LONELY AND IN DESPAIR

Do you ever get that feeling that you need to talk to someone, but you just do not know who? There are a million (give or take a few hundred thousand) phone numbers in your little black book, but there is no one you can just call to talk about nothing at all; no one is there unconditionally to simply listen. There always must be some particular reason for calling; and when there isn't, a dull silence on the other end tells you that what you’re saying is a lot less interesting than that “Seinfeld” re-run.

The thing is, there would be nothing to say, even if you were to have the full attention of a listener. And taking advantage of someone’s excellent listening ability is no way to treat a friend. Would you be willing to listen if the shoe were on the other foot? Surely you jest. Time is just too dem demin important to be wasted on listening. Time is of the essence, as has often been said. Seize the day. The average work week in America keeps increasing itself. The world lives to work and not the other way around. And the funny thing is that leisure time which was lost is being replaced by food; the less time there is for people to have themselves, the better they wish to eat. This makes sense; harder workers deserve some sort of reward. But will that time ever be replaced?

Will a degree makes things easier? Certainly, you will be paid a salary instead of wages for the thirteen hours you work each day.

And so, as you look in your personal phone book, for someone to call, consider that instead you should possibly hit the nearest supermarket and prepare to cook yourself up a storm.

Do you ever get that feeling you have really need to talk to someone, but you just don’t know who? Yeah, me neither.

SAA SPONSORS ALUMNI DAY

Dear Members of the Bryant Community,

Next Friday, September 27, the Student Alumni Association (SAA) will be hosting their second annual “Alumni Day” as part of Homecoming Weekend ’96. SAA’s main goal is to bring back alumni to interact with current Bryant students. This event will not only give students an opportunity to listen to professionals discuss their careers, but will also provide valuable advice concerning their careers. “Alumni Day” will bring students first-hand, exciting stories concerning the business world. Alumni will be hosted by members of the Student Alumni Association and Senate. These alumni will take the alumni to their classes between 8:00 a.m. and 1:00 p.m. to give a brief presentation concerning their life experiences after Bryant. A table will be designated for the alumni in the Rotunda and they are encouraged to mingle with members of the Bryant Community to approach them with any questions or comments.

By hosting the second annual “Alumni Day,” the Student Alumni Association is attempting to strengthen the relationship between alumni and present Bryant Students. We are asking you, the members of the Bryant Community, to show your spirit and welcome back the Alumni of Bryant College.

Sincerely,

LOSS FOR BRYANT

To the Editor,

Recently, I was informed that Mrs. Lynda Nagle was relieved of her duties as Academic Advisor for Bryant College. The first question that came to mind was “What is happening at Bryant College that boasts that it provides its students with the brightest, most knowledgeable, and most helpful faculty and advisors, allows one of its members, who fits these characteristics so well, to be relieved of her duties?” It is certainly no step backward.

As an Alumnus and one follower of Bryant, I truly believe that Bryant College (both the Administration and Student body) has suffered a great loss. While attending Bryant, I met and became good friends with Ms. Nagle, a wonderful lady. She always took the time to talk with students who had questions or needed advice, whether school-related or personal. She had a way of helping us feel comfortable about sharing things with her that would cause most of us to hesitate to mention to anyone else. If anyone had ever come off the street and walked into Bryant, as long as they saw Mrs. Nagle, they would have thought Bryant was one of the happiest places on Earth because she always wore a smile.

Mrs. Nagle epitomizes the kind of person that you would like to have working at a college. She goes out of her way to let the students and other faculty know that they can come to her if they need anything. She is a team player who always gives 110%. Honestly, I was still attending Bryant, I would feel disappointed and upset, but most of all, I would feel cheated. Cheated out of the opportunity to continue receiving the quality education that I had become so accustomed to at Bryant, as well as the chance to grow and develop as a young adult with such a close friend. That’s what Mrs. Nagle was first and foremost, a friend. Everyone I knew at Bryant felt that way. Mrs. Nagle made Bryant feel like a home away from home. Something that college try so hard to do, she made seem so easy.

When received my diploma from Bryant College, I thought that it was one of the greatest things that I had ever accomplished in my life. I owed so much of my college success to Mrs. Nagle. And to this day, I know that it was the time Mrs. Nagle spent answering my questions and providing me with her experience, that has helped me to look at problems as opportunities to use my education to resolve those problems and overcome my obstacles that stand in the way of achieving my goals.

