Living With AIDS

Julia Aroucous
Archway Staff Writer

"In the next ten years each of you will lose someone you love to AIDS. Unfortunately, I already know who that person will be," said Jennifer Nicols.

AIDS Awareness Week brought the brother and sister teams of Henry and Jennifer Nicols to campus to give their lecture "Living with AIDS". The Nicols have traveled and lectured in 40 of the 50 states and have met former President Bush and President and Mrs. Clinton to discuss issues facing individuals with AIDS.

Henry, who was 21 years old, was unable to attend the lecture held Monday in Janikies because he became hospitalized on Thanksgiving Day due to complications from his illness. Henry did send a short but upbeat videotape message to the audience of approximately 125 members of the Bryant community.

Jennifer described Henry as just like the average college student, with a life filled with normal and activities such as scuba diving, snowboarding, doing Karate and climbing mountains.

"Just Living With Clinton to audience," said Jennifer Nicols.

Henry had been diagnosed with the HIV virus since he was 10 years old, but has had full blown AIDS for four years. Henry was born with Hemophilia, a rare blood disease which does not allow the body to clot blood properly. As a result, Henry had to receive infusions of blood each time he was bruised.

Over the years Henry has been receiving infusions made of a solution which includes blood made up of over 40,000 people. Therefore, he has been exposed to over seven million people's blood.

Nicols stressed the importance of donating blood if an individual is not in a high risk category. "Less than 1% of those who are eligible to donate blood actually donate blood," explained Nicols. While in the hospital this past weekend, Henry used a combination of blood made up of 100,000 people.

When Henry was diagnosed with AIDS in 1985, the Nichols family decided not to tell anyone because they were scared of what may happen if people found out Henry had AIDS. The Nichols decided to keep Henry's AIDS a secret from their friends and even relatives. Even Henry's doctors did not know he had AIDS.

Speak up or Quit Complaining

As members of the Bryant Community have raised more and more controversial issues in The Archway, many people have criticized us for fueling negativity. We do not fuel negativity, we promote free expression.

Our submission policy, our personal integrity and our editorial decisions have been questioned. The Archway values its autonomy; it has always tried to base decisions on sound journalistic practice. We do not underestimate the power of the printed word, nor do we attempt to abuse it.

We do not write the letters we publish; we just print them. Opinions expressed in the form of a letter to the editor, a cartoon, or a column, do not necessarily represent the opinions of The Archway staff.

It is not our mission to have opinions, whether positive or negative, go unheard. Rather, our mission is to keep the community informed in an honest and straightforward way.

In recent weeks we have been receiving an average of ten letters per issue. This number may seem large compared to the past, but with thousands of members in the community, ten letters a week is small.

The Community Forum on Tuesday, December 6, will be an important opportunity for a large number of students, faculty, and administrators to speak their minds face to face. It is the opportunity the community has sought.

It may seem harder to discuss issues without a shield of anonymity, but if you can back up what you say, then there is no reason to be afraid.

Let’s see how many people can fit in the Rotunda.

Alumni Data Misleading

To the Editor:

We are writing in response to the editorial, "Where Do We Go From Here?," which appeared on page 2 of The Archway on November 17. We wish to clarify the facts surrounding Bryant College's "Alumnae Satisfaction" rating, as recently reported in the September 26 issue of U.S. News & World Report. The magazine ranked Bryant sixteenth in "Alumnae Satisfaction," which has created concern. This low rating is a result of how the magazine chose to define and measure "Alumnae Satisfaction," a new category in the survey this year, as well as how Bryant data was reported.

When the magazine survey arrived mid-February 1994, Bryant alumni data was not available in a format which could be easily reported. In our best judgment, several months of work would have been required to develop the computer programs necessary to provide data requested by the magazine. Therefore, the decision was made to focus on more important data management priorities, e.g., ensuring that course grading and registration systems would be operational in time to meet students' needs.

It is unfortunate and misleading that U.S. News & World Report chose to report our data as "0," instead of as "missing" or "not available," as was the case. As a result, the College received an inaccurate, low rating in the "Alumni Satisfaction" category. The Offices of Information Technology and OPRl are already taking steps to improve this process. We do not intend to respond to the survey again for the upcoming data collection.

