Curriculum Changes Planned for Fall of '96

Valerie J. Bowden
Arts and Staff Writer

One of the biggest changes to curriculums that Bryant has seen in over ten years is expected to be implemented starting in the fall of 1996.

The goals of this program include revitalizing the business core, allowing the introduction of business courses earlier in the student's academic career, providing structure and coherence to the Liberal Arts curriculum, and fostering integration between Liberal Arts and Business.

The new curriculum encourages this integration by requiring Liberal Arts majors to take the required business core and analytical business electives, while all business concentrators will be required to choose a liberal arts minor.

According to new AACSB (American Association of Schools and Colleges of Business) guidelines, students majoring in the business field can take no more than fifty percent of their courses in business. Currently at Bryant, there are 33 hours of courses in the business core.

Under the new curriculum, which will decrease to a 24 hour core including introduction to business, legal Environment of Business, and three "modules" covering material in the traditional core, such as Accounting, CIS, Finance, Human Resource Management, Productions & Operations Management, and Marketing.

These "modules," the first of which would start in the spring of 1997, are tentatively being labeled Organizational Environment and Strategic Planning, Financial Systems and Reporting, and Product/Service Design and Marketing.

The new curriculum will not affect upper division business classes. The next six hours of courses will go to integrative studies and the final three hours will go towards a student's liberal arts minor.

Professor Joe Ugo, one of the faculty members working on the liberal arts end of the curriculum revision, says it up best when he says that the change to the curriculum will encourage students "to combine liberal arts and business into one cohesive program of study."

Each Bryant student will face a five-credit business course core that will be divided into three separate entities that do not interfere with each other. The cohesion of the two programs will help Bryant graduates develop such skills as creative decision-making, and interpersonal competence, communication skills, awareness of the ethical dimension, and an international perspective.

However, within the new curriculum, all students will see that a better understanding of liberal arts can help them gain better insight and knowledge as to all areas of the world around them.

According to Professor David Ketchum, also one of the faculty working on the curriculum revision, "You cannot be an effective decision-maker unless you know what is going on in the world around you."

The curriculum revision, which has been in the works for over two years, plans to develop many effective decision makers. Therefore, the curriculum revision and the cohesion of Liberal Arts and Business core programs will be beneficial to Bryant students by creating more well-rounded, and thus, more competitive, students.

If you have any questions about the curriculum revision, please feel free to contact either Professor Joe Ugo in Faculty Hall, Room 101C, or Professor David Ketchum in Faculty Suite 515. They may also be contacted by e-mail at jurg@bryant and davidk@bryant.edu.

Three Bryant juniors face felony assault charges stemming from a fight Sunday morning, September 7, at approximately 1 a.m. in addition to legal charges, these students will face disciplinary panel at Bryant which will decide if they will be allowed to continue their education.

The hearing will be held on Tuesday, September 26, and a decision made by October 2. On was struck by a glass bottle, and the other was struck, punched, and kicked by his attacker. He also received cuts and bruises. One area of his face was broken in the attack.

Still in the hospital, he underwent surgery last Tuesday, and is expected to be released within the week. The other senior was released Sunday morning.

President Truett said, "This was an unusual and very serious incident. Bryant students are aware that violence in any form will not be tolerated. The arrested students were immediately put on temporary suspension pending a full investigation, after which further actions will be taken."

When asked, college officials have stated that they have no plans to change Bryant's current alcohol policy, citing the success with which it has been implemented over the past ten years while aged 21 or older are allowed to have alcohol in their rooms in campus as long as everyone else is of the legal drinking age. It is not allowed anywhere else.

Key Note Speakers

Danielle Porter
Arts and Staff Writer

This fall welcomes the beginning of speaker series initiated this past summer. Known as the Key Note Speaker Series, it consists of four seminars spread throughout the fall semester.

On Monday, September 4, Katie Kreston addressed the topic of sexual assault and harassment and the role they play in her freshman year of college. A very effective speaker, she received a standingovation from the large, fire-instructor-violation crowd.

Deb Pasquarella from the Student Activities Office, the Key Note Speaker Series, reported that Ms. Kreston definitely "stuck a chord" with her first-hand experience on the topic.

The second topic to be addressed was the minority of alcohol and chemical use. T.J. Sullivan and Joel Goldstein, the attending speakers of the past Monday's presentation, were fraternity brothers while attending college. The orthodox fraternity lifestyle led to the transmission of the HIV virus to one of the two men. Remaining friends through such an encounter was the underlying theme of their discourse.

Three weeks from Tuesday, on October 17, Jackson Katz will be here to present feminism from a male point of view. He will relate his discussion to make responsibilities, violence against women, and suggested solutions to these powerful topics. Mr. Katz will use his experience as an All-State Linebacker and as the first man to graduate from TIMASS/Amherst with a degree in Women's Studies to supplement his feelings on the topic.

The finale of the fall's series will be on Monday, November 13, when Dr. Jean Kilbourne offers her dynamic slides lecture presentation examining the effects that advertising's image of women has on the health and sanity of everyday women.

As an internationally known media critic and award-winning filmmaker, Dr. Kilbourne shall certainly offer a great program.

Funded by last year's Annual Giving Campaign, the Key Note Speaker Series offers exciting, dynamic speakers and is funded,自己 through the spring semester. Two shows in April entitled "Up With People" will be offered to hopefully bring back the Key Note Speaker Series next fall. All shows were and will be held in the Janikies Auditorium at 7:00 p.m.
Students’ Privileges at Risk

In case the perpetrators from Sunday morning’s incident were unsure as to what effect their behavior would have (has had) on the Bryant community, a quick glance at this week’s Archway clearly indicates the overwhelming disgust felt by students, faculty, and administrators alike. The various letters, articles, and columns illustrate the widespread anger and desire to express severe disapproval.

