Career Day at Bryant

Representatives of over 20 career fields were at Bryant yesterday to participate in Career Planning & Placement's annual Career Day. Situated in the upper level of the Rotunda, these representatives were available to speak with students from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Many students took advantage of this opportunity to learn more about the various fields represented. Breaks between classes found the upper level of the Rotunda filled with students, while many waited around during their free time to have a more leisurely talk.

The representatives were very willing to discuss their companies and the fields they were in. Many had pamphlets and forms available as additional information.

Final Tourney of Young Tycoons

The winning undergraduate team of the Tourney of Young Tycoons will complete again Tuesday, April 24, 1979, at Bryant College, against three new teams comprised of Faculty and Administrators, Rhode Island Businessmen, and Graduate students, in the "Tourney of Young, Middle-Life, and Aging Tycoons." The purpose of the competition is to create a simulated business situation.

Each simulation operates for several quarters and for each quarter each team makes eight key decisions which will direct the operations of the company for which they are responsible. All companies produce their own product, and the teams are provided to the teams within minutes. The teams are evaluated by four judges, representative of team membership, on final stock value of the company, and team member interaction. The purpose of this competition is to provide a measure of the decision-making capability of undergraduate and graduate students in relation to those experienced in the process.

The Tourney is under the leadership of Dr. Stanley Shuman, Director of Career Planning and Placement at Bryant College. (List of team participants is attached).

Secretaries Week

Wednesday, April 26, was Secretaries Day. The Secretarial Department coordinated this memorable event for hard-working secretaries by holding a senior seminar, co-chaired by Mrs. Rafferty and Mrs. Tucker.

There was a coffee hour at 9:00 a.m. at which time the senior members of the secretarial program got together for coffee and a panel discussion. The topic of the discussion was "How to Shape Up Before You Ship Out." Margaret Sexton, a progressive nutritionist, spoke on the value of eating properly to maintain weight control. She was very interesting and informative and was followed by Mr. Warrick, Jr., President of Women's Athletics, Mr. Montgomery managing the fitness aspect of the program and introduced such mystery guests as Miss Pelkey complete with her jump rope and Mrs. Bernstein, who is known for her cycling prowess.

Yet another mystery talker was an appearance of Glenda Godfrey, Director of Women's Athletics, and Joel Montgomery, President of the Student Senate, who demonstrated the proper way to exercise.

Close Mandeville spoke about jogging and gave many of us ideas and hope for the future.

No Stereo Yet

Last Friday, the 20th, WMJF radio intended to finalize their transition from transmitting in mono to going stereo. Unfortunately an unforecast problem halted their actions. The problem was that a coil inside the newly purchased used generator was cracked. Thus the generator could not be properly tuned.

A small part (valued at less than $100) was specially ordered and is expected to arrive the "last week of the semester...if that." The station will be on during the coming sessions, therefore the transition is not in vain.

Next year Kevin McKenna, Program Director for WMJF, does not foresee any technical difficulties.

Law Day On the Way

The Fifth Annual Law Day to be sponsored by Bryant College on Monday, April 30, 1979, will feature a panel discussion on "Our Changing Rights" to highlight the effects of recent laws and court decisions on society, particularly where they concern the handcrafted human rights, rape, probation and parole, and family disputes. There also will be display booths with representatives from more than ten local, state, and federal agencies involved in law enforcement.

Law Day is sponsored by the Bryant College Department of Legal Studies. Dr. Herbert McLaughlin, chairman, the Law Enforcement Association of Bryant, Steven K. Schlamp '80, president; and Lawrence L. McCarthy, speaker to Edward B. Apte, associate professor of legal studies and a program coordinator, the public is cordially invited to attend.

Bryant College offers a four-year degree program in law enforcement, taught by professionals who have actual experience in state and federal criminal justice administration. In-depth instruction is provided in such varied subjects as probation and parole administration, police juvenile methods, narcotics law enforcement, public and private security, and police public relations; classroom learning is reinforced by internships and frequent visits with corrections and law enforcement professionals.

Bryant also offers its law enforcement students a sound foundation in general business management and the liberal arts, in the belief that such breadth of knowledge is essential to administrators and public servants in the criminal justice field.

The Bryant College Division offers the degree of bachelor of science in law enforcement and a two-year program leading to the degree of associate in science in law enforcement.

To the Editor:

After this weekend’s performance by the Bryant Players, I am inspired to write a recommendation letter. This is a first, I realize and maybe it’ll make The Gazette “World Book of Records”! I’m not blushing!

I think what this great group showed is that solidarity (group togetherness) does NOT in any way mean that we don’t need jackets, hats, T-shirts and other assorted clothing with uniform coding to prove we are “together.”

Off the top of my head, I can think of The Trinity Singers, and the as two groups, similar to ourselves, who are on their way to the top as vital element in the functioning of this school; they are representative of groups of unique personalities. My main purpose in this letter is not to get on the Greeks’ coat (but if the shoe fits...) but to praise and applaud the fine job the Bryant Players did on their spring production.