I am sorry that Bryant College has lost such an amazing individual. But, most of all, I am sorry that the students at Bryant College who had the chance to meet Mrs. Nagle have lost such a good friend and educator of life, and that this year’s Freshmen and all of the students who have yet to attend Bryant College, will not have the opportunity to enrich their minds and their hearts with the sincere love, care and devotion of Mrs. Lynda Nagle.

Sincerely,

A. Melmed

Advertising needed to keep campus informed

Christina Carman

A couple nights ago, I was having dinner with my friend who also happens to work on the student newspaper, known as the Archway. During the course of our meal, a Bryant student approached her and held her by the shoulder. He was in this past week's paper. His primary reason for being disappointed in it was simply the fact that there were too many advertisements in the paper. This comment upset me and it especially upset my friend for a number of reasons.

First of all, the Archway staff is very limited. The select individuals that work on the Archway, work on it in their free time. They do not get paid for the amount of time they devote to the paper. They do not get paid for the amount of time they devote to the paper which averages between twelve to fourteen hours per week. They put this paper together purely to keep the Bryant Community informed and entertained.

Each year the Archway is allotted a set amount of money from the school to work with. This money does not cover all of the costs and expenses the paper will incur throughout the year. Therefore, the Archway must have some other form of income. They could charge the Community a set fee for each paper they buy, such as USA Today does for any other major newspaper; but instead the Archway turns to advertisements to support the paper. These ads are varied. They are ads for A&T, various restaurants, and they also include advertisements for clubs and organizations on campus to announce upcoming meetings, seminars, and events. The Archway allows the companies and organizations to advertise for a set fee which they then run in the paper. These ads are necessary for the newspaper to survive. Without these advertisements, the paper would not have a paper and club and organizations would have no other way to get the word out about meetings, jobs or events other than posting signs in public areas and hope people stop long enough to read them.

This brings me to another point. Being a Georgian president, I had an inside look at all the planning, financing, time and effort that was devoted to the Bryant Community games. These tasks rested solely in the Atlanta Committee for the Olympic Games (ACOG). This committee consisted of 90,000 individuals, 40,000 were primarily involved in planning and financing the games. The remaining 50,000 individuals were volunteers. These volunteers were people like you and me who gave up a summer's salary to make sure the games went smoothly. Like the Archway staff members, they were not paid for all the time and effort they devoted to the games. These particular individuals volunteered their time primarily for their love of their state, their desire to ensure the US shined in the eyes of on-looking countries, to make sure the games ran smoothly and for their pure desire to be a part of this spectacular event. However, despite these 90,000 individuals who sacrificed their monthly salaries, disrupted their livelihood and devoted every minute of their day to the Olympic games, there was one complaint made by all the outsider media, the media, like the Bryant student who complained there were too many ads in the paper, complained that the Olympics were too commercialized - there were too many advertisements. The media argued that because of this abundance of commercialization, it drew the public's attention away from the athletes and the Olympics as a whole. Regardless of whether one thinks this is true or false, the point is that just like the Archway, the Olympics needed these advertisements to survive. What you, the reader, may not know is that the state of Georgia privately funded these Olympic games without the help of the Federal Government.

Prior to writing this article, I spoke with Rob Brennan who is Press Chief for Communications. He confirmed the fact that the Federal Government did not provide monetary assistance to the Olympic games. The only assistance the government did give was to provide the games with security. The money to fund the Games was raised through sponsorship sales and game related income as concession, souvenir sales and parking fees. The money used to build the beautiful Centennial Olympic Park was raised from the sale of Olympic bricks. Furthermore, no more of the taxpayer's money was used other than that which was needed to clean up the streets. This goes to show that whether one liked the commercials and advertisements or not, they were the sole reason for Atlanta's ability to host the Olympic games in the US this past summer. Without these sponsors, such as NBC, AT&T, Nike, Visa, Nations Bank and many more, there would have been no games this summer.

My point is that the Archway and the Olympics alike are what the individual makes of them. If all one saw was the commercials and advertisements than that person probably did not enjoy the games in the paper or the venues at the Olympics. On the other hand, if the splendor, extravagance, creativity, inspiration and beauty of the city of Atlanta mingled with the trials and tribulations of the thousands of individuals dancing through the streets and flocking in the Olympic rings fountain combined with the spectacular feats of the athletes, you probably loved the paper.