Many mixed emotions and questions have been plaguing the community since this occurrence; things like, what prompted such violence? Can students feel safe at their own college anymore? Will the guilty individuals get the punishment they deserve?

Too many people tried to be the first with answers to these questions and the result was a variety of rumors. While rumors in such a situation are basically inevitable, they usually only makes things worse. Not only do the people involved have to deal with the sad truths of the event, but now they are also being forced to listen to and clear up false statements.

Another issue that students, seniors especially, are concerned about as a result of Sunday’s fight is whether they can continue to have a good time on the weekends or if the stupidity of a few students has ruined it for us all. Obviously what took place was inappropriate and cancelled for, however it in no way reflects the maturity level of the entire student body and therefore, should not be taken out on students as a whole.

While we understand that our safety is a primary concern, we hope that extreme measures (for example, no more parties at the townhouses, Bryant becoming a “dry” campus, etc.) are not taken due to this one incident.

Instead of focusing on all of the negative aspects of this situation, people should take a moment to realize that many students did act responsibly. As bad as the fight was, it could have been worse if a few students had not taken the initiative and stepped in to stop what was going on.

On the other hand, if too many people had gotten involved, the result would have been uncontrollable chaos, with more than a few people sustaining physical injury. Thankfully, further bloodshed was avoided, but the blow to student morale has been undeniable.

Three Students Charged with Felony

Dear Bryant Students:

I am writing to you to provide basic information about an extremely serious campus incident that occurred last weekend. Please understand that the incident is still under investigation. Students are, understandably, concerned about campus safety and the College’s response. I wanted to convey to you directly what occurred and steps that have been taken.

At approximately 1 a.m., Sunday, September 17, five Bryant students were involved in a fight. The fight lasted less than a minute and was broken up by other students who gathered when the fight began. Because one student was injured and a crowd of onlookers had formed, the Smithfield assistance and rescue team (including police) was called. The Smithfield police put out a general call for assistance because they were uncertain of the situation and how much support they would need. Police officers from various organizations responded to the call. By the time the officers arrived the fight had been broken up and the injured student was assisted. Students cooperated when officers asked them to disperse.

The injured student was taken to the hospital by ambulance. He underwent surgery on Tuesday, he spoke with his father who reports that he expects to return to campus next week. Another injured student went to the hospital with a friend where he was treated and released.

This began the press coverage of this event.

Smithfield police arrested one of the students and charged them with felony assault. The three students have been released on bail. The College has placed these students on interim suspension until the investigation is completed.

This week by the College Disciplinary Committee. This committee will determine the final actions to be taken by the College after the formal hearing. Meetings were held in the residence halls Monday night to discuss the incident with students and to get their feedback.

Finally, I want to remind students of their individual responsibility for upholding and strengthening our community standards of behavior. I also want to urge any student who witnessed the fight to come forward and speak to Robert Stoss, Interim Dean of Students. The College Disciplinary Committee will value carefully and fairly the information that it receives. The effectiveness of the judicial system depends upon the quality of the information the Committee receives.

Sincerely,

Dana B. Beaudoin
Interim Vice President for Student Affairs

SAA Sponsors Alumni Day

Dear Members of the Bryant Community:

Next Friday, the Student Alumni Association (SAA) will be hosting their first “Alumni Day”, as part of Homecoming Weekend ’95. SAA’s main goal is to bring back alumni to interact with current Bryant students. This event will not only give students an opportunity to listen to professionals discuss their careers, but will also provide valuable advice concerning their careers. “Alumni Day” will bring students external sources of information concerning the business world. Alumni will be hosted by members of the Student Alumni Association. These hosts will take the alumni to their classes between 9 and 11 to give a brief presentation concerning their life experiences after Bryant. A table will be designated for the Alumni in the Rotunda and they are encouraging members of the Bryant Community to approach them with any questions or comments.

By hosting the first annual “Alumni Day”, the Student Alumni Association is attempting to strengthen the relationship between Alumni and present Bryant Students. We are asking you, the members of the Bryant Community to show your spirit and welcome back the Alumni of Bryant College.

Sincerely,

Anthony Silvestri ’96

Alcohol Violation
September 15, 1995 - While a DPS officer was looking up a residence hall, he noticed three people walking in the area. Very shortly afterwards they began walking quickly in the opposite direction. One of the individuals held an open container of beer. The suspect was told to dump the beer. The suspect hid behind a bush. When spotted, the officer asked for an ID. The student stated that he/she wasn't doing anything wrong and that there was no need for showing DPS the ID. This student gave DPS a false name and social security number. The suspect later stated that he/she was a visitor. After being asked whom he/she was staying with, the non-resident went. During the chase, a DPS radio was broken. The suspect was found shortly thereafter. Charges were filed for standards of conduct N, O, P, and U, as stated in the student handbook on pages 90-92.

Drug Violation
September 16, 1995 - Students were spotted blowing smoke into a fan. The smoke smelled like marijuana. While approaching the room, DPS noticed loud music and people talking loudly. After knocking several times, DPS was finally allowed to enter. A small amount of marijuana and rolling papers were confiscated. Charges were filed.

Alcohol Violation/Illegal So- cial Gathering
September 16, 1995 - DPS was dispatched to a particular resident hall to break up a large gathering. DPS dispersed the crowd. All non-residents were asked to leave. The open alcohol and any over alcohol. Four trash cans filled with beer were found as well as a large amount of jello shots. Everyone in the suite was under 21. The beer and jello were confiscated and destroyed. All were cooperative. Charges were filed.