In a recent Bryant survey of the Class of 1989, nearly 90 percent of the respondents expressed satisfaction with their Bryant experience. The Annual Fund last year exceeded its goal by 17 percent, and average individual gifts significantly increased. Recently alumni chapter events in Boston and Hartford, as well as the Alumni Career Network, our expanding Alumni Association regional chapters, and assistance to Admission officers in recruiting students throughout the U.S., are just a few examples of vibrant and growing levels of alumni support.

Bryant alumni are proud of their degrees, attaining important and interesting positions after graduation, and are reaping the rewards of a Bryant education. Bryant undergraduates, who will soon become alumni, can look forward to similar benefits.

Sincerely,

A Fair Word Spoken

To the Editor:

After reading the article on Thursday, November 17, I was a bit disturbed. I, too, am a student in Professor Glass’ class. A student, obviously not doing well, in Professor Glass’ MIS class chose to attack his character in a very improper way. If a student has a problem with one of their professors, I think that it is between that student and the professor. I do not think the issue involved the entire school. Was it that this student was really angry and upset because the professor was on a bit of class to class or was it because they did rather poorly on the exam?

Professor Glass is a good teacher and many students would strongly agree. He is a very fair grader and students get the grade that they earn. Effort and grades are related to each other. Next time putting in the time to get the grade desired instead of formulating Professor Glass will work out better. He was willing to be of great assistance when our group had questions about our presentation. He spent the time to help us and patiently explained what he was looking for. He is always willing to help out those students with questions.

I recommend this class to other students. Professor Glass is a very fair and just professor and I hope this letter will set the record straight.

To the Editor:

An officer was dispatched to Hall 11 for a fire alarm. While looking for the cause of the alarm, they found an activated smoke detector in the second floor hallway. The alarm was reset.

To the Editor:

I don’t fault the writer for complaining. It is very important that students let us know when there is a problem in the academic program.

A Better Way to Solve Problems

To the Editor:

Last week’s Archway carried a letter of complaint concerning a faculty member. The letter raised two issues that I believe are of particular importance. First, excellent teaching is in the top priority at Bryant and anything that suggests that a faculty member is not performing at his or her best carries with it a major concern.

I was also concerned, however, about the way the complaint was presented. We have a well-publicized procedure for identifying and resolving complaints. At a first step, the student should talk to the faculty member. If the student finds himself or herself in a difficult situation, the faculty member should be on the alert to see that the student finds a way out.

Although the sequence is more time-consuming than a letter to the newspaper, it does carry a far clearer and more effective way to resolve problems.

I don’t think we are setting a good example if we publish letters that contain complaints and do not include the faculty member’s name.

It is very important that students let us know when there is a problem in the academic program. But we all know that the faculty member or Department Chair in the long run, this will enable us to do a better job of addressing your concerns and giving you what you come to Bryant for - a solid education delivered through effective teaching.

Michael B. Patterson
Vice President for Academic Affairs
Dean of Faculty

Together As One

To the Bryant Community

This is that time of year already! The Eighteenth Annual Festival of Lights, entitled Together As One, will be held on Wednesday, December 7, 1994 at 8:30 p.m.

Our holiday celebration will commence with the Annual Holiday Dinner where members of the faculty will serve as a reminder of the Alumni Dinner. After the program, on the grounds of the Rotunda, there will be a dessert reception from the University to the city park to the Bryant Center. Once everyone has convened on the patio, President and Mrs. William Trueheart will light the tree. A reception in the Bryant Center will follow the traditional lighting of the Christmas tree.

To the Bryant Community

We would like to thank all of the fans who took the time out to come to New Haven for the NCAA regional tournament to support us. We are so proud of our players and our fans.

Speak Out

To Fellow Students:

During the semester there have been many discontented students for various reasons. There have been many articles in The Archway citing some students’ unrest. The Student Senate recognized many of these concerns and has addressed many of them. However, we realize that there are still several unanswered questions that students may have. To accommodate for this, for those students who have not yet been able to express their views, we will be sponsoring SPEAK OUT.