Regardless of what anyone takes, it is the sponsors and advertisements that pay for these things to take place. This year, particularly unlike any other, Bryant says a long time. We have a new president, new technology in Koffler, as well as in the classrooms, and we have new faces in administrative positions and in undergraduate classes which promise to bring creative ideas to Bryant and in turn inspire several new changes. I encourage each and every person to get involved with Bryant. If you don't like the way something is being done, don't just talk about it, get out and consult with the proper resources to get the job done right.
From the professor's desk:

playing it cool in my freshman year

Welcome back to Bryant! I am feeling the vibrating energy of the returning students and the new freshmen as the campus literally comes back to life.

I am reminded of my first year as a freshman at Beloit College in Wisconsin. One of my main anxieties during my freshmen year was that someone would find out what I was quite near sighted. I was convinced that both of these conditions combined would ruin my social life completely. So I grew long hair, a beard, and wore contact lenses 16-18 hours a day. I also carefully observed what the other "cool" students did and tried to hang out with them.

I noticed that many of the "cool" people got drunk often and virtually chain-smoked during parties. This was hard for me to emulate as I did not like either smoking or drinking. My "cool" friends often told tales of "how wild" they were at parties. Typically these stories went like this: "Then I got so drunk man that I didn't know what I was saying or doing. By the end of the night I was puffing all over the place. They had to carry me back to my dorm. And this morning I had the worst hangover and I can't remember a thing! My head really hurts. Boy was last night fun or what?" This kind of talk always went completely over my head. I blamed myself for not being cool enough to understand.

One day I asked one of my "cool" friends, while he was sober, to really tell me why drinking at parties leads to having more fun. My cool friend explained it very clearly, "Well, it kind of loosens you up. It's easy to talk to people. You can say things when you are sober and they don't hold it against you. And it's great for getting to know girls." After that lucid explanation, I tried drinking a bit.

The problem was that drinking did not agree with my constitution. It made me nauseous and I did not like the feeling of being tipsy. So I hit upon a clever solution. I started drinking 7-UP at parties but gave the impression to everyone that I was Gin and Tonic. I occasionally acted silly and brash to reinforce the notion that I was feeling "quite good." I never had a hangover and thought I had beat the best of both worlds. Finally, in the desire to fall in with the "ultra cool" group, I started smoking cigarettes while I drank my 7-UP. However, being con-

Taking Care of Our Campus

Many Bryant undergraduates chose to apply to Bryant for one of a number of reasons: Bryant offered the business and management education they were looking for; our location was close enough, but not too close to home; or they felt welcomed by the student body and faculty. Another reason some people apply to Bryant is that they fall in love with our campus. Bryant has one of the best maintained campuses anywhere. It is clean, in good repair and comfortable. But there are those in the Bryant community who could compromise the beauty of the campus we so treasure.

The first weekend of school every fall is a time when many students, rightly or wrongly, spend many of their evening hours in the townhouses, renewing old acquaintances and making new ones. Unfortunately, some also spent their time drinking to excess and generating huge amounts of trash. Such was the case this year, and the result was surprising. We've spent many hours over the last seven years talking to students about their behavior regarding alcohol, and working with student leaders to curtail the amount of alcohol abuse that happens at Bryant. These efforts have generally been successful. Even issues of trash and residence hall damage have been improved though every few years, the amount of residence hall damage or outside trash reaches completely inappropriate levels. We have come to such a point this year.

The amount of trash generated and thrown on the ground during opening weekend was incalculable, and the amount of residence hall damage every spring, such as holes in walls, stains and ruined carpets, and broken bathroom fixtures, makes it almost impossible for Physical Plant to maintain Bryant's competitive edge regarding the beauty of our campus. I find it difficult to believe that students would throw trash on the ground in such a manner in their own homes or that they would punch holes in their own walls. Why do we go where we live for nine months of the year? Many student leaders are looking for help in reducing the amount of trash that is not properly disposed of, and will need you to become involved. Physical Plant is installing extra trash receptacles in the townhouse area on weekends so you'll have a place to put your trash. Last weekend, this worked. There was a lot less trash on the ground on Friday and Saturday nights because students were responding to our call to take better care of their living environments. We appreciate your efforts in this area. Our next task is to figure out a way to reduce the amount of damage in our residence halls. I know I can count on student leaders to help us in these efforts. Can they count on your support as well?

We've had the chance to experience a fun opening weekend. Now it is the time for all of us to get serious about doing our part to maintain the beauty of our campus.