Aggravated Assault
September 17, 1995 - A group of students were dancing when someone accidentally bumped into someone. Words were exchanged and a little pushing occurred. A student was then punched. Another student stepped in to try to help the victim, only to get hit on the back of the head. One of the suspects was then on the ground punching one of the victims who was also kicked in the head. Because the group of curiosity seekers was growing and bordering on being uncontrollable, Smithfield rescue and police were called. Smithfield Police asked for aid from other departments and at least six responded. One of the suspects was taken to the hospital. Charges were filed on the three suspects with the possibility of additional charges on others pending based on an on-going investigation.

To Saturday Night's Prize Fighter
You are my hero. I don't know who you are, but I've been looking for a guy like you. Someone as brave and strong as you are, who would kick someone in the head while he was down, is just the kind of person I'd like to spend the rest of my life with. I would like you to father my children and teach them to be just as tough as you are, with the same high morals.

After all, fighting is such an honorable way to solve problems. Maybe next week you can call all your friends from home, have them come up for the weekend, and the bunch of you can take care of anyone who's ever looked at you cross-eyed. That would be cool. It's good to have friends to help you solve the major problems in life, like someone who bumped into you, or spilled their beer on you. Only wimps let those things slide. Real men would put them in the hospital. So if you're looking for a date, although I'm sure you have plenty of women, come to the F-Block. Oh, and wear your steel-toed shoes.

A Warning Against Violence

Dear Bryant Students:

As you may know, there was a very serious incident on campus at 1 a.m. Sunday morning. On September 17, in which one student was seriously injured and taken to the hospital where he underwent surgery Tuesday afternoon. Fortunately, he is expected to be well enough to return to classes next week, but it should be understood that his injuries, inflicted by fellow students, were severe.

I write to you to convey two important messages. First, to underscore that violence is in any form is unacceptable on our campus, that it will not be tolerated, and that those who engage in violent behavior will be held fully accountable and disciplinary action will be taken. It is a great tribute to past and present Bryant students working with student affairs and public safety colleagues that incidents of violent behavior on our campus have been rare. We must continue that excellent safety record.

Secondly, I urge you to make a commitment to work to keep our campus violence-free. On Tuesday, I participated in the Student Senate’s first Fireside Chat — a forum created to improve understanding and communications between students and administrators. We talked about the Sunday incident and the need for all to assume some responsibility to ensure a violence-free campus. I was heartened by the shared sense of commitment to strengthening community standards of conduct evident in that forum.

With each of us assuming responsibility for upholding and strengthening community standards of behavior, Bryant will never again experience another Sunday morning tragedy. Working together, we can Make It Happen.

Sincerely,

William E. Trueheart
President

INNOCENT Bystander

You were just passing by. You heard a commotion but didn’t stop to find out what was happening. Suddenly, you saw a group of kids staring at you. Before you knew it, they started pushing you around. You tried to fight back, but they were too strong. Eventually, you gave up and started running away. You didn’t know it, but you were witnessing a violent incident on campus.

In the aftermath of the incident, you feel guilty for not doing more to prevent it. You realize that there are no bystanders, only victims and perpetrators. If you had taken a stand, you could have made a difference. Next time, you’ll be prepared to take action if you see violence occurring on campus.

OPINION/NEWS
Getting His Kicks In

If by some small chance you have not heard what happened, there was an altercation Saturday night involving two seniors and several freshmen. The man on the ground was not seriously injured, the dust finally settled, one of the seniors was being transported to the hospital. In the immediate moments of the fight he had gone unconscious. As he lay on the ground, he was kicked repeatedly by his attackers, having his face broken in up to six different places. Luckily, the other senior emerged relatively unscathed, although he was hit several times with a small ball and had the privilege of having a beer bottle smashed down on the back of his head.

To the tough guy responsible for placing the senior in the hospital, it is my opinion that "savagery" is the only word appropriate to describe his behavior. It is a fact that you repeatedly kicked the senior as he lay unconscious on the ground with a face broken in several places indicates your intentions went far beyond simply winning a fight. If the fight had not been stopped by outside intervention, I wonder how far you would have gone before you stopped on your own? What is the appropriate amount of time to kick someone as he lies bleeding on the ground, unconscious and unable to defend himself? I strongly suggest your permanent removal from the Bryant campus.

Pointless Ramblings
Brian Epps
Features Editor

To the other attackers: You screwed up. If your suspension is lifted, I suggest you write a letter of apology to be published in The Archway. This incident is not something that will easily be forgotten. Do not forget that an anonymity that has already been breached due to articles in the Providence Journal that state exactly who you are. I believe your knowledge of the Bryant community knows who you are and what you did will be an appropriate punishment in itself. Make the apology. It is a small, first step in earning the forgiveness of a community that demands how to you could have participated in such an act.

How could a fight so malicious and hateful happen? I say anyone who does something like this is spoiled first and foremost in a look around. Although everyone seems to be having a great time, you can almost picture the people who are scratching for a fight. Not only do they look like clowns, but they ruin our good times by putting people in the hospital for doing something worse than looking at them.

We need to step back and take a good look at the events that transpired in less than one minute on Sunday morning. The scariest part is that we could have missed it. Thinking in which the college will attempt to sift through the facts of this incident will be held on Tuesday. I am sure many new facts will be revealed, but one basic fact remains: it was severely beaten, and could have been killed. The fight that did this to him does not belong at this college. I cannot stomach the thought of an individual capable of so horrifying an act coming to live and socialize among us. It was placed in the hospital primarily due to injuries he sustained while laying unconscious. Get whoever did it out of here.