This will be an open forum for students to bring concerns, ask administrators questions and get answers. In attendance will be President William Trueheart; Joe Meschelbach, Vice President for Business Affairs; Mike Patterson, Vice President of Academic Affairs; FJ Talley, Vice President of Student Life; Jim Del Driscoll, Director of Student Affairs; and George Coronado, Chief of Public Safety; and many others. This will be held on Tuesday, December 6 at 4:30 in the Rotunda. All are welcome and encouraged to come. Bring questions or just listen. If you have any questions about the event please call Rob Fontanella at 232-1043. Hope to see you there.

They’re Still Out There

To the Editor:

Lately many students have been voicing their negative opinions of the school. I would just like to point out two people who have been making my Bryant experience enjoyable.

The first person I would like to acknowledge is Mr. Robert Coker, Mr. Coker is the present men’s and women’s tennis coach and a former science teacher at Bryant. As a coach, Mr. Coker is consistently organized, helpful, supportive, and dedicated. He has always found time to quietly strike up a rapport or listen to a problem. As a teacher, Mr. Coker was just as devoted and knowledgeable. Unfortunately, due to “re-engineering,” Mr. Coker was rudely and abruptly terminated from the science department. This type of treatment was definitely not appropriate for such a kind man. I suppose that the school may have gained accreditation, but it lost a devoted faculty member in Mr. Coker. I somehow feel a little abhorred.

The second person I would like to acknowledge is Mrs. Virginia Bowry, Assistant to the Public Safety Director. In working with Ginny for two years, I have found her to be one of the most caring and devoted people I have ever met. She always finds time to help anyone who needs it and sometimes doesn’t receive the credit she deserves. People may come into our office yelling and screaming, but she is always kind and courteous. Many times Ginny herself, has even offered to help pay for IDs for students whose wallets have been stolen. Above all, Ginny does everything with a smile and that is what makes her such a special person.

The Bryant community is fortunate to have such great people as Mr. Coker and Mrs. Bowry. These are the type of caring people Bryant needs more of.

We Still Recycle

To the Editor:

This letter is written in response to one that appeared in The Archway on November 18, 1994, indicating that Bryant College no longer recycles.

Bryant University is an agronomically sustainable campus. In the last two years, we have seen a ten fold increase in the effectiveness of our collection program.

Reality Check

It’s funny how everyone says that people our age think they are already absolutely right. How many of us truly contemplate death? Most of us cannot comprehend the notion of our own mortality. Still, occasionally we are forced to look in the face, and try to understand.

When the AIDS quiz arrives, we will see it as chance to do just that. As you gaze upon this cloth epiphany, notice the names and their stories. Each has been reduced to the names of many people our age who have lost their lives to AIDS. It is already.

What Is INTRAX?

Michelle Mostey
Student Services Coordinator
INTRAX English Institute

Over the past years Bryant College has been looking for ways to increase its student diversity and international student population. This summer, International Training and Exchange (INTRAX) English Institute joined with Bryant College to prepare international students for admission to Bryant College as well as other universities and colleges across the United States. As an outside company working within the Bryant College campus, this joint venture has helped forge new links of international growth.

What is INTRAX?

International Training and Exchange is an international student program with many different aspects. The average program lasts from four to eight weeks, with the opportunity to continue as needed. Upon completion, students may return to their home country having been exposed to the American culture and way of life, or may begin or continue study at a U.S. college or university.

INTRAX has many different types of programs for its students — everything from living with a host family for a short time during the summer, attending a private high school for a year, participating in international sport teams to comparable US summer, language camps and year programs, on one English programs, hospitality management programs, GRE, GMAT and TOEFL preparation courses, to providing English as a Second Language (ESL) courses to university students and business people just to name a few.

What is INTRAX doing on the Bryant College Campus? INTRAX is in cooperation with Bryant College, is working to provide ESL to students and business people from all over the world. The courses range from four to eight weeks or longer depending upon the student’s needs. Each student receives instruction from teachers with master’s degrees in Teaching English as a Second Language.

Introducing international students to the Bryant College campus will help to increase the cultural diversity and international population on campus. Many of the students who participate in the program will go on to become full time Bryant College students.

