Cosby Announced As Commencement Speaker
Hamblett to Speak at Graduate School's Commencement

Paul D. Nunez
Archway Staff Writer

Bill Cosby, one of the most influential entertainers in America, will address the Bryant College Class of 1994 at commencement exercises on Saturday, May 21.

Although Cosby may not be considered a traditional business leader, he is responsible for pioneering efforts which paved the way for such entertainers as Oprah Winfrey and others who, like Cosby, own their own entertainment corporations. Bryant will also be honored as a honorary doctorate of business administration degree on Cosby, who was named as an assistant professor of the Providence Journal and the Newspaper Association of America.

Hamblett, who joined Rhode Island Convention Center as a leader, serves as a model for entertainers as outstanding spokesmen for just one school to join the Navy. He later attended high school through a correspondence course and was a student of the Navy. After his discharge from the service, Cosby earned an athletic scholarship to Temple University where he received a Bachelor's Degree.

Cosby earned a Master's Degree in 1967 and his Doctorate in Education in 1977, both from the University of Massachusetts. His doctoral thesis was titled, "The Integration of Visual Media Via Fat Albert and the Cosby Kids into the Elementary Schools Culminating as a Teacher Aid to Achieve Increased Learning."

The Graduate School's Commencement exercise, to take place on May 20, will be addressed by Stephen Hamblett, chairman of the board, publisher, and chief executive officer of the Providence Journal Company.

Hamblett joined the Providence Journal Company in 1937 after graduating from Harvard College. In 1969, he was named assistant vice president for administration.
Art Exhibit Enriches the Community

The Spring Bryant Community Art Exhibit is currently on display in the Papitto Dining Room until April 22. The exhibit allows faculty, students and the community to showcase their talents. If they were not for this exhibit, their artistic abilities may otherwise go unnoticed.

On a campus which emphasizes business and conservatism, it is a nice change of pace to be exposed to something other than debts and credits, marketing strategies and the Dow Jones Industrial Average. Art is not only pleasing to the eye, but relaxing to the mind.

Sometimes at a business school, artistic people are often overlooked. They remain hidden until an event such as the new music program, an art exhibit, or a special course exposes them.

For the most part these special programs are made up of a small but dedicated group of people. However, their contributions can be enjoyed by the entire community.

Because of this, Bryant should continue to hold exhibits and as many cultural events as possible. Artistic events allow us to see a different side of the people we pass in the hall everyday.

As more and more emphasis is placed on the importance of a well rounded education, it is important to include more artistic events.

Take time out of your busy schedules and drop by the art exhibit. You'll see a different side of the members of the Bryant Community.

Don't Fret Over Pre-reg

To the Editor:

In the last issue, The Archway warned students of the "stress pre-registration involves."

This seems to be an exaggeration: registration should not give students any appreciable increase in blood pressure. They know that, come Fall, most faculty members will be happy to sign their "add slips," which will enable students to enter into the class of their choice.

Sincerely,

Assistant Professor P. V. Minihan

Imagine being an international student at a college where most of the students are from the Northeast. Imagine being an international student, who has the opportunity to go to any school in Europe, but chooses to come to Smithfield, RI.

For the international students at Bryant, coming to college is not a part of their culture and language, as well as the American system. However, there are some disadvantages. He adds, "You are a minority on campus and this can sometimes make it harder to mix with everyone else."

There is a definite barrier in culture that must be overcome," adds Tissot. All of the international students say they are eager to talk about their countries and integrate their international perspective into their classes. Tomas Bergstrand, who is from Sweden, says he tries to include a European angle in most of his papers.

However, the international students admit some disappointment when it comes to studying international business. "Sometimes it is put on the syllabus, but it is not discussed in class," says Susanna Vawas of Bermuda. Some Bryant students are unaware that their fellow classmates come from a country other than the U.S.

"Many students don't know there are international students on campus because we are a small population," adds Suzana.

All agree there is a need for more openness and acceptance of international students on campus. "Students at Bryant have everything to gain from learning about a different culture. It will ultimately make a difference to them," said Bergstrand.