Look Around, We Are Here: Three Students Offerings of Campus Ministry Published in Magazine

Last Wednesday afternoon many of you attended the convocation at which Robbie Lawrence spoke. The Rev. M. Silverman gave the invocation. During the early spring, Father Douglas Sjina offered the invocation at the Mass of Christian Communion and the Reverend Philip Devens delivered the benediction. All of these chaplains were performing the role that people were expecting them to do in a college setting.

In the priestly role, we dress in formal robes, stand at the microphone on a podium, call upon His Holy Presence to dwell with us, and eventually sit down. Some people would say that it is pretty awesome stuff. Some people would say that the priestly function is the only role a chaplain should do; but it is very limiting. This image of a chaplain is too holy and it is not in touch with the real world.

The Roman Catholic, Protestant, and Jewish chaplains are available on a one-on-one basis to the college community as sources of support, guidance, spiritual development, and integration. We are also available to participate in programs and discussions sponsored by faculty, resident assistants, campus groups, or individuals.

As the Protestant chaplains at Bryant College, I am one of seven college chaplains sponsored by the Rhode Island State Council of Churches, Department of Campus Ministries. My mission is to minister to the needs of the college community as a whole.

The focus of this ministry is to develop the integral relationship between the life of the mind and the life of the spirit from the perspective of the Biblical and Christian faith traditions.

My goals at Bryant College are centered on the visibility and the College community's accessibility of the chaplain; to provide worship, experience; to work with the Roman Catholic and Jewish Campus Ministries; to participate in the Quality of Student Life committee; formal and informal discussions with the faculty and administrators; to provide Bible Study, support groups, and counseling responsive to the needs of the campus community; to establish communication and interaction with administration, faculty, staff, and students.

In Trinity News, a book review written by Frederick B. Burnham, he stated that Meeting Jesus Again For The First Time (Marcus Borg, San Francisco: Harper Collins, 1994) takes the reader on an autobiographical journey from the racial group he was born into, and he presents a new, non-denominational belief to a relationship to God that "involves one in a journey of transformation." The role of the campus chaplain is changing and transforming, gaining new insights and relationships in order to touch student lives.

You may hear Rev. Dev., a D.J. on WJMF, the College radio station on Wednesday mornings, or speak to the man on the other end of the phone that restrains "Lester" the unofficial live mascot for Bryant College, as a campus chaplain he is part of Bryant student life. You may find a chaplain sitting in Salvation Dining Room or in the Bryant Center. Look Around, We Are Here!

Bless, take care, and God Bless!

This summer, a very interesting thing happened to three of Accounting Professor Neil Hannon's students, Keri Booth, Ellen M. Holland, and Thomas P. Kiley. Each had a letter to the editor published in Management Accounting, a national magazine created by and for the members of the Institute of Management Accounting. The students were published in the magazine's June, July, August, and September issues.

In the beginning of the year, the three students wrote letters to the editor as part of Professor Hannon's Management Accounting class.

"When the first one was published, it was great! The second one was super. When they published the third, I was shocked," Professor Hannon relates.

He believes that having the ability to write well is the key element to getting ahead. Before coming to teach at Bryant, Professor Hannon spent seventeens years working at major companies and he has seen examples of this firsthand. Individuals with the ability to write good memos and reports were promoted quickly while those with lackluster writing abilities remained stagnant in their careers. Keri Booth commented, "I never thought I'd be published, but I'm very happy. It's also very good for Bryant's reputation!"

Professor Hannon is quite happy with the outcome of requiring his students to write these letters. It brings a lot of publicity to the College as well as to the students themselves, and maybe, perhaps, to him. Because of all of this publicity, Professor Hannon has included the assignments in the course for this year's Management Accounting class.

Updates from Dean Talley

A belated welcome to all new students, staff and faculty of Bryant College! As Vice President for Student Affairs and Dean of Students at Bryant, I am always pleased to welcome new members to our community and welcome back those who return! This year is a little different, as it is the first since 1999 that I have not been working in the role of Bryant's President.

For this academic year, I have a fellowship with the President’s Office. We have been meeting with the President’s Council on Education, one of 31 people chosen by me last year. I am serving my fellowship at the Elmore Library in Cambridge, Massachusetts, working on important issues with the President’s and the Academic Dean.

In the wonderful development of opportunity for me, and I am grateful to be a part of the Bryant experience and to the Student Affairs Division. For this year, Dr. Diane Beaudoing, formerly the Executive Assistant to the President of Bryant University, has been named Executive Assistant to the President for the Academic Dean.

I am pleased to announce that I am beginning to work in leadership at the Oregon State University. As the Senate Chair, I am traveling to the Oregon State University Center in Ashland, MA and then to the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill for our annual fall retreat. At the retreat, the concept of a leadership team in the Senate was stressed. On Tuesday, the Senate sponsored Upper Class Upper Buddy Program, which is now being held between 4 and 6 PM. The Senate would like to thank Anthony Silverstein for all his hard work and dedication, as well as Laurie Harrison, Residence Director, Mike Ross of the ASC, and Linda Hackett, Director of Athletics, for their assistance in making the meeting a success.

The first "Fireplace Chat" was held yesterday in the Bryant Library. Forty students attended the meeting as well as William Trueheart, President of the College.