Who are INTRAX students? INTRAX students are enrolled in a variety of courses, over the world, even the United States. The majority of the students enrolled are international students in the college, university, high school and non-academic programs, hospitality management programs, GRE, GMAT and TOEFL preparation courses, or business programs.

Family Business Course

A course considering the dynamics of participating in a family business will be offered by Bryant’s Institute for Family Enterprise during Wintersession -- January 3 to January 20.

This 5-volume loose-leaf service produced by the Economist Intelligence Unit provides information to facilitate business transactions across national boundaries. Volumes are organized by countries and then alphabetically by country. Information within each report is written within the following standard outline:

REF: JN1203 Annual.

Contains descriptions of prominent international organizations as well as detailed information on the political, economic and commercial climates in various countries of the world. Organizational coverage includes specialized agencies of the United Nations, the European Union, the International Chamber of Commerce, and the World Federation of Trade Unions. The country overviews provide an introductory summary of the country, a statistical survey and a directory of leading business, labor and trade organizations.

International Financial Statistics Yearbook

The best source for current and historical data on domestic and international finance. Contains charts, world and area tables, and country tables with almost 30 years of international financial statistics. The Yearbook is updated by a journal with the same name: historical volumes (1963-8) are shelved in the back reference stacks on the lower level of the library.

Dr. DNA asks "why don't more Bryant students submit questions to the Enigma column when they know there's a good chance to win $25?" No one on the Science faculty is smart enough to solve that enigma.

In the Middle Ages, Archibishop Uscher consulted his Bible and pronounced to the world that Earth was created at 9:35 a.m., 4004 BC. Since then, the estimates have come to be based on experimental evidence, but is our answer any better than Uscher's?

Since the time of Galileo, Science works by supplementing old theories with new theories that are based on testing new data as well as consistent with new experimental findings. Estimates concerning the age of the universe have grown older as scientists have developed the ability to observe stars farther and farther away. The further away a star is, the longer it takes the photons of light to reach us. As a result, the older the universe must be. Until a few months ago, the accepted age of the universe was around 15 billion years. Science proceeds today under the same rules, so it is not surprising that on an interior wall and printout there are 50 astronomers, who have recently used the Hubble orbiting telescope to calculate the universe's dimensions and rate of expansion with unprecedented accuracy, they have changed the estimate to between 8 and 12 billion years.

Is the Big Bang theory due for a revision in light of these new findings? Is the method of determining the age of stars somehow flawed? Are the 22 astronomers simply wrong? (ad: note: good science always answers more questions than it answers.)

All this has indeed the beauty and fascination of science! New experiments, new theories, new controversies - this is how science learns about Earth and her environs. The views we hold today may be supplanted tomorrow or may survive the test of time and future experimentation, eventually being promoted to "truth."

Enigma is a weekly column in the Daily Trotter, which deals with the technological riddles of life. Loyal Archway readers who submit clever statements about the future will be eligible for a monthly drawing worth 25 points. Only 25 points can be assigned to Dave Betzke, C203 who wins the prize of a New York Times first edition book.
Thoughts and Reflections

by J. Whitney Madison

I hope everyone had a nice Thanksgiving break. It’s nice to get home and eat some of someone’s cooking from home. It usually makes me feel really good to be home and eat some of my mom’s home cooking. There’s nothing like it in the world!

Most of us here at Bryant really have a lot to be thankful for. The fact that we are able to be in a college where food, shelter, and good friends fill our lives really proves how much we have. We need to at least think of the people that are less fortunate than us; they don’t have all the things that we have. Just keep it in mind and be thankful to be in the situation that you’re in; it could always be worse.

This week has been designated National AIDS Awareness Week. I am very thankful that we at Bryant have the education and prevention information that we have. All across the world, everyday more and more people are contracting the HIV virus. The United States is a first world nation and we have the money to invest in education. We can set up education seminars, hand out condoms, pamphlets, oral barriers, etc. There are rules of safe sex that I think everyone should be taught at some point before the completion of adolescence, maybe earlier. Thorough education is the key to prevention and life! AIDS is so scary... when someone contracts the HIV virus and cultivates full blown AIDS (which is a decent percentage), they are going to die. It is very matter of fact, there are not really any two ways about it... yet.