Winter mission comes to Bryant
A walk in the orchard

submitted by Collegiate

Winter Mission, a fully interactive, high intensity, snow focused road show will be making a stop at Bryant College on September 19, 1996, and can be found outside the student center from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

In an effort to get students psyched for snow, Winter Mission will promote American Skiing Company's Gotta Rock and College Fest college competition and the special Winter Mission student season pass.

Along with the exciting entertainment elements featured, Winter Mission will include continuous screenings of a high impact extreme skiing/snowboard video projected on a gigantic mobile Sony JumboTron monitor. AKA "Big MO." The extreme video will be set to the new Ski And Snowboard Soundtrack CD from Warner Brothers.

Winter Mission's attractions will include an awesome show featuring World champion mogul skier and legend of freestyle, Bruce Byersley, along with up and coming snowboard riders demonstrating arnral maneuvers on skis and snowboards.

Students will be invited to watch and learn from fun-filled snowboarders, courtesy of Bauer, and to participate in free learn to ski and snowboard programs sponsored by Avalanche Snowboards and Airwalk Boots.

As if "BIG MO" and the extreme entertainment weren't enough, the interactive Mountain Dew video game truck will be on site for participants to experience various extreme video games. Also available to participants are a virtual skiing arcade game, an inflatable rock climbing mountain, and hydraulicly operated snowboards simulators that gyrate and move similarly to mechanical boards.

At each school lucky students will walk away with freebies and prizes including Elan and Rossignol skis and snowboards, boots from Dolo­mitc and Nordica, clothing from Fila and Airwalk, T-shirts, sunglasses, and other cool stuff. One student winner will be able to head to the mountains in a cool "ultimate ride" car to be given out during Broadner Fest.

Presented for the first time ever by American Skiing Company on behalf of Killington, Sunday River, Sugarloaf, Sugarbush, Attitash/ Bear Peak, Mt. Snow and Haystock, Winter Mission brings the thrill and excitement of the mountains directly to students on campus. For the one day of Winter Mission students can purchase a 7 mountain pass for just $425. The total value of the pass is more than $1200.

Mountain Dew is the presenting sponsor of Winter Mission, with additional support from Sony, Jeep, Airwalk, Fila, and Paul Mitchell Systems.

During this time of year, I enjoy a brisk walk in an apple orchard experiencing the crisp coolness of the air, bright clear blue skies and apple trees hanging low with ripe fruit. Sometimes I reach out my hand to gather a beautiful, unblemished apple, but when I touch it I find that a worm has gotten inside and the apple is rotten to the core. A big disappointment! So are we going to try again, knowing that we risk another rotten relationship, or nurture the possibility of finding someone who is attractive to us.

In our relationship with God, we realize that God created the orchard, including the worm and the nurturing sun. We have many choices, and we can make decisions that will affect our lives. We can only hope that our decisions are based on clear values and a faith that allows us to make mistakes.

So, be safe, take care and God bless!

On Wednesday, September 25 at 7:00 p.m. the Departments of Residence Life and Student Activities are bringing back to campus Mr. Jackson Katz. His slide-illustrated presentation is one of the first in-depth studies of the male image in the media. The majority of research done thus far on the relationship between gender and advertising has focused on women and femininity.

By viewing images from Hollywood movies, television, pornography, advertisements, sports and music television and videos, Mr. Katz analyzes the relationship between masculinity and violence in the media and how that link translates into society as outlined by the roles they play and the qualities which deem women and men sexually appealing.

This provocative lecture is accompanied by images of gun-toting males in the Hollywood pantheon from Humphrey Bogart to Arnold Schwarzenegger. Mr. Katz draws upon familiar activities and icons including professional football, wrestling, the Marlboro Man and Bruce Springsteen to illustrate his points about violent masculinity.

Parking
On Wednesday, September 18, 1996, the Inauguration Site, Lot C2 will be blocked off after 5 p.m. to make arrangements for the erection of the Inauguration Tent. The C1 lot will be blocked off in Friday, September 20, 1996, at 5 p.m.

During these times you may park in any area which is not blocked.

Staff and faculty members who are arriving early (prior to the Faculty Forum) the morning of Inauguration Day are asked to park their vehicles in the C4 parking lot. Persons arriving later may park in any spaces as they become available.

Your cooperation in following this schedule is appreciated.