The students also noted the differences in the educational system. For example, in Brazil, Italy and Switzerland, students must attend school for thirteen years and take oral and written exams to get into a University. In Sweden and Europe multiple choice tests and the concept of scaling grades is not a part of their educational system.

The Italian students say they notice the differences in behavior between American and Italian classrooms. "In Italy we interact more with each other in class. American students seem embarrassed to speak up in class," says Luca Di Fede of Feli.

"There is definitely more class participation among students in Italy," adds Alberto Molteni-Corbellini, who is from Italy.

"The satisfaction is that the educational system in the states because students don't have to carry an overload of courses. In his home country, students typically take eight courses a semester. In America there are some unique qualities Bryant can offer international students.

Bergstrand says he likes the small classes because they allow for more student and teacher interaction. "The professors get to know your name," adds Bergstrand.

Although they are all receiving a business education in the states, what will be the advantages of international students out in the business world?

"Some of the bigger companies want individuals with international experience and who have the ability to speak several languages," says Suzana. However, adds Tissot, "We have difficulties that most of my classmates have same difficulty as anyone else trying to find a job."

The International Students Organization (ISO) has approximately 30 members. Everyone is welcome to the meetings that are held on Tuesday's at 4:00 p.m. in Room 1 in the Bryant Center.
HAVOC Committee Addresses Alcohol

Health Services
by Bobbi-Jo Bell
Health Services Student Intern

HAVOC (Health Action on Campus) is a committee heavily weighted with students whose goals are to address health education efforts at Bryant College and improve the quality of student life. One of the objectives is to explore how widespread the use of alcohol and drugs is on American College Campuses. Faculty, administration, and students are working in an ongoing needs assessment process. Alcohol education and optional programs to alcohol use stem from the work of this group.

Some of the activities implemented by the committee in the last two years to combat the use of alcohol and drugs are Residence Hall Programs, expanded facility hours, and improving student/staff relationships. On April 12 and 13 at 2:30 p.m. in MRC lecture hall, the presentation will consist of a series of slides with demographic and statistics related to alcohol and other drug use. The same presentation will be delivered on both days so that offices may release half of their staff while retaining open and students and faculty may adjust their Tuesday and Wednesday schedules. Students, faculty, staff, and administration are all welcome to attend. Please join us.

Leukemia Society Holds 18th Auction

by David Tenofsky

For the second year in a row, Beta Theta Pi will be helping the Leukemia Society conduct their 18th annual auction. The "Something for Everyone" auction will be held at the Providence Marriott on April 14, 1994.

Several years ago one of our alumni, Scott McFadden, tragically died from Leukemia. Since then we have been working to help everyone who has been affected by this life threatening disease.

Local business people and celebrities have been making contributions to the Leukemia Society and the auction will be auctioned off next Thursday. With our help, over $12,000 was raised last year. Hopefully, we will surpass that mark this year.

If you would like to help in any way, call the Leukemia Society at 943-8888 or call 232-4065.

The Thrill of Rappel!

by Jeffrey Giroux

Picture this: Adrenaline pumps through your body as you "hook-up" to the rappel master. The heavy chopper rises to two hundred feet and hovers with you in the door. In an instant, you and three comrades are racing to the ground via ropes of your newly-learned rappelling techniques. When your feet hit the ground, the adrenaline still flies at 100 miles per hour but your nerves are gone.

This picture is one day of two weeks at Air Assault School. The school is offered to ROTC cadets who request a slot over school recesses. The school teaches soldiers how helicopters integrate into the battlefield, to recognize all types of Army helicopters, to prepare cargo to be airlifted, set up landing zones, and rappelling skills. The two weeks promise to challenge students mentally and physically. However, graduates will explain that Air Assault is one hundred percent adventure and well worth the hard work.

The training is conducted in three phases: Air Assault Operations, Staging, and Rappelling. The cadets gain valuable knowledge, confidence, and proficiency in each phase.

After completing training, they are sent to an Army base with fellow students who are a mix of ages, ranks, and even men and women. The experience is unforgettable and lasting friendships are made.

At Air Assault School jobs are open to cadets and students interested in becoming a cadet. To learn more about Air Assault School, Airborne School, Mountain Warfare School, or ROTC see CPT Peterson or MSG Garcia in the ROTC office anytime.