Research is coming along quite well, even quickly. Millions are dying everyday because they can’t afford the preventative education that our country helps provide. Never say never; soon we may just have a vaccination. Won’t that be the day?! I have my own theories on the development of the virus, but that’s another article....

Two sections of the AIDS quilt will be on campus the day this edition of the Archway is printed. I hope everyone at least looks at it and sees what it means to some people. These two sections are just a small part of a living memorial to the lives claimed by the virus.

I have heard some terribly horrific statistics about some second and third world countries. I heard, for example, that one third of the population of Africa is infected with HIV. Not all have full blown AIDS; just think... please.

On a different note; my thoughts on the Wild Kingdom... you ain’t seen nothin’ yet. Just wait!

Now please, somebody send me a letter if this made you think a little more than you have before. My Box number is 2156; I’m waiting!!

Congratulations to the The Archway Gold team of David, Eric, Ian and Julia which made it to the finals in College Bowl.

We lost to the Blockheads, a tough and quick to the buzzer team. Good luck to them as they continue to compete at the University of Connecticut.

Christmas came early for us. This week we got our modern and a primer which can print an 11x17 page. No more cutting and pasting! Both of these new additions should make production run more smoothly and help us to get more information to our readers.

Hello everyone! Hope you all had a good Thanksgiving break. I sure did because it was the first time since September that I finally got away from this place.

Anyway, at our last meeting we had an interesting ice breaker. If you want a peanut butter and jelly sandwich, except for initiation and the format, you're almost done. We are happy to say that the Put-a-thon raised $400. Thank you to everyone who stopped to play. This week: The Beta Invitational Tournament has started; Mister still has some built up aggression; Crate won cray; the team of Hutch, Imus, and Rosko, beat a less talented team of Janna, Deb, and Bill by taking 1st, 2nd, and 3rd respectively; Debber repulsed everyone; Burgis did it again; Floyd is nowhere to be found; everyone wants the babies to die; Munk's days are numbered; the pizza store idea was finally shut down; Splint got kidnapped; Imus has completely changed; Mack is case number 2; and we're happy to be back.

Quote of the Week: "Everybody raise your drinks to Crate!!"

Well, we're back from St. Louis. It was an enjoyable trip as always. The team finished 7th, one step up from its 8th place effort last year. Stokesman and Dave led the way as both made the All-Star Team. Congratulations, guys! The first poll of the season comes out in a few weeks, and the Bulldogs have a chance at being top ten. Without a doubt we will be ranked in the top 15. Did we get a van yet? No, I guess we better call up Raymond again.

Dave, did you win your race? I heard you in the Super Tri. Beck enjoyed those chicken McNuggets. In its continuing pursuit to be perfect, the lowercase r shaped bed became a simple period shape. I find this to be a big improvement. Guys, the pool water is warmer than the hot tub.

One more question, why did we buy those Metro Link tickets? Our wait person of the week is Eucidian. He won because of his name and the fact that he gave Dove a free meal. Besides, the only other place we can be is McDonald's and all you can eat Chinese. Euc wins by default. Everybody check Jughead and Rees for vampire marks on their neck. My statement of the week is "I'm still richer than Beyoncé!"

All right Bryant students, I know everyone wants to come and watch a team that may soon be ranked ten in the nation. You get your one and only chance on Sunday. We'll be competing from 9 a.m. until about 3 p.m. Stop by and watch a couple of games. I'll even give you the directions. Take 295 south to east. Off of 6 east take 10 south toward Cranston. Take the exit for Ellwood Avenue. Off the exit take a right. Go through one set of lights. Cranston Bowl is about 1/4 of a mile up on the left. We need all the fan support we can get so come on down. Thanks.

Bryant Karate

by Mark Towle

PM Spot! Welcome back to everyone. I hope everyone stuffed themselves with enough non ARA food to last them a while. A welcome to the new white belt class. Way to go!