Radios
Persons who have already been identified as needing a two-way radio on Inauguration Day should meet in the mezzanine of the Rotunda on Friday, September 20, 1996, at 5 p.m. for a short meeting and to receive your radio.

RIPTA Bus
On Inauguration Day the RIPTA bus will make pick-ups and drop-offs at the entrance to the old townhouses after 1:30 p.m. as it will not enter the front circle after that time.

Crime Prevention
The Inauguration will bring many persons to campus. Some will inevitably wander through various parts of our buildings and work areas. You are asked to be particularly mindful during this time by securing your personal belongings and other items in your work area.

Congratulations to all broth- ers and sisters for coming out to be the Champions of Greek Week '96. The cup is finally ours. Also, thanks for stopping by Thursday night and celebrating: Hey, Jess and Christy, Pam, Nut and Scooter; want one more game!

On the sports front, our football team is looking very strong, as Hollywood attempts a come- back. We will surely miss Big Poppy once the season is underway. Thanks go out to the Greek Leadership for put- ting on a successful Greek Week. Special thanks go out to Wally for all his hard work in representing our community, except when he won the crazy man award at Touch of Class on Saturday.

This weekend was full of storie- s, none bigger than Goozie palling a Kohl on Saturday Night. Let's just hug. Too bad Wally didn't see Saturday Night, he was MIA. A Happy 22 Birthday, shot out to Kiler. Scooter was a mess this week- end, and almost had to steal a car to get to Foxboro on Sun- day, but was saved by Baloo. Also, Scooter had his friends up this weekend, one word: Meat! SwanX passed by the floor this weekend but was missing on Sunday morning. Speakman had a rough experience this week- end in A-block, and brothers are no questions raised...

On a serious note, we would like to extend our sincere con- d olences to Cameron for her re- cent loss. The brothers are truly sorry, and are here for you any- time. Also, at this time I would like to announce that we will be co- operating with Phi Sigma Theta in the Rotunda with Delta Zeta on September 26 & 27. It will be in honor of Bryant's 25th Anniver- sary at the Tupper campus, and the proceeds will benefit United Cere- bral Palsy and the Gallaudet Uni- versity for the Hearing Impaired. All donations are appreciated and can be given to any brother or sister.

And finally, we would like to thank all the students who supported our poster sale last weekend. Once again, we are located on the 2nd floor of Dorm 3 and in Townhouses K6 & Ph. Feel free to come by and visit us anytime.

Well, that's it for this week, until then: "Rock the free world." Of course, the quote of the week is:"It feels good to be a good brother." (JD)

Tip of the week: "All good broth- ers don't miss Foxboro." (Killer)

First off, The Greek Community would like to encourage all the un- derclassmen to find out what Greek life is all about. For girls, All Soror- ity Rush begins Monday and you can sign up in front of Salomon Dinner Hall or contact the Greek Life Office at X6199 for more in- formation. See you there.

Also, the Brown Venture Forum and the Champions of Greek! We want to thank everyone who attended. It was a great turn out, but there is also room for more.

On behalf of everyone else, I would like to personally thank Keith for the fashion lesson that he pro- vided to all of us last week in class. Everyone, especially me, was impressed with your great knowledge of the clothing materials and the effect it may have on one's skin. Maybe you should have majored in clothing design instead of finance. Most frequently heard phrase of the weekend: "What's up with that Keith!!?" Until next time, BKKK!

Hi all, we just had our first meet- ing last week and had very good results. We were very pleased at the turn-out at our first meeting. We met some very motivated people. I'd like to thank the staff and admin- istrative members of the Bryant Community that came to our meeting. I'd like to say that our meetings are open to any administration and faculty members in the Bryant Commu- nity that are interested in attend- ing. This invitation is also extended to any Bryant student organizations that would like to attend one of our meetings and perhaps work together towards some common goals. So, when I say everyone is invited to come to our meeting, I really do mean everyone. We appreciate the support of the Bryant Community. I'd like to take a moment to intro- duce our executive board members.

They are as follows:

Harold Reback, President
B.wanda Albert, Vice President
Marjolee Mattie, Treasurer
Shaona Moor, Secretary
Louis Canacho-Rosado, Historian

Our new e-board has some very exciting plans this year. I couldn't help but to be overwhelmed by the diverse group of bright and very motivated students from different backgrounds. I was so overwhelmed that some of you could say that I could barely speak at the meeting. I'd like to thank everyone for coming.

Hello everyone!