Parent's Weekend Being Planned

Hello everyone! I hope that your week has been good so far! The Senate has been very busy this past week with several projects. At last week's meeting, we elected a new Student Senator to replace the seat left vacant when Jose Santana was elected as our new Treasurer. I am pleased to announce that Frank Doherty is our new Student Senator.

On Friday, the Senate traveled to the Warren Conference Center in Ashland, MA for our annual fall retreat. At the retreat, the concept of a leadership team in the Senate was stressed. On Tuesday, the Senate sponsored Upper Class Upper Buddy Program, which is now being held between 4 and 6 PM. Parent's Weekend Being Planned

Hello everyone! I hope that your week has been good so far! The Senate has been very busy this past week with several projects. At last week's meeting, we elected a new Student Senator to replace the seat left vacant when Jose Santana was elected as our new Treasurer. I am pleased to announce that Frank Doherty is our new Student Senator.

On Friday, the Senate traveled to the Warren Conference Center in Ashland, MA for our annual fall retreat. At the retreat, the concept of a leadership team in the Senate was stressed. On Tuesday, the Senate sponsored Upper Class Upper Buddy Program, which is now being held between 4 and 6 PM. The Senate would like to thank Anthony Silverstein for all his hard work and dedication, as well as Laurie Harrison, Residence Director, Mike Ross of the ASC, and Linda Hackett, Director of Athletics, for their assistance in making the meeting a success.

About the Order of Omega
Pam Barry
President of Omega

The Order of Omega was founded by a Greek National Leadership Society that recognizes members of interGreek activities who have made outstanding contributions to the Greek community. The National Order of Omega was established in 1959 at the University of Miami. Its purpose is 1) to recognize those students who have attained a high standard of leadership in interGreek activities and continue to maintain that line and to inspire others to strive for similar accomplishments, 2) "to bring together the most representative fraternity and sorority members, and to create an organization which will express the sentiment of the institution on questions of local and intercollegiate fraternities and sororities," and 3) "to bring together members of the faculty, alumni, and student members of the institution's fraternal and sorority organizations on a basis of mutual interest, understanding, and helpfulness" (Order of Omega National Constitution, 1993). The emblem of the Order is the Greek letter Omega, and the color is red and gold.

The Bryant College chapter of Order of Omega was established on February 24, 1993. Since its establishment, more than 50 undergraduate fraternity and sorority members have been initiated into the Order of Omega and are considered active members. Those students who have been initiated into the Order of Omega are considered active and are considered official representatives of those organizations in the Greek community. They work together with students to reach common goals.

Omega is responsible for many activities and events that take place in the Greek community. Omega planned and coordinated all the Greek Week events that took place last week. They also sponsor a Dean's List Reception which honors all members of fraternity and sorority that made the dean's list.

Omega also holds community service projects and sponsors other campus events. This year the Order of Omega plans to develop a Scholarship Program for the siblings of Greeks. The National Order of Omega provides many resources to each chapter such as programming ideas, leadership tips and fundraising events. They also sponsor a scholarship to qualified students.

The qualifications for induction are character, scholarship, intelligence, service and leadership in the interGreek affairs of the university. Greek officers held, Greek participation, grade point average, and service to the college and local community are all important to the selection process for members. Members are also required to be of sophomore, junior or senior standing, have completed at least half year at Bryant College, be in good standing with their chapter and have a grade point average of 2.4 or above. The number of members cannot exceed 3% of the total number of Greeks at the beginning of the academic year or 15, whichever is greater.

At Bryant College, the selection process consists of handing out applications to those students who meet the qualifications. From there, the members conduct a selection process to determine the new members. The current members also decide the number of honorary members to induct into the order.

The Order of Omega offers many opportunities to Greek members of the college for the entire school year. In addition to the services they provide to the Greek organizations, the Order of Omega also provides many opportunities to Greek leaders. The Order of Omega provides many opportunities to Greek leaders to develop their leadership skills for the benefit of the entire Greek community.

In each demo, the club went through what a typical class is like. The night starts off with a period of stretching; this is to limber up the body and allow muscles for the numerous kicks that are performed. After that comes what are called line drills. In this time kicks, punches, and blocks are practiced as the students move up and down the floor. In addition to polishing technique, this also builds up great cardiovascular endurance.

BACCHUS sponsored Directions on Saturday night and the Lab Bar. I would like to say a special thanks to Alissa, Nicole, and Dan for staying the entire night. I also want to thank the rest of the BACCHUS members who showed up to help out!

BACCHUS has been doing some construction lately to improve the organization but our main focus is recruitment. Our next meeting is Thursday, October 27th at 7 PM in Room 1 of the Bryant Center. We are having a car wash from 10-2 on Saturday, September 30th at Hospital Trust (Lincoln Mall). All are welcome to come!

Even though the group meetings are every other Tuesday night, there are people from BACCHUS every Tuesday night, same place, same time. If you want to join BACCHUS and you missed our last meeting, you can always catch up on every Tuesday night.

On behalf of BACCHUS, I would like to express briefly what BACCHUS is about and I urge you to check us out and meet us. If you are against the war, we are against the war.

Beta Theta Pi
by Nathan Ballantine
Congratulations Beta for having the best GPA for the spring semester of 1995 and placing second for Greek Week! The Beta team is holding their first practice of the year on Monday. It's still early to tell, but there are good feelings all around. The A team looks strong with a solid sophomore, and a sophomore class. The B team also looks strong and after only one practice, it's clear that this team is ready to defend their Beta's year. Anybody who wants to play, come down to the pit by 2 or call 6065 and ask for Denaes.