You will soon learn that Bryant Karate white belts take a licking but keep on ticking. A congratulation is in order for Mr. Suppold Blonti. Supp had his boxing debut two Thursdays ago at Barstow. On a more serious note Chris is going for his Black Belt on December 8. He is ready but please give him all the support you can. This is a highly coveted rank and requires a lot of hard work both mentally and physically.

Bryant Karate is holding a fund raiser on December 7. We will be holding a $500 raffle. We will be looking for club volunteers to man the table in the Bryant Center from at least 12 p.m. to 2 p.m.

Well, Manson has been up to his old tricks again, but this time he is doing these tricks in his native state of Maine. Manson will not be taking his finals with everyone else this semester since he will be in Maine District Court appealing his charges. His charges include indecent exposure in a public place and public intoxication. Good luck Manson! To find out about any possible social gatherings show up in class or talk to Lynn she always knows what is going on especially on the weekends. Well until then, BKA!

Hey Commuters! First off I'd like to apologize about the length of time between articles. I'd also like to thank all of you who came to our last general meeting. We hope to have another meeting in about a week or so, to keep an eye out for signs.

We are currently working on the parking situation and on clarifying the entrance and guest policy for commuters.

The Informants should hopefully be available soon in the Commuter Office, third floor Bryant Center. As always, the key is available at the info desk, so feel free to stop by anytime.

Any questions, comments or complaints on Commuter matters, call us at x6176.

Just coming back from break leads me to ask myself one question; "How long to winter recess?" Anyways, on to more important things.

Congratulations to our five new brothers; Pistol, Wedge, Honeywood, Sinkel, and Hanz (F.U.D.), as well as every brother that is new part of the Greek community. Hey D.J., there's always lotsa. By the way, now that you are free on Sundays maybe you can start work on the next set of projects. Alumni weekend came and went with a good turnout. The basketball game went well with Walker getting M.V.P. for pulling a "Lefty" and hitting those shots. Good job to Hoyt too who actually stood up the whole game. Congratulations also to the new B-Board; Duke, F-Sharp, Wedge, Smokin', Sinkel, and Baldo. Maggie is gone but not forgotten. He'll be there if anyone shouldn't make grades.

All the brothers are looking forward to the formal this weekend. F-Sharp and Baldo are looking for an improvement on the last one and Pace is looking for free furniture to... now nearby enough to make the most of your 12-40's. See the rest of the show, too.

Sigmar Sigma

by Robin Lydon

I'd like to start out by saying congratulations to our 12 awesome new sisters. You guys are definitely the best! Also, congrats to all the other new Sigma sisters and brothers, especially Jamie, Dave, and pledge brothers of Phi Kappa Tau! Hey Targett and Wallace— we may have topped your potatoes!" Jamie and Dave, may the force be with you this Sunday!

The Sisters that came home early said that they had a great time on Saturday! Thanks for cleaning our tub before we got home. Sunday night we got together with Phi Tau and had a good time. Speed is a well recommended movie if you haven't seen it yet. "Hey, Jamie, you dirty rat!" Two days until our annual Christmas gathering which promises to be a good time! Maybe a certain group of individuals should cancel theirs and give us half the money for ours! Just kidding.

The countdown does begin Linda. But I won't face the reality that you and Dex are leaving us! I hate to get mushy, but it's not fair that we're losing 2 "cool kids" before their time! You guys should be with us, but we understand your reasoning. We love you guys!

Okay, on a lighter note, we'd like to remind you that we have need to take study breaks in the next three weeks, come to 77 where you can always find someone willing to take a break! Good luck on your upcoming finals! Also, Chris thanks God you aren't dead! Quote of the Week— "Hey, where's Ruth?!" Till next week: Peace and love.

SPB

by Sandy Connors

Hi everyone. Today is AIDS Awareness Day. Come out and see the quilt that is displayed in the Rotunda, but please remember no smoking is allowed.

Our next movie—"Speed," will be shown on Sunday, December 1. There will be shows at 3:15, 6:30 and 9:15 in Janikas Auditorium. Remember to bring your popcorn buckets back to get free popcorn. The 3:15 show costs $1.00 and you get free soda or juice. The 6:30 and 9:15 shows are $1.50 for soda or juice and popcorn with your bucket or $2.00 if you want pop. On Wednesday, December 7, their will be Santa photos in the Bryant Center from 1-2. Come get your picture with Santa for yourself or a friend.