Well, we just had our first meet- ing last weekend and had very good results. We were very pleased at the turn-out at our first meeting. We met some very motivated people. I'd like to thank the staff and admin- istrative members of the Bryant Community that came to our meeting. I'd like to say that our meetings are open to any administration and faculty members in the Bryant Commu- nity that are interested in attend- ing. This invitation is also extended to any Bryant student organizations that would like to attend one of our meetings and perhaps work together towards some common goals. So, when I say everyone is invited to come to our meeting, I really do mean everyone. We appreciate the support of the Bryant Community. I'd like to take a moment to intro- duce our executive board members.

They are as follows:

Harold Reback, President
B.owanda Albert, Vice President
Marjolee Mattie, Treasurer
Shaona Moor, Secretary
Louis Canacho-Rosado, Historian

Our new e-board has some very exciting plans this year. I couldn't help but to be overwhelmed by the diverse group of bright and very motivated students from different backgrounds. I was so overwhelmed that some of you could say that I could barely speak at the meeting. I'd like to thank everyone for coming.

The purpose and goals of the MSU were explained at our first meeting. We received some words of encou- ragement from our faculty advisor, Juan-Douglas Bell. I'd like to welcome the new assistant director of Multicultural Student Services, Ms. Meg Anne Springer, Welcome!

At our meeting, we also collected membership applications along with the dues. A reminder for those of you who could not attend the meet- ing: the dues this year are $5.00 per semester or $10 for the year. We will continue to collect applications and dues during the next couple of weeks so it's not too late to join.

I'd like to remind everyone that anyone can participate in MSU and be an active member without neces- sarily attending all of the meetings. Although we strongly recommend that members attend organization meetings, it is not mandatory. We realize that there are many mem- bers of the Bryant community that would like to participate in our or- ganization. Unfortunately, because of our meeting time, it is difficult if not impossible, in some cases for, some students to attend our meet- ings.

We also organized our commit- tees. We had sign-ups for several committees. These committees in- cluded Community Service, Public Relations, Fundraising, and the So- cial Activities committee. There are still some opportunities for involve- ment in some of these committees. Our next meeting will be next Wednesday at 4 p.m. in the Bryant Center Room 2A. Come and join us! Ciao!

Sorry to the article last week, but I was busy doing something. What that something is I don’t know. But, anyway, I hope all the new students and returning students are finally settling in having fun. For anybody that doesn’t know any of the brothers and would like to meet them we have Monday night football every Monday at 9:00. Phi Kap is located in dorm 1 floor 3. Anyone is welcome, and we also have an O.F.C team. The team looks to be practicing well and everybody’s enjoying it. If you are interested in playing talk to Jeff, Dack “Mama” our athletic director. He is the one with the nectar cut hair on his head. As of right now this year is awesome. We’ve had some great times down at our G2 townhouse. We are breaking it in with the Brothers’ Party. This past weekend we had our annual heaven and hell party up on the floor. Most enjoyed heaven but hell wasn’t that bad. Dackeck Mama gives birth to more names ranging from Stealth Mama to Wolf Mama. What went on in that game I don’t know. JR go get some sicky paper will you and clean the bathroom while you at it. Thanks to all the seniors we’ve parted with, this has been a good time, too good of a time for me to remember. A big thanks to Davey D. for the generous 29 cent gift. This time don’t let like or be near it. Jeremy made his presence felt with the touchdown with 26 and Shane. Good luck Turkey. Hey I’d next time I’ll have my clubs, this time. Side show won’t be as lucky. Till the next time...

We hope everybody had a great week. Thanks to the Greek Community for another successful Greek Week. Congratulations also go out to all of our sisters that got scholarship awards (Dean’s List) – Kat, Cassie, Amy, Jess, Jill, Shannon, Jen K., Oh, and Janet. Good job girls. Congrats to Liberty on her internship. We would also like to welcome Tanya McGinn, our new Greek advised to the Greek Community.

The Greek Community would like to encourage all underclassmen to find out what Greek life is all about. For girls All Sorority Rush begins Monday and you can sign up in front of Salomon Dining Hall or contact the Greek Life Office X60199 for more information. See what it means to be Greek “Different Letters…One Common Goal”

Our hearts go out to Jen McDonald, of Delta Zeta, and her family. We are all very sorry about your loss.