This week: Hatch worked hard and did a great job on Greek Week, Stork got married, but not according to Fudd. Syte and Tanser had a batt to bav. Stylor celebrated his 21st like a true warrior. Monte and Gunnar cleaned for 2 dollars. Oscar goranoff to Re's cousin Gunnar and Alf left presents in Flip and Ragoo's suite. Oscar smiled the Monday Floor. Disgusted Hall Can be a visit for a descon's having a great year. Last, Monte, Flip, Club, and Oscar stopped in at Daisy's birthday party and Lewie wore someone else's dinner.

Quote of the Week: "I don't want to say a damn thing."

Bryant Hunger Coalition
by Jan Broomall
Hey everyone! The first meeting of this new club was great. About 40 people attended. I think the free pizza was definitely a plus. During the meeting we discussed ideas for fundraising and community service.

The purpose of this group is to participate in community service, and during the meeting we talked about a lot of interesting ideas on how to make our campus more of a place that there is a problem with. Our biggest projects so far are organizing events to go to local soup kitchens, and raising money to make food baskets for families at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Fundraising is another big project. At our last meeting we thought of so many things as a bake sale for Parent's Weekend, sponsoring a Dress Down Day, and asking for donations from local businesses. "Trick-or-Treating for Canned Goods" is our current scheduled event. This will be held on Saturday, October 29. This should not only be a fun way to help the community, but is also a great way to meet new people.

To get more information about our club, we'll be having meetings on Wednesday, September 27 at 5:00 p.m. This meeting will be held in the lobby of DMU. We hope to see you there!

BOAC
by David Mortling
Our second meeting was a success. We had over thirty people squeezing into the room. For anybody who missed it and wants to see BOAC in all its glory, we will meet again in two weeks. Look for our posters for the exact date, time, and place.

We thank Brian and Jeff for giving an excellent, informative video presentation on skydiving. They are compiling a list of names for a few trips later this month. If you want to join them, or just want to know more about the adventure of skydiving, call David at ext. 4924.

Melissa Hentzas (Vice President), Chris Gargano (Secretary), and Becky Teyler (Treasurer) are the newest officers of the club. If you know them, please congratulate them, and then get them to sign you up for the club.

For people who don't yet know much about the Bryant Outdoor Adventure Club, anybody and everybody can join. Becoming a member of BOAC does not mean that you enjoy all outdoor activities or have to come to every meeting. Rather, we hope to serve two purposes to the Bryant Community this year.

Your membership will allow you to check out sports equipment at no charge, including bikes, rollerblades, rackets, volleyballs, etc. Also, as a member, you can participate in any of the weekly adventure trips that we offer this year, including skiing, paintball, canoeing, biking, rock climbing, and more. Also, we welcome donations from people and departments who are not interested in joining, but want to invest in the well being of the Bryant Community.

This weekend we are sponsoring Bike Weekend. On Saturday, September 23, we're going to the East Bay Bike Path. This fifteen mile trail stretches from Providence to Bristol. Bring your bike, roller blades, or walking shoes. The trip is free, and we will provide lunch.

Sunday, September 30, early rivers can join us for a morning trip to nearby Lincoln Woods. Bring your bike or walking shoes, and explore the multitude of trails. Sorry, no roller blades are allowed. The trip is free.

Lastly, we are ending the month off right with a weekend excursion to Nantucket Island from Saturday, September 30 - Sunday, October 1. We only have 16 spots left open for this trip, so sign up ASAP if you're interested. The cost is $50 per person, but the trip will depend on the money. Also, anybody who wants to go for Saturday only can join us for $30 per person.

Delta Kappa Epsilon
by Ryan Gregory
Hello everyone! I did not write in last week's issue, because it was a rough week. I hope everyone is having a good time.

Pi Beta Phi was the big deal this week, but it is now starting to settle down. Totes, it is really smooth. Coffee Barbiorno, What, When, Where, How? This week's role and Rippa looks like Mr. Carter. Tubbi could sleep on the 50 yard line with 100,000 fans screaming.

Those archetrips we've planned so far, but keep your eyes out for future trips. Right now we're planning some paintball, canoe, skiing, and rock climbing trips. If these trips might interest you, or there is something else you want to see us offer, feel free to contact us with your ideas.

Hope to see everyone (students, alumni, faculty, staff, administrators...) at our next meeting in a couple of weeks. If you want to join BOAC, or have any questions about the club, call David at ext. 4924, or drop us a line at Box 4512.

Remember, join the Bryant Community, join the Bryant Outdoor Adventure Club!

We're out to start this week by congratulating our Theta Chi on bringing home the Highest New Member Class GPA award for Spring '95. That's twice in a row! We hope to continue this tradition in our next year.

Thanks to Theta Phi Alphy for coming Friday night, as well as all other members. The week was particularly enjoyed by us all as we took a trip around the city.

I'd like to personally thanks Lefty for the barbeque on Friday night. You've particulated enjoyed it.

Wally's friends came on Saturday, the scary thing was that they just like the food that well.

Until next week, shoot to the stars.

Tip of the Week: "I was taking a tour of the dorm."

Thank you to all of you that showed up at our first meeting of the year. We had a great turnout and I hope you enjoyed the evening. We met on Wednesday, September 27 at the faculty student barbecue. The barbeque was very well attended by all. We know that many of you have complaints of food poisoning. A reminder to those who have been in the past for yard games or cornhole might as well do the picnic. If you are paying by check please make the check payable to the Finance Association.

Stay tuned for more information later this month about upcoming speakers during the semester! We hope to see everyone Wednesday at the Alpha Club.

