took the lead at a two run homer, his second homer in two games to lead the offensive attack. But Springfield came back to rally late in the game to leave Bryant 2-2 for the weekend.

On Monday, Bryant lost to Merrimack 9-4. Bryant had it's opportunities, but failed to drive in runners in scoring position when they had the bases loaded. Freshman pitcher Eric Hands picked up the loss.

On Tuesday, Bryant traveled to New Hampshire to play Keene State, and managed to hold Bryant down in the 9th inning of play 11-10. Bryant plays their first home game of the season this weekend; scheduled for Thursday against nationally ranked New Haven. They are also looking forward to this Saturday's doubleheader against Assumption College which begins at noon.

Senior Brian Terio is leading the trophy in hitting with a 364 batting average. "Ballpen man" Danny Ardito is one of the leagues top closers, he leads the Bryant pitching staff in strikeouts per innings pitched. Bryant overall is 11-14, and the #22 Bryant is 5-2.

In the running events, Elliot Yepez placed fourth in the 100 with a time of 11.3. Dave Shaadingle placed second with a time of 16.4 in the 110 hurdles.

Men Still Running Strong

Pam Barry
Archway Sports Writer

This past weekend, the men's track team competed in the Rhode Island College Invitational. The well-rounded team placed within the top five in almost all of the events that they competed in.

In the men's hammer, Phil Morin placed second with a distance of 111 feet 6 inches. Morin also finished the shotput competition in first place with a throw of 47 feet 6 inches.

Bryant's javelin dominated the event with Eric Quinto placing first at 164 feet 4 inches and Keith Montecalvo taking third with 157 feet 8 inches.

In the running events, Elliot Yepez placed fourth in the 100 with a time of 11.3. Dave Shaadingle placed second with a time of 16.4 in the 110 hurdles.

Tom Gaspar placed third in the 1500 with a time of 4:19. Eric Nelson placed fourth in the 400 with a time of 54.8.

In the 800, Gaspar placed fourth with a time of 2:05. Mike Walsh placed fifth with a time of 2:08. Pete Geselin finished sixth with a time of 2:10.

In the 200, Yepez placed fourth with a time of 23.4.

The 4x400 team of Gaspar, Bell, Corne and Yepez dominated the race, placing first with a time of 3:40.

The men's team continues to show it's strength in all areas and remains a team to be reckoned with.

The Bryant Invitational scheduled for yesterday was canceled so the team's next competition will be at Bridgewater this weekend.

The men's soccer team traveled to Clark University this past Saturday to compete in the annual Clark Indoor Tournament. The tournament featured twelve teams including Clark University, Stonehill, AIC, Salem State, Framingham State, Clark Alumni team, and Connecticut College.

The Bryant booth came in second in their bracket and qualified for the quarter finals. They were paired against a tough Salem State team, who were one of the favorites to win the tournament. Both teams played hard and in the final minutes, Bryant pulled out the win on a goal by sophomore Dong Yoo.

The boys then went on to meet Clark University in the semi-finals. Regulation time ended with a 1-1 tie, and the teams went to penalty shots. Freshman Nelson Castro and junior Ces Jela were both able to beat the Clark goalkeeper, while Bryant goal tender Mike Pavano, playing an exceptional tournament, blocked three penalty shots in a row.

Next up was The Clark University Alumni team in the final game. The Alumni team had gone undefeated all day, but were no match for a red hot Bryant squad. Ces Jela scored his fifth goal of the day to give Bryant its first ever indoor tournament championship.

"Today we came out to play and today we learned what it takes to win," said coach Andrew McNabob, who was in his debut as new head coach. "Now we have to remember what we've learned when next season rolls around."

Mc Nabob noted the leadership of next years seniors and also the patience and team unity that every one showed. "I've never seen this team work so hard or play so well together," said junior Steve Bigler, who was the number of the defense. "Everyone had the same look in their eye and the same determination in their heart. Everyone wanted to win," added Bigler.

Racquetball Places 18th at Nationals

The racquetball team picked up eight medals on their way to finishing their season ranked 18th nationally.

The women finished the year ranked 16th, and the men were over looked for a top twenty ranking. This is Bryant's fourth top-twenty finish in the last six years. This year's finish was a nice surprise because in the last two seasons consisting mostly of first-year players.

Bryant also still managed this good finish despite injuries to two of their top players. Men's captain Derek Gonda suffered serious injuries while playing his second round match. In that match, Derek crawled through the back glass wall on one of the spectator courts. He was taken to the hospital where he received treatment for multiple cuts and lacerations from the so-called "unbreakable" glass wall. This was the first time at any National Championship that a player has crawled through a court's glass wall.

Women's co-captain Erin O'Connor was unable to compete earlier in the week and was unable to compete in the tournament. The competition, Kristen Levins took a silver medal in women's #1 singles, losing 15-9, 14-15, 11-10. Air Force's #4 player, Jen Giannoni, took a bronze medal in her division. Allison Gerard placed third in women's #5 singles and won a bronze medal.

Bryant's Bari Bendell won the gold medal in the women's #4 singles, defeating a Providence College opponent.

For the men, Keith Lauzon captured a bronze medal in men's #2 singles. Scott Kaufmann, in men's #4 singles, defeated his North Carolina opponent to win another bronze medal for Bryant. Luis Ydorh for go to pick up his fourth place pew ter medal for his finish in 96 singles. Ydorh was a part of the four player team in a newly-designed conference that will include teams from the Mid Atlantic states as well as the Northeast. Next year's outlook is promising due to the return of all five starters. Missing will be senior Brett Lentz, a 1992 Bronze medalist, this year's regional #3 Doubles champions, Luis Ydorh and Getaan Barrau, and Keith Lauzon, a 1993 silver and 1994 bronze medalist.

Mike Gister

This week's Athlete of the Week is Mike Gister of the Men's Tennis Team. Once again, Gister was named the Northeast-10 Conference Freshman of the Week. Gister finished third at the Rhode Island College Invitational and recorded a 10-4 singles and 12-8 doubles. Gister earned a three-set victory over fellow standout freshman Patrick Nelson.

The Bryant team remains undefeated so far this season.