This weekend one of our brothers Kevin O’Mara, a.k.a. Wista was walking from his friends R.C.’s house through the back streets of Worcester when he witnessed a man stealing a woman’s purse. Wista broke into a full sprint yelling YA. He tackled the bandit and returned the purse to the woman. However while he was wrestling with the perp he was struck in the eye and has a nasty black eye. If you see him please comment on what a good Samaritan he is, and reassure him that his eye looks fine.

So this far this year as the leaves are beginning to fall we continue to have a solid number of pitches that have come down to the floor to get to know everyone and play football for our KT-LZ B team. If you are interested in hanging out or playing on our football team just come down to our floor located on the first floor of hall J. We expect a good season from us as well as from our KTI DELTA A team.

We would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Eric Chorney and John Dane for making the dean’s list. All of us are looking forward to the upcoming paintball outing planned for next weekend:

The Bryant Players
Meegan Korshak

Greetings! Parent’s Weekend play auditions will be held Thursday, September 18 and 19 in the auditorium in the Bryant Center. These auditions are open to anyone. We will be performing two plays during Parent’s Weekend “Country Gothic” and “The Tryingt Place”.

The Bryant Players are always looking for new members, so stop by and check out our meetings. No experience is necessary and we don’t just need actors, we need people with an interest in theater and what goes on behind the scenes can join. Our meetings are held on Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. in room 2A of the Bryant Center.

Good back to everyone trying out for the Parent’s Weekend plays. Hope everyone has a great weekend.

Hey Rugger! I hope your weekend was as good as it should have been. We started off this weekend don’t leave your food in the corner. Once again Redhead and Timothy would like to apologize for eating the women’s nuggets food. Timmy you were not a Solid Gold Dancer Saturday night. Rob we would all like to thank you for saving us a couple of bucks this weekend. A little suggestion for Timmy and Shannon next time you have a fight you might want to clear it in your roommates so you don’t get stabbed. There were Brick sightings this weekend and we found out that his new job does not have dental coverage. Gilley from doors are not found on the roof. Caine gave Timmy a new mental hat from the Junction. Shont’s and Dominos don’t do well together. Anyway let’s start breaking down for the season, it’s going to be a long one.

Welcome back everyone! This is our first article of the year. We are inviting everyone to our first official meeting. Lynn Homr, Bryant Class of ’86 will be speaking Tuesday, September 24 at 4:30 p.m. in room 2A. in the Bryant Center. Lynn will be discussing how an HR internship can lead to a successful career. Free pizza and soda will be served and the members everyone is invited. SHRM would also like to announce that we have Executive Board positions open. If you are in any of Professor Pollard’s classes, we know that you will see us there. You see Tuesday!

SPB
Jeff Hill

Hello again everyone! I hope all is going well with classes, activities, and your social lives. SPB is sponsoring a blood drive on Monday, September 27 in the Bryant Pavilion. Please do all that you can to help by either donating blood or at least one hour of your time. For more information contact the SPB office at x6118. Remember your donation could save a life.

The Student Programming Board has been working hard and has many exciting events scheduled for you this coming week from Bryant weekend there is a Twister coming to campus. Don’t miss one of the summer’s Motion Picture hits with Twister. Film times are Saturday the 21 at 8 p.m., Sunday the 22 at 6:30 and 9:15, and Sunday movie watchers will receive free popcorn and soda. All movies are showing in the Bryant Auditorium.

We kick it off with Homecoming Weekend on Friday the 27 with Mini Golf. Later that day SPB features Argos and the last time the 28 we have comedian David James coming to campus. Don’t miss any of it!

Our weekend events continue on for Monday at 3:45 in the Bryant Center or call us. Have a great week.

Accounting Association
Chad West

There are a multitude of events coming up in the next few weeks, none of which accounting majors should miss out on. Price waterhouse Coopers will be in Bryant at 6:45 on Monday, the 23. Out of all the Big Six firms, they are the only one that has not made a visit last year. Coopers and Lybrand is offering advice about what accounting firms are looking for in terms of qualities, personalities and styles of resumes. This is taking place on Tuesday, the 24 in the Bryant Center. Room 2B at 4:30. Both of these events are critical for partiers and seniors looking to network and see what these firms have to offer. Also on Tuesday, the 24 “Careers in Private Accounting” will be held in Pappas at 3:30. “Careers in Public Accounting” is coming on the following Thursday, October 3rd in Pappas at 3:30. Freshman and sophomores are encouraged to attend. Both of these seminars will offer invaluable insights and advice from recent graduates and accounting professionals in their respective fields. Try to note all of these dates and mark them in your calendar. Keep an eye out for upcoming events and future plans for the Accounting Association. If you missed our first meeting it is still not too late to join. Contact Mike Pilk and President, at 8289.