Kappa Delta Phi
by Seth Anderson

What a great Greek Week! We may have come a little short of our goal, but we won the event that mattered the most-Phi Milhouse and Rocha led our team to victory, holding off a strong showing by TEP in the finals. Congratulations to all the Greeks who participated, and especially those who were involved with organizing the Greeks for Greeks.

The week on the floor was a eventful. One brother used his time wisely by pursuing his writing-skills. He wrote so eloquently that he received a kind reply. For Sig - maybe next time! Thanks to all those that stuck around DD - Monday night was calm, but calm is good every once in a while. Rocha was kindly escorted from Farley after the fifth inning - thanks Nate for bringing him back safely. The festivities with KRT we a blast, except for that long-haired kid. We should do it again or soon.

We are looking forward to flag football and to footy. Anybody interested in playing for our team is encouraged to give us a call at 6746 or sign up with any of the brothers.

Quote of the week: "Milhouse - I'm sure this weekend can only get better. Everyone has become favorite brother this week, for his vast supply of study aids. Mike retained old ties, in the middle. All in all, Dazed, McDowell loves Aladdin. Mama is still alive to everyone's surprise. Scared, where were we? And good performance of the winnings? Shit, try opening your eyes next time - it reflects badly on your group or maybe you should keep them shut. Zac, is what you thinking? Hey Sideshow, are you ready? For all of us. The Freshman Football team is shaping up nicely, and there are a few slots available in our fall team. Let's fill these spots and get ready! We will be hosting our final T-Bone's event of the year next Thursday. We hope to see everyone there for our final fall night. Information. Monday Night Foot- ball will continue weekly as well. We hope to see you there.

Seniors, an information packet will be coming in the mail in a week or so. All the information that you will need to know about senior portraits and how to order a 1996 yearbook will be included, as well as directions at the university on how to buy personal ad space for memories. If you are interested, there are free spaces left to order and you can find more information carefully.

Phi Kappa Sigma
by Aaron Prentier

I thought for sure I was going to miss this week's article, but who could pass up this kind of an opportunity? The comedy writes itself when you talk about these guys.

But before we talk about brothers, let's review the week's activities. Greek Week was a huge success, an event enjoyed by all parties involved. Billy Wray was a force on the tug-of-war. Greek Week was ended with the showing of Pulp Fiction. Here is the only problem I had with Greek Week. This movie is great, I have yet to test the censors. But, they took attendance, and then they charged us two bucks to get in. If that's the point, I don't. Enjoy being forced to give money, and the reaction I got from the Greeks is not why anyone else did. It was a scam that we could do nothing about.

On a more positive note, the weekend was another huge suc- cess. Monday Night Football was a great finish to a terrific weekend. I'm sure this weekend can only get better. Everyone has become favorite brother this week, for his vast supply of study aids. Mike retained old ties, in the middle. All in all, Bryant College Republicans plan to be a significant part of this exciting political scenario in the upcoming year.

The Ledger
by Tricia Adams

What is the Ledger? For those of you who don't know, the Ledger is Bryant College's yearbook.

We need more staff members this year if the 1996 book is going to be a success. We need many experienced or requested or requested. Any information and skill that is needed is taught and provided to you. Come to one of our meetings and learn more about how you can preserve memories through the year.

Our meetings are every Tuesday at 6:00 in meeting room 2A on the second floor of the Bryant Center.

The Leader can't exist without candida and photos of campus events. If you have any photos lying around that you think would be appropriate for the Leader, send them to us at Box 8. Make sure to write your name and address on the back so that we can return them to you. Candida are so important to a yearbook, because that is the space up and represent what life on Bryant's Campus is really like.

It is time to get started or you will be left behind.

Hello everyone and welcome to another edition of TEP news. We would like to start by thanking the brothers who participated in the Greek week events. We won, but have a hard time proving it because of the beating our plaque took. Sorry for the lateness, but we would like to welcome a new addition to the freshman class. We hope you like it here. To all of those freshmen interested in joining a fraternity, or who just want to learn more about greek life, please come visit us. We are located on the third floor of dorms two, and limestone M-1. We are always looking for people to play football, and we want you to remind the rest of you every Monday when we have meetings on the floor.

Congratulations to our brothers on birthdays the past few weeks. Wease turned 20 on Saturday. McKee, Harrison, and of course, Stewart celebrated their 21st birthdays within the past three weeks. Thanks to Stewart for much enjoyment last monday. He is still trying to recover before attempting another performance. Speaking of performances, to bad to all those who missed Jason “I will beat anyone” Greenlaw’s a cappella Friday call. Although things almost got scary, we will make sure to keep our voices up for the next few weeks, he has been going on bunting trips to the outback. You will have to ask how his trips have been.

Weekie proved to be a complete moron this week when he enabled our plaque to last of all two hours. Thanks to little Bill for providing the use of the alumni and powerful Red Neck mobile. Sure it looks good, but watch out she moves. Taylor was lucky enough to be a representative to our floor on Saturday morning. It was fun to wake up to the sweet sound of Wendy’s voice. One thing we forget to ask you Wendy, would you like some cheese with your white?

We will leave you with the quote of the week, “If you have anymore questions, call me in the morning, I have a 3:30 Later.”

Anyone else interested in coming up to Monday night football call 4077 or 4048. We’re located in dorm 2, second floor. Or stop up on the balcony in the Rotunda.

On a happier note, we have somehow acquired a nice bonus from an unknown source! Looks like Sebologo will make Greenlaw’s spot as sire of the year! Cape has perfected the male kick! Draven stopped up for the weekend and phones calls from Hey Pal! and River lived the hoards! Visits from Paci Se and Mr. made the weekend eventful! Who said “Set Back”?