As to any comments to be made by any “critic” or otherwise, I feel for two reasons that everyone did an excellent job. One of them is that I am never wrong and more seriously, because indeed everyone put their best foot forward.

Restaurant Vindicated

Dear Editor,

It is the purpose of this letter to right an unjust wrong done to a local business.

In response to a letter published in a previous Archway concerning Ron’s Spaghetti House on RR Bt., we feel that the party did not give an objective view and nor a fair evaluation. We strongly object to their earlier Friday evening in spite of the previous article. We were met at the door by the head waitress who recountedly saw us. We were allowed a normal amount of time to make our decision. The waitresses came over and took our order.

We were pretty hungry and between the two of us we ordered Spaghetti (with Veal Parmesan), 4 Quahogs, 2 cups of clam chowder, Delmonico Steak, salad, side orders.

FRANKLY SPEAKING... by philfrank

WE ARE NOT AGAINST NUCLEAR POWER. THE SUN IS A PERFECT NUCLEAR POWER PLANT — BUT WHO WANTS TO LIVE THERE?

I throw everything back in the glove box with disgust and proceed with what is probably the most interesting gathering place for odds and ends: THE PARCEL SHELF. When I bought the car I thought about how handy it would be to have that little shelf over the dashboard radio. Handy indeed! An inventory of that shelf taken would include a box of envelopes, the program for every play I’ve seen or show I’ve gone to, a pencil, trash, and — the glove box. One other thing about parcel shelves is that they collect change. At first, I threw a handful of change to pay tolls, parking fees etc. As I drove along, I threw away more change in there from buying gas and the like. It settles to the bottom, so I never notice it. But it does add up. Right now I have roughly enough change in there to fill the parcel shelf to pay off the national debt.

Having gone on a shopping spree with my newly found bonanza, I have seen the locker. A mentioned earlier, my hatchback, seashells, so I must be careful of what I keep in there. All things considered, it’s a blanket, spare tire, my overnight bag (for “back — outs”) and a couple of old library books that the library discarded, but were too big

Peare Celebration

To commemorate the centenary of the birth of Patrick Pearse, Irish poet, educationist, and patriot, a celebration will be held on April 29 at 2:00 p.m. in the auditorium of Bryant College, Smithfield. The celebration will premiere a new, original multimedia event, "May 3, 1916—Patrick Pearse," which combines song, dance, and movement to retell the last hours of Pearse’s life. It will be accompanied by a press conference, readings, and a screening of a documentary film. In addition, Dr. Norma Jenkus, an expert on modern Irish literature, will present a lecture on the work of Patrick Pearse. Also, on the same program, Dr. Kenneth Nilsen of Harvard University will read from a text which actor John Marril, of the Rhode Island Shakespeare Company, will use as a basis for his performance of the last few hours of Pearse’s life.

This event is open to the public and is sponsored by the Peare Commemorative Committee. "May 3, 1916" depicts both Pearse’s heroism and humanism. His vulnerability and sacrificial act are captured by the combination of public utterance, private letters, and affective movement. For any further information, please contact Dr. Norma Jenkus, Department of English, Bryant College; her telephone number is (401) 351-3000, Ext. 220.

Fast Lane

Have you thought about going to a law school when you graduate? If so, what did you think about? It’s a big decision, one that you should think about carefully. There are many options and programs, so it’s important to do your research and make the right choice. I was able to attend one of the Pre-Law Orientation sessions which were held at my law school. They were very helpful, as I was able to connect with other students and learn about different programs. It was a great experience, and I highly recommend attending a Pre-Law Orientation session if you’re considering law school.

AND MUCH MORE
By Jayne Morris
Archway Staff Writer

For the sophisticated Bryanston- ians, three short plays were performed last weekend by the Bryant Players. The company included in "Prais, No Flowers": David Beter, Dale Gladstein, Donna Scott, Ted Stevens, Karry Cable, Lois Therrien, Cindy Kelle, Vinny Cavarretta, Ann Caciclo, in "Shelly Kramen, Esther Dionne, and Janet DeGruytot in "The Great Susan Cable," Lois Therrien, Cindy Kolte, Jimmy Prairae, and Mr. Pat Keeley as the narrator.

In the first play, "Prais, No Flowers," two women, a Jewish lady (Leno Grossman portrayed by Dale Gladstein) and a young girl (Esther Rubel portrayed by Donna Scott), a victim of suicide, were laying in state as a funeral parlor, while their ghosts had an amusing, reflective conversation about their past lives. Mrs. Grossman says, "After this, anything is possible," and Esther comments, "I feel like a fat girl who just lost 100 pounds." They discuss being a great samurai and Native American warriors as visitors enter. At first, they try not to have regrets, but alas. As Esther says, "If only he hadn't brought those damn flowers," referring to her lover.