Soprano Joins Class

Jill Boyd, dramatic soprano will be joining the Appreciation of Music class with Richard Cumming for the course on Opera Arias.

Miss Boyd will be at Bryant College on Monday evening, April 11, at 6:30, and on Wednesday morning, April 13, at 9 a.m. The classes are held in the double room of 275/276, and all interested are most welcome to attend.

Miss Boyd, a senior at Rhode Island College, is looking forward to a professional career in opera. In the words of Mr. Cumming, "Jill Boyd's voice is one of the most exciting young sopranos I have ever heard. She has every chance, if that is what she wants, of being one of the great world-famous opera stars of her time."

Hops on Down to The Union Station Brewery

Deborah Allard
Archway Staff Writer

Beer and college have always gone hand in hand (or hand to mouth). But, how many of us really know our beer? To the average college student, beer is something bought as cheap as possible to immediately be consumed in astronomical amounts for the sole purpose of getting drunk.

If you think you might like to enlighten your taste buds, then try the Union Station Brewery, established 1993. It was constructed from a once bustling train station to a unique eating and drinking place. The beer is brewed on the premises just as restaurants did long before there were breweries.

Four friends and I got there at about 9:00 on a Saturday night. There were people sitting, leaning, and mostly standing. The tables were reserved until 10:00 for those dining. We gave our name, although we hadn’t planned on eating, and went to find a place to stand by the bar. Behind the more than adequate sidewalk bar is a walkway offering a view of downtown Providence. For information call 421-4100.

Notice To All May and Summer Candidates For Degrees

What do you think of the URI study which calls for fraternities and sororities to be disbanded by 1998?

“Greeks are definitely promoting a negative image through their actions. They should be further monitored and disbanded only if their actions warrant.”
—Nigel Cabral ’95

“I don’t think they should abolish fraternities and sororities. The whole Greek system needs to be more open. Too much goes on behind closed doors. By their nature, Greeks segregate—every group does.”
—Dave Ondek ’94

—Linda Riemer ’94

“All college students are essentially the same. Greeks are more often accused of things because they are more visible. We don’t think disbandment will ever happen. Greeks do a lot of good.”
—Michael Goyette ’94 and Matt McIlvaine ’96

“I think there are more important changes to be made than to take away something that contributes to the community.”
—Roberta Likley ’95

Hey sisas-Hope everyone had a great week. Some of the sisters went home for Easter and received good food, while others braved it out on Bryant’s campus.

An announcement on a serious note - Our founders day was celebrated on March 30, and it was our four year anniversary on this campus. Here’s to the start of yet another four years.

Congratulations goes out to the new members of all of the Greek organizations. It’s great that everyone finally finished!

Let’s get psyched for our lovely format. For those sisters that don’t have dates, you have nine days to get one. It seems our formal destination is quite popular this year.

Cape Cod is going to be one finally finished! from 10 to noon, where we will be giving out information concerning BACHUS. On March 30, we all met at Sean’s suite and reviewed everyone that came up for “Red Petent brethren, we got new members of all of the Greek House for prospective students.

Our quotes are place at 7 p.m. in Room 1 Red. Thanks to the loose can-

Everyone is encouraged to attend our next meeting on Tuesday April 12 at 4:00 p.m. in the Chapel. We will be electing officers for next year, discussing the upcoming student rights day in Boston, and writing to oppose the death penalty in Rhode Island. If anyone is interested in attending the human rights day to be held in Boston please attend the meeting so we can determine transportation.

BACHUS
by Yoko Chung and Scott Lynch
Hello again. Thanks for attending our meeting on Wednesday. We discussed future events and programs. Also, this Saturday is Open House for prospective students. We will be at the organizational fair from 10 to noon, where we will be giving out information concerning BACHUS. On March 30, we all met at Sean’s suite and reviewed Alcohol Jeopardy. Everything went smoothly thanks to Aaron who was Alex Trebek. Also, the Window Wash will be taking place on April 11, weather permitting.

Well, that’s all for now. Remember our meetings are now going to be held on Tuesdays.