Hey There! Greek Week was a big success and a lot of fun. Congratulations to all the Greeks who received academic awards at the banquet.

Happy Birthday Pirate! We hope you go swimming like Mena and Julie thanks to KT, Delta and Abby! Chocolate cake.

We were all very excited to see Andrea and Wendy who are Torero's birthday and thank you for bringing another member to the townhouse-Sally. Oh, we thanks for calling! Abbey cleaned. Maggione fell. Paint is new roomnick. Thanks Delta for the concern. Thank you Monte and Dacoz-Fumel! Next week, Beatle Anthology, Bertie and Kendall.

The Greek Community would like to congratulate Acacia members to find out what Greek life is all about. For girls, All Sorority Rush begins Monday, and you can sign up in front of Salmonson Dining Hall or contact the Greek Life Office X619 for more information. Also what it means to be Greek. Welcome back Brothers! I'm sure everyone had a great summer and we're all pretty excited on saving money and have paid it by now (YA RIGHT?). On behalf of my brothers I would like to thank Tri Sig for a great party on Thursday night. I would also like to personally thank Chimp for the new T.V. viewing window in our kitchen. Oh ya, the window still didn't yield a room key! (Cup!?) Hey Fonzie you need to bring us some cookies and don't forget the spatial extension. Guys I love what you've done with Hans's room it's much roomier now. Luca, I don't know about you but I'm really looking forward to meeting CID vising on Friday. It's been too long. Eucy, what gym does your chick box at? MoI'm personally inviting you down to batting practice in our townhouse this weekend. Party on.

As if last week's verbal torture didn't get you, they actually were worse enough (too pun intended) to let me needle through another column. A sign of desperation if nothing else. You know what they say though, it always darkest before it turns pitch black.

WJMF is still on the lookout for fresh talent or any talent for that matter to fill time slots and to reach the new Macaroni night course. (If there was ever a dance we just never needed to know that we've found it) Anyone interested can come to our next meeting which is now (of now) will be held on Tuesday, September 24 at 6:00 p.m. in room 28 of the Bryant Center. Just in case it's there, we are all located upstairs in the MAC center. Students of any year and even faculty are invited to get trained and annoy people in a weekly 2 hour time slot. Trust me, I've been annoying people for a little over 3 years and it's a timeless tradition.

Upcoming shows to do when your bored: Thursday Sept. 26 sees the Violent Femmes "Blister in the Sun!" hit Lupo's, while Poe "(Angry Johnny)" hits on Sepemb 25. Short on cash, the Spin Doctors play a free show at the Strand on September 25 for all students with a valid college I.D. Even if you lose your ID, the show will only cost you $4.95. How low do these guys feel? Little Miss can't revive their careers. De La Soul and Fishbone play the Strand on October 23. Stay tuned to WJMF 88.7 FM for the chance to win free tickets to shows in Providence. Call X6150 to make a request, get advice on your love life, or talk to Lanya Jackson one on one. Calls only count 99.9 minutes! Children get your parents permission before dialing and before crossing the street. This concludes another broadcast day. Go do your homework or something.

Men’s Soccer takes it to NY Tech

The Men's Soccer team beat NY Tech on Monday 4-2. The team was led by junior forward Mark Sokolski who scored two goals and added one assist. Jared Doney (1 assist) and Mark Gallwitzer each scored once. Freshman Dan Cain earned his first college win allowing only two goals. The Men's team is now 1-2 and will be facing UMass Lowell at home Thursday at 3:30.

Nassaney blazing into season

Darrel Golden

Junior cross country standout Shawn Nassaney started his season with a bang on Saturday by placing sixth at the Bryant Invitational. Nassaney covered the 5 mile course in 29:40. Behind him were freshman Elgin Booth, who took 33rd place with a time of 30:15. Senior Captain Darrel Cook, finished the race in 42nd place with a time of 30:44. Rounding out the top seven were Matt Robuff (48th 31:04), Keith Jenell (59th 31:53), and Brian George (32:47). The Bulldogs finished in 6th place in the overall team competition. Bryant will be in action again on Saturday at St. Anselms. The team would like to thank all who came to the race. Their support was greatly appreciated.