For those of you looking to go away for spring break, SBP is planning trips to Jamaica and Cancun. Deposits are due by December 15. Watch for more details.

Our next meeting will be at 4:30 on Monday December 5 in the Pudino Dining Room of the Bryant Center.

Student Senate

by Tara Bourgeois

The Student Senate is organizing a question and answer period for Tuesday, December 6 at 4:00 p.m. in the Rotunda. President Troutree, Mike Meischel, F. Balley, Tam Denton, Mike Patterson, and George Coronado will be there to answer any of your questions concerning Bryant.

The Senate is currently bringing the following to a close: teacher evaluations, the meal limitations for dinner at South, and the proposal for a new class schedule. The last Senior Comfort Night of the semester will be held on December 8. Our Apple Day will be between 2:00 and 5:00 in the Rotunda. The Sigma Sigma Sigma sisters will be doing a bake sale, so bring your appetite and have a good time.

We hope everyone had a good Thanksgiving break and is excited to be back at Bryant. It's not too long until we have our finals now and go away for another break! Good luck on your exams! Congratulations to our new sisters! Phi Sig—Top Dawg!"

The volleyball team traveled to West Haven, Connecticut to compete in the NCAA Post-Season Tournament, and ended their season in the regional finals.

In the finals, #20 New Haven (UNH) played to be the first of the Bulldogs and won easily 15-2, 15-0, 15-2.

Prior to the UNH match, Bryant played conference rival Springfield in a grueling five game match. Springfield had defeated the Bulldogs in the previous three meetings, including in the NE-10 finals. This made the match even more exciting. Bryant wanted to prove they could, not only compete with them, but beat them as well. The Bulldogs rise to the occasion, and defeated them.

“We were mentally unable to beat Springfield, but we proved that we could win,” Olga Perez-Bonnelly said.

In game one, Bryant came out of the gates slow, and were defeated 15-5.

However, once the fans bus arrived, the Bulldogs regrouped and grabbed an early lead in game two. Senior, Maria Berardi and Kim Potrzebowski stepped up their play to lead the team to a 15-10 victory. The team only played one game the same. Bryan was able to grab in early lead and hold on. Muddle blockers, Alicia Kowalick and Krista Gaillard came through big for the Bulldogs, by stepping Springfield’s top hitter Kerri Cammisa. Cammisa, who was the top hitter in the NE-10, had difficulty getting over their blocks, and when she did, there was someone there to dig the ball.

Bryan was able to feed off the inspired play and won the game 15-12. The Bulldogs looked to be in control of their own destiny and were ready for the upset.

However, with their backs against the wall, Springfield bounced back and won the game 15-12.

This set up a do or die situation for both teams, a win and you advance, a loss, and the season was over.

To complicate things further, game five used rally scoring, every mistake was a point for the other team.

Springfield used the momentum from game four, and jumped out to an early 4-0 lead.

Bulldogs hitters, Mirthehan Dean and Maria Bras then came to the rescue and rallied Bryant to an eventual 16-4 lead. From this point, the Bulldogs never looked back and won the game, and the match, 15-12.

“We all worked our hardest during the last week of the season,” Perez-Bonnelly said. “We peaked at the right time, and came together as a team.”

With the win Bryant not only advanced to the regional finals, but they had defeated every team in the NE-10 at least once. They finished their season with a sweet 16 birth, and posted an overall record of 31-12.

The Bulldogs continued to make headlines earlier this week, when Brax and Dean were both selected AVCA All-Region Team. A selection to this team moves them one step closer to the All-America, which will be announced later this month.

The team will only be losing two players to graduation this May. Brax and Potrzebowski, however both players had major roles for the Bulldogs.

“It hurts, a lot [losing Maria and Brax] because they were a big part of the team,” Perez-Bonnelly added. “We will miss them all.”

The women’s basketball team is off to a strong start as they have defeated all three teams they faced so far.

On Tuesday, conference rival Saint Anselm was in town setting the stage for an exciting game as the beginning. The game started with the Lady Hawks around four and the fourth, and the Lady Bulldogs went down eight times in the first five.