We hope everyone is enjoying the nice weather. The BACHUS newsletter is out. All employees should have received it in their mailboxes.

Applications are out for director positions. I encourage everyone to get involved with BACHUS. It’s a great opportunity to learn practical skills while still in school. Applications are available at the house Mon.-Fri. 3-5 p.m.

Tupper’s pizza of the month is Hawaiian pizza. Come by and give it a try. That is all there is for this week.

We always are here to serve you. Any questions or comments for BACHUS, can be directed to our office 231-1220 or Box 9.

This week: Finch, Lewis, and Sko spent the weekend Dazed and Confused then Finch cooked bacon and eggs in the middle of the game; the strangest person ever stopped the coach for a few minutes; Big Country got beat in tennis; Dobber went up to settle a few things; Duck took a trip with his Big B; Ianus and Lewis did something really stupid, there was a memorial service in the suite and Fudd seems to be enjoying his retirement.

Quote of the Week: “Behind every good man is a good woman, and Martha Washington was that woman.”

Lacrosse
by Dave Crosby

Well, it was a really tough weekend for the Lacrosse team. A Friday night game at BU and a Saturday afternoon game at UMASS-Dartmouth, with only two extra players. Thanks to Michael for keeping the players who were there in the game. We would like to thank those fans that made the drive to BU to watch us play. Sorry it wasn't closer.

We would like to congratulate Ted for getting his first goal of his career in a game versus Dean Junior College on Monday. Congratulations also go out to our new goalie, Luush, who is playing his first lacrosse season ever. Luush has made some big saves for us, so far in the season, just keep your head in the game. Leading in points are: Crosby 6 points (2 goals and 4 assists), Scribner 5 points (5 goals), Reilly 3 (all assists).

Leading the team in minutes are: Schlossberg with 6 and Libert with 4 (Andy has the record for the most in one game).

We've played the three toughest teams in our league so far (UCONN, BU, and Denver). This upcoming week we have games at Bentley (NE-10 varsity team), Mt. Ida, and Holyoke CC. We still have a few games left in the season. So, don't worry about the first couple of games, just go out there, have fun and do your best.

Men's Rugby
by Rob Belinski

Hello Everybody!

Well, the weekend started off great on Friday with a little cookout (P.S. the veggie-burgers weren't that bad). Luckily we all survived without any major injuries or burns. However, some rats were able to get a first-hand view of Bryant's wonderful sewage system.

Anyway, things just turned ugly on Saturday, as we played Coast Guard. The A-side played a great game, but fell just a little short in the end. Maybe next year folks! The B-side was just too much for this good team.

We play this Saturday. The teams will journey to Bentley for their spring tournament. We should have a good chance. All are encouraged to attend.

Hello! We hope you all had a great Easter holiday. Too bad we didn't get an extra day off. First we would like to thank Rugby and Delta Chi for Thursday. The sisters had a great time. We would also like to send our condolences to Bruce and the players who were there last season. We have been playing at a much higher level.

We've played the three toughest teams in our league so far (UCONN, BU, and Denver). This upcoming week we have games at Bentley (NE-10 varsity team), Mt. Ida, and Holyoke CC. We still have a few games left in the season. So, don't worry about the first couple of games, just go out there, have fun and do your best.

Well, another great week of news has flown by and it's time to reflect...

Congratulations to our new brothers: Dave, Wes, Jim, John, and Keith. Great job guys! Ray and Keith can personally thank me for their refreshing swim in the pool...Oops! In sports, our B-Ball team won a game against TKE, too bad they didn't show. We also lost a close one to Sig Ep the night after...Well, we still have soccer!!

Also in sports, Sleepy thanks the lacrosse team for the new look, and Congratulations goes out to Kits.

Now for the real news...

It got a bit crazy on Thurs. Rico needed a tranquilizer and Jim needs slam-dance lessons.

At Lupo's on Sat., Effron fell in love and Hyde was chucking fat to show prospective people across the floor (You are huge) until next week, Peace.

In one of the most exciting college basketball games in recent history, the Arkansas Razorbacks defeated the Duke Blue Devils to win the NCAA Division I men's basketball national championship on Monday.