What could be simpler? Everyone qualifies. The reward card is good at any of our locations, including Heritage and Gulski Dining Rooms.

"Clueless" Thoughts for a Thursday Evening

Le Tim
Archway Staff Writer

It has been brought to my attention, by numerous people, that my opinions about sports show I have as much understanding of the subject as I do with Calculus (which by the way is not much). So here are some "clueless" thoughts, myths, and half-truths for a Thursday evening:

I say let’s pay Mo Vaughn by the pound, and you know, maybe he’ll be the first $10 million dollar player. Let’s put big Mo and Cecil Fielder of the Tigers and see if they can cause an earthquake.

I wonder if they can run the hundred under 20 seconds?

On a more serious note, my vote (if I did have one) goes to MO for MVP. Maybe the Pats aren’t as good as fans want to believe... can we say Overrated?

And before we even compare Drew to Dan or Steve, let’s see if Drew can throw a touchdown pass first.

Isn’t exciting to watch a Nebraska or Florida St. beat the crap out of Central Ohio St. by 70 points? Hey maybe Nebraska can play the Lincoln Jr. High Team, then that way the Cornhuskers can score 200 points.

Well, maybe not because Cornhuskers probably couldn’t count that high anyway.

I could be wrong, but running up the score against a lesser school isn’t as impressive as defeating a Top 25 team.

By the way, Nebraska players are not criminals.

If Delmon is worth $35 million then Emmitt is worth three times that much.

If you didn’t know, teams win championships, not Delmon.

If NBA players were on strike, and the owners hired replacement players, I could actually be a Denver Nugget...

First, I would want a $5 million dollar contract, my own line of shoes, Gatorade commercials where I would run across the desert searching for the meaning of basketball, and a supermodel for a wife...and I won’t play if fans boo me or if I don’t get enough air time on TV...they wouldn’t that be great?

Well, maybe not, because if a Joe Blow like me can make the team, then this world is really "clueless."

PICKS OF THE WEEKS

College Football

#5 Texas A&M (2-0) @ #7 Colorado (3-0)

The road to the National championship will go through Boulder this week. LaDainian Tomlinson (225 all-purpose yards/game) the Aggies will face the "next Joe Montana" in Kyle Dshners of Colorado (948 yds, 8 Tds). This should be a close and exciting game with the Buffs winning this one in dramatic fashion.

CU 38 Texas A&M 33

#21 Notre Dame (2-1) @ #10 Texas (2-0)

With Lou Holtz watching this game from the press box, the Fighting Irish will come out and put on their best performance of the season. Notre Dame wins easily over a Texas team that have choked in big games before.Notre Dame 31 Texas 16

NFL

Denver (2-1) @ San Diego (2-1)

Denver, after having defeated the Redskins 38-21 at Mile High banks to another John Elway 4th quarter heroic, travels to southern California to take on the Chargers. San Diego, fresh off of their victory over the Eagles, will strike with Natrone Means (23 car.- 122 yds last week), and a tough defense (led by All-Pro Linebacker Junior Sewo) that has always given Denver problems. But a little Elway magic will help the Broncos steal this game in the 4th quarter.

Broncos 24 Chargers 21

Chicago (2-1) @ St. Louis (3-0)

St. Louis’ offense has been almost perfect with zero giveaways, and along with the defense (12 takeaways), the Rams are off to their best start since 1989. Da Bears will give the Rams a tough defensive battle, but the major concern is Da Bears offense. Chicago will need to control the clock and tempo of the game in order to win. But it probably won’t happen this week.

Rams 23 Bears 17

San Francisco (3-0) @ Denver (0-3)

The Lions have suffered to the worst start in recent years, and last week’s embarrassment to the Cardinals didn’t help Head Coach Wayne涉足 popularity in the Motor City. Barry Sanders has another great game, but his cost fumbles crippled the Lions last week. Against the defending Super Bowl champions, look for the Lions to play with great emotion in front of a national audience and pull off the upset. Sanders will run wild and make up for last week’s mistakes.

Women's Cross Country Captains Named

Le Tien
Archway Staff Writer

Bryant's Women Cross Country have three new captains for the 1995-96 season. Head Coach Charlie Mandeville has named seniors Jessica Duval, Jodi Russo, and Mandy LaPierre tri-captains. Duval (Fairhaven, MA) was a second team All-Conference selection last season, finishing 10th at the NE-10 championships. Russo (Blue Point, NY) was consistently among the top seven finishers on the team in 1994. LaPierre (Shelburne, MA/Mohawk Trail Regional) hopes to rebound from last season's bout with mononucleosis. Mandeville is counting on the Shelburne, MA native to regain her form of two years ago when she was a second team All-Conference selection in 1993.

Good Luck to the captains and team this upcoming season!

Announcement of Women's Tennis Captains

Le Tien
Archway Staff Writer

Head Coach Bob Coker has named seniors Amy Becker and Katie Coates co-captains for the 1995-96 season. Becker (Canton, MA) posted a 5-0 record last year while playing at #6 singles. This season, look for her to continue her win streak playing #4 singles for the team.

Coates (Colchester, VT/Colchester HS) will move up to #2 singles this year after having one of the best singles record on the team last season with a 13-4 mark at #5 singles.

Good Luck ladies!

The Bryant College Golf Team competed in the Yale Fall Invitational Tournament last weekend. Bryant finished tenth as the tournament was cut short due to the weather.

Led by the strong play of Ray Issler, with a total of 147 (70 on the first day and 77 on the second), Bryant jumped out to a great start finishing 3rd after the first day.