Late in the half, Saint Anselm scored eight unanswered points for a 31-21 lead on the Lady Bulldogs. When Beth Connealy hit an 18 foot jumper, which Bryant on a run of their own. Bryant would regain the lead, once again, when Liz Davies tipped a lay-up in as the buzzer sounded. Bryant was ahead 42-40.

In the second half, Saint Anselm lead 46-42 for a 17-point lead. When Liz Davies hit a lay-up to tie and lead the Lady Bulldogs. In the second half, she also grabbed rebound and was key down the stretch. Connealy had 27 points and eight assists.

Prior to the Saint Anselm game, Bryant played #20 UMass Lowell, and came away with a impressive victory.

Bryant jumped out to an early lead, and kept it for most of the half. At one point, they led by as many as 16. Liz Davies had 15 of her game high 29 points in the first half alone. Lowell’s first lead of the game, came with just 2:18 left in the half, when Lauren Mann nailed a three for the 37-36 lead. At the half, Lowell lead 40-36.

The River Hawks continued to roll in the second half, and lead by as many as seven. Bryant then began to chip away at the lead, and regained the lead with 10:38 left, when Rebecca Hardt had a put back.

The Bulldogs then went on a 13-6 run to grab a 69-59 lead, Bryant never looked back from this point, and won the game 79-64 during the game, Davies achieved another milestone when she scored her 1,000 point. She only needed 26 points to eclipse the mark, and hit a lay in with 6:08 remaining. The game was stopped, and Davies was awarded with the game ball. Currently, Davies has 1,028 points for her career.

In addition to Davies 29 points, Connally had 23 and Heather Lopes had 17 points and eight assist.

Men’s Basketball Split First Two

The men’s basketball team split their first two games of the season, losing to UMass Lowell 84-70 on Friday, after defeating Keene State 80-69 before the break.

In the Lowell game, Bryant started strong and grabbed an early first half lead when Kevin O’Brien nailed a pair of jumpers and Bryan continued to control play, and lead by as much as 18.

Lowell then rallied at the end of the half to cut Bryant’s lead to 10, 42-32. This continued into the second half, and Lowell grabbed their first lead of the game, since 2-0 in the first half, when Mark Davis hit a layup.

The Bulldogs were able to go ahead once again, but it was only for a short time. In the end, Lowell proved to be too strong for the Bulldogs.

Jeffiel Henderson lead the way for the River Hawks with 30 points, 11 rebounds, and was 12 for 19 from the field. Jim Borodkowski added 12 points, and Spencer Staggs and Zach Zegarowski each had 11. For the Bulldogs, Noel Watson was the leading scorer with 19, including four-three-pointers. He was followed by Herman Thomas with 12.

In the home opener, Bryan came out of the gates slow, and it looked as if Keene State was going to be able to stay with them. However, Bryant then regrouped and grabbed a 43-35 lead going into the locker room.

In the second half, Bryant continued to roll, and was able to hold off a late rally by Keene by nailing a few key three-pointers.

Despite having four fouls, Kevin O’Brien lead all scorers with 22 points, including going five for eight from downtown. He was followed by Jerome Grier, who was also five for eight from the three-point stripe, and had 20 points. Watson added 13 points, and Thomas had 12.

The Bulldog offense is led by Watson who averaging 16 ppm, O’Brien with 15.5 ppm, Jerome Grier with 14 ppm, and Thomas has 12 ppm.

On the defensive end, Marc Mulderin and Chris Bernsten average 3.5 boards a game, and Steve Wiesz and Griffi grab 3 a game. The next game for the Bulldogs is tonight when they travel to Manchester to face on New Hampshire College. They will then return home to face Saint Anselm at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, and hit the road once again to play Saint Michael’s on Wednesday.

Liz Davies

This week’s Athlete of the Week is Liz Davies of the women’s basketball team. In the game against #20 UMass Lowell, Davies became the newest member of the 1,000 point club. The second female to accomplish this feat in her junior year.

On the season, Davies is close to a double, double average with 21 points and 19 rebounds. She has added her career point total to 1,028.

Davies is a junior from Andover, MA.