The game was exciting from start to finish, neither team was able to pull away. In fact, the largest lead of the game was only ten points (by Duke), and that did not last too long. In the first half, the two teams traded baskets and the lead numerous times and kept the game close. By the end of the first half, Arkansas had a narrow one point lead. Duke came out firing in the second half and was able to score 14 unanswered points and grab a 10 point lead, Arkansas then came running back with a 14-4 run to tie the game once again.

For the remainder of the half, the two teams battled back and fourth. When Arkansas looked to ready to pull away from Duke, Duke came back to regain the lead. Finally with less then a minute left to play on the score tied at 70, Scottie Thurman of Arkansas hit a rainbow jumper from downtown to secure a three point lead. Duke then tried to counter with a three of their own, but fell short. In the end, there was only one national champion - Arkansas.

This marked Arkansas' first ever national title and gave them some much needed respect as a successful program. The win also placed head coach Nolan Richardson in elite group. Richardson joins a select number of coaches to win a national junior college title, the National Invitational Tournament (NIT) title, as well as the NCAA national title.

Of course we can't forget the first fan-President Clinton. Whether you like the man or not, you have to applaud him for attending these games. Just because he is the president, does not mean he has to support the things he enjoys.

But enough about Clinton, he is a sports nut.

In the end, the final game was very similar to the whole tournament. Everybody was saying prior to the game, "Despite Arkansas talent, they cannot beat Duke. Duke knows how to win." Then I guess you can say we had an upset Monday night.

Well, if that is true, then the game did in fact resemble the tournament, and the entire season for that matter. In a year that saw more number one seeds fall than since the last time the Cleveland Indians really had a winning season, the tournament was exciting as the season.

Even the selection day had it's share of upsets, with five number one seeds losing in the semifinals of the conference tournament. The selection committee was sent into a frenzy trying to figure out who was going to be number one.

The first two rounds saw some major upsets: UCLA, California, Massachusetts, and Kentucky were all ousted from their respected divisions. Boston College made an impressive run saw them make it all the way to the East Finals before losing to Florida.

This tournament was not only special for Arkansas and Boston College, but there were some other small schools who had their chance to shine in the sun. For the teams like North Carolina A & T, Liberty, James Madison, and Central Florida this was one of their most successful seasons. As the year winds down, we can only wonder who will be going to the NBA draft, and when they will finish out their college careers. As for the diehard college basketball fans we will have to wait and see. Hopefully, next season will be just as exciting as this season was.

What’s Hot, What’s Not for Bryant Sports

Susan Genovese

“I knew I wanted to direct, and I am willing to try new things,” says Bryant’s Director of Athletics explaining why she took on the challenge of a Division II athletic program with 14 varsity sports, 12 club sports, and an extensive intramural program. Linda Hackett, whose academic credentials include a faculty position as an English literature major, is now in her third year at the helm of the athletic program. She is looking at the opportunity to help Bryant become 12-5 in the NE-10.

Hackett’s goal is to make the athletic program more visible. For example, this year’s basketball team began with Midnight Madness, which featured a 3-point contest, entertainment by Zeta Phi Beta sorority, the Bryant cheerleaders, and hundreds of enthusiastic fans. The event apparently took the team by surprise. The team finished the season with a 15-14 record, finishing just one point short of winning the NE-10 championship. Hackett says she will be bringing in that spirit to Bryant by placing more focus on Homecoming. She would like to coordinate Homecoming with the annual Hall of Fame Inductions. Hackett looks forward to extending her relationship with Bryant alumni and hopes they will have input on Homecoming and Hall of Fame events.

In Bryant, currently known as the Archway Sports Writer, I sat down with Bryant to discuss the featured varsity sport. For example, basketball has been one of the more popular sports at Bryant. Hackett says she is interested in varsity basketball because “the amount of time and effort it takes to win.” There are personnel costs, such as additional coaches and trainers, and equipment and uniforms, which also require funding. Hackett says, “Why spend money on that when we don’t even have enough money as it is?”

“Students generally don’t want their tuition to increase for basketball,” she adds.

Another issue Hackett is tackling is to expand financial support for a variety of sports because, she says, “all sports are of particular interest.”