For the most part the play was good. It seemed that the performers needed a little time to feel comfortable in their roles, especially Donna Scott (Esther Rubel) who could have expressed her lines with more feeling and projected more depth into the character. It was sometimes difficult to distinguish where she was sad or happy. Dale Gladstein was excellent as Mrs. Grossman. Her accent added the necessary authenticity to the character and her presentation of the amusing lines was necessary to break up the seriousness of the play. The other performers were adequate. Considering they had small parts, it was difficult to lend any depth to the characters.

In the second play, "Spud," the situation becomes apparent very quickly. Rick Larabee (Shelly Kramen), a "swinging bachelor" has managed to impregnate two women, a young girl (Ginny Adams portrayed by Janet Dionne) and an older woman (Emily Garretson portrayed by Janet DeGruytot. To avenge his careless and inconsiderate attitude, the women decide to castrate him. In order to convince Shelly Kramen attempts to win back Janet Dionne's affection in "Spud." Rick that this is right, the girls elicit the opinion of his mother. She surprisingly agrees with their decision and the curtain falls.

The conversation in this play was very comical: for instance, Rick comments, "I don't get it." "Not any more you won't," retorts Emily. Both girls did a good job of portraying their respective characters. Shelly Kramer, however, seemed very shallow, and her accent was very stereotyped. He could have shown a little more compassion at their pregnancy and must bear when he was hounded. He also stumbled on the lines a few times which made his portrayal even less effective.

The third play, "Dreamer," written by Janet Dionne portrayed by Dale Grossman portrayed by Donna Scott, portrayed the opinion of her mother. She surprisingly agrees with their decision and the curtain falls.

The Newport College-Salve Regina announces the establishment of the first Master of Science degree in Health Services Administration in southeastern New England. Our program will begin on June 26th. All degree candidates will divide their course work between four required foundation courses, five required core courses and three electives, totaling thirty-six credit hours.
Mountaineering, as all but the chronically misinformed know, is the skill, the science and the art of drinking Busch Beer. It begins by heading for the mountains (i.e., a quick jaunt to your favorite package emporium or watering hole) and ends by downing the mountains (i.e., slow slaking swallows of the brew that is Busch).

However, between those two points lies a vast area of personal peccadilloes sometimes called technique and sometimes called methodology (depending on your major). Hence, this ad. Sipping vs. chugging. Both have their merits, of course. But generally speaking, except for cases of extreme thirst or a leaking glass, sipping is the more prudent practice for serious, sustained mountaineering.

Next, the proper position. Some swear by sitting; others by standing. Suffice it to say that the most successful mountaineers are flexible, so you'll find both sitters and standers. (Except on New Year's Eve, when it's almost impossible to find a sitter.) Which brings us to additives. Occasionally a neophyte will sprinkle salt in his Busch; others mix in tomato juice; and a few on the radical fringe will even add egg. While these manipulations can't be prohibited (this is, after all, a free country), they are frowned upon. Please be advised that purity is a virtue, and the natural refreshment of Busch is best uncompromised.

Finally, there's the issue of containers. Good taste dictates a glass be used. But bad planning sometimes prevents that. If you find yourself forced to drink from the can, you should minimize this breach of etiquette. Be formal. Simply let your little finger stick out stiffly (see Fig. 4). Happy Mountaineering!

Don't just reach for a beer. Head for the mountains.

Monday afternoon the Women's softball team defeated Assumption College 9-4. The team showed a fine defensive effort in their second victory of the season.
Adrobin in the fourth inning highlighted the game. Nancy Berardi fielded the ball at third, to Chico, Guamack at second, who relayed it to Nancy Pike at first base. Pike singled, two sacrificers, and two RBIs to help the team to victory.

New Intramural Program

We would like to inform the Bryant community about an individual who has devoted much of his time and effort towards the betterment of the intramural program at Bryant. Most people do not realize the importance of intramurals. Intramural sports provide to both men and women an opportunity for exercise and to meet new friends.
The man who is responsible for the intramural program is Mr. Robert Reale. In this his first year of directing the program, there has been a great improvement in every aspect of the intramurals. With respect to the limited resources available (equipment, size of facilities, etc.) and other obstacles (high school playoffs, conflict scheduling around varsity sports), we feel the intramural program was directed with the highest degree of excellence. All year long directed with the highest degree of excellence. All year long directed by Mr. Reale has been at the disposal of the students in relation to questions and problems concerning intramural activities. As Director of Intramurals he has been present to supervise the actual games. Mr. Reale has put hours and hours of his time to student related activities—it is truly rewarding (nice) to know that someone (administration) has a genuine interest in student activities.

We would like to personally thank Mr. Reale for his participation recent Schleiss Intramural Olympics. Mr. Reale was a member of the official staff of the Olympics and assisted our Swimmers' men and women's intramural teams in preparation for the strenuous competition. Without his help we would not have achieved the honors of the second best intramural team in New England. Eitel first, RIC second.
In conclusion, we would like to publicly thank Mr. Reale for his enthusiasm and devotion in Bryant's intramural program.