The next question is, “What’s not for Bryant Sports?” Hackett says, “I can’t say.”

Men’s Tennis Swings Into Action

The men’s tennis team is heading in the right track by winning their first three matches, two in the NE-10. On Monday, the team defeated last year’s regular season NE-10 champion, Quinnipiac 7-2. They also defeated non-conference opponent Babson College 5-4. (We are playing) pretty good. We need work at the bottom of the lineup, but the top is very strong,” captain Roman Pavlik said. “It is early in the season and we are still improving.”

Last week, the team defeated Assumption College 7-2.

The team has been getting solid play for veterans Roman Pavlik and Andy Lipsky, both men are undefeated for the season.

Pavlik and Jason Wall are also undefeated in the #1 doubles flight. For his performances, Pavlik was named to the NE-10 Weekly Honor Roll.

“...in the #2 doubles, Lipsky and Mike Gisler are also undefeated and have been providing some much needed help to the team. Gisler began his college career by registering victories at #2 singles as #2 doubles in the Assumption match. For his efforts, Gisler was named NE-10 Freshman of the Week.

As for the rest of the season, Pavlik seems optimistic. “We are looking to do well in the NE-10, but more importantly we are looking to do well in the New England’s.”

Last season, Bryant was strong at the end of the season and was able to capture the NE-10 Tourney crown and finish fifth in the New England’s.

The team will travel to US on Saturday and Merrimack on Sunday. They will then return home to face Roger Williams at 3 p.m. on Monday and St. Anselm at 3 p.m. on Wednesday.

Softball Continues To Roll

The softball team won five of their first six games to give them a record of 12-5, 2-2 in the NE-10. On Tuesday, the team traveled to Connecticut and split a doubleheader against Harvard. In game one, Harvard jumped out to an early lead, scoring in each of the first two innings, taking a 2-1 lead. Harvard then scored two in the third and one in the sixth, giving them a lead of 5-2 going into the top of the seventh. Bryant then rallied to score two in the seventh, but it was not enough and Harvard came away with a 5-4 win.

In game two, Bryant scored first with a run in the top of the first. Harvard came back to score four in the bottom of the inning.

They added one in the bottom of the second. Bryant then rallied to score two more in the top of the third to tie the game at five.

Both teams scored in the fifth, and Bryant added three in the sixth to score their final six runs.

Junior Jen Flanagan went the distance to record the complete game win.

“We came back from behind and we seemed more confident in doing it,” Coach Bob Reall said.

Senior Wendy Powell and freshman Kristin Regan each drove in two runs to help the team to victory in the second game. Powell was also named NE-10 Conference Player of the Week and batted .667 (12 for 18) with two doubles, one triple, one home run, five RBI, and four runs scored. Reall said, “All sportS are of particular interest.”

Runners Flying High

The women’s track team continued to have success last weekend at the Bridgewater, a non-scoring meet. The 4 x 100 meter relay team (Megan Davis, Mary Gates, Melissa Roberts, and Lisa Witworth) placed second for the second consecutive time. The 4 x 400 meter team (Jessica Daval, Karen Grobel, Mandy La Pierre, and Melissa Roberts) also placed second in their event.

Individually, Megan Davis took first and Marsha Orr also advanced to the finals in the 100. Distance events were also strong: in the 3000 meter Heather Cronce finished first, Mandy La Pierre was third, Jackie Erath placed fourth, and Amanda Friedrich was fifth.

In the 1500 meter race, La Pierre was fourth and La Pierre was seventh. In total, the team placed 4 runners in the top 10.

The team will be at RIC this Saturday. They will then return home for the Bryant Invitational at 3:00 on Wednesday.

Athlete of the Week

Wendy Powell

This week’s Athlete of the Week is Wendy Powell of the softball team. In a 4-1 week for Bryant, Powell batted .667 (12 for 18) with two doubles, one triple, one home run, five runs scored, including an 8-for-8 performance against Quinnipiac on Friday. For her performance, Powell was named NE-10 Conference Player of the Week. Powell is on pace to break the school record of 326 hits for her Bryant career.

Powell is a senior CIS major from West Warwick, R.I.
