BRYANT COLLEGE, PROVIDENCE, RHODE ISLAND

Friday, October 9, 1970

Thela Chi

Holding

Campus Follies

Tonight is the night everyone has been waiting for as it marks the 2nd Greek weekend and the first weekend to be held at the Biltmore Hotel in downtown Providence.

Last night in the gym, the Greeks presented their "Broadway" skits and tonight the top three skits will be awarded trophies during the dance.

The dance will feature "The Bastille," a top Rhode Island group, who will entertain from 8:30 p.m. until 11 p.m.

Tickets are on sale in the student union all day today, and will be available at the door. The cost is just $4.00 dollars per couple.

JoPlin and Hendricks - Superstars Never Die

The Rock music scene has lost two of its superstars in the last three weeks. The first to go was Jimi Hendricks, 27, who was found dead in an apartment in London on September 18. The other was Janis Joplin, also 27, who was found this past Sunday in Hollywood.

Hendricks learned to play guitar without any lessons or instruction. He played a standard, right-handed guitar upside down without reversing the strings. He learned to play this unique way, and he learned to play well. He was also a drummer. He'd play his guitar in every possible position and with anything available, including his teeth. Jimi began his too-short career playing in the Village. Later he went to England and formed the "Experience." Instead of兰 changed owners and was not available for the opening. Bryant has set all of its home games opponent's field school support and be successful and will host Rhode College Monday at 8:00. If you just walk on Gano Street OUR team in so will be their first home game.

Bryant's "Princeton Plan"

It has been said by some students that the College is not cooperating with student wishes by refusing to close the College for one or two weeks this fall so that students might participate in political campaigns.

Dr. Lebowitz was interviewed in regard to the comment of these students. During the interview he explained what has been done to encourage students to participate in a relevant manner in the state and national elections this semester. During the summation, Dr. Lebowitz went on to tell class members telling them of a new elective which was to provide for student participation in political activities. Students were encouraged to campaign for electives, without penalty, to the course in Practical Politics. The course was designed to provide for lectures and discussions in contemporary politics and, at the same time, to give credit for 3 semester hours. The students in the program were to have off the week before the election so that they could devote their full time to participating in the campaign. The students were then to report on their work. Prior to the election, candidates of the major and minor parties for the offices of U.S. Senator, U.S. Congress, Governor, and Lt. Governor were to be invited to our campus to speak to the students in this course.

Approximately forty students signed up for Practical Politics. They are now participating in the campaign and the candidates will be appearing on the campus.

Students not enrolled in the course, who would like to campaign for any candidates, should see Dr. Lebowitz. He has a list of candidates who are eagerly seeking Bryant students to participate in their campaigns. He will help them get in touch with the proper people for their candidate's campaign.

Bryant Hit By Vandalism

X marks the spot where a color television was stolen in the Gardner Hall Lounge. The theft was discovered by a student who reported the theft to the police.

Theft of the television was the latest in a series of thefts that have occurred on campus.

The latest theft occurred in the Gardner Hall Lounge on October 6 when a color television was stolen.

In the last week Bryant College has been hit by an onslaught of petty and some not-so-petty acts of vandalism, theft, and general nuisance and inconvenience. Many of the girls' dormitories including Eliot and Bryant Halls have reported thefts of small amounts of money and valuables. The girls' dormitories were not alone in this problem. Parks House, a men's dormitory, has reported similar thefts and Curtis Hall has reported the theft of a watch and money.

Both stars relied heavily on drugs, although Hendricks is said to have been encouraged to vomit while unconscious. Joplin

(Continued on Page 6)
Massachusetts vs. Melvin Laird  The War's Day in Court

(Anthony D'Amato is an associate professor of law at Northwestern University. This article, which was originally printed in the Pacific Coast Law Review: Los Angeles, grew out of D'Amato's experience as a consultant to the President and Supreme Court in the litigation over the war in Southeast Asia. The article is a draft of the complaint for the case of Massachusetts v. Laird.)

Has any established constitution law—except a bunch of guys who teach constitutional law in law schools and who are decidedly under 50 years of age—called for the case of Massachusetts v. Laird.)

And that is the establishment view. It pervades the newspapers and periodicals, and accounts for the remarkable lack of attention given to Massachusetts' effort. As a result, the whole matter may be in a fire, a dramatic shock if Massachusetts actually wins in the Supreme Court in October or November. No one will have expected it—except a bunch of guys who teach constitutional law in law schools and who are decidedly under 50 years of age.

Let's start with a little bit of constitutional law. Is the Vietnam war unconstitutional because it has not been declared by Congress? The answer is plain. There is really no doubt about this, as well as several other constitutional questions. And the President, if he believed in the Constitution, could have asked Congress for its explicit consent, or a resolution of declaration of war, to his gradually escalating commitment in Southeast Asia.

Other people mention all the Constitutional appropriates for getting into the Vietnam war. I am not here to approve Congress's action. Clearly, if it were, then there would be no need for the Constitutional provision that the President, with the exception of those cases where the President is the proper party to bring the case. But Massachusetts? When the world could not be destroyed in thirty minutes. If there is any force in this observation, it certainly does not apply to Vietnam. As the Massachusetts complaint filed in the Supreme Court points out, there was at least ten years' time, between 1964 and 1966, during which the President, if he believed in the Constitution, could have asked Congress for its explicit consent, or a resolution of declaration of war, to his gradually escalating commitment in Southeast Asia.

President Nixon has changed his earlier views on the subject. He has come to believe that the Vietnam war is constitutional; rather, he said that he inherited the problem from preceding administrations. Moreover, he did not argue that the President, in conducting an undeclared war, became the proper party to bring the case. But Massachusetts? When the world could not be destroyed in thirty minutes. If there is any force in this observation, it certainly does not apply to Vietnam. As the Massachusetts complaint filed in the Supreme Court points out, there was at least ten years' time, between 1964 and 1966, during which the President, if he believed in the Constitution, could have asked Congress for its explicit consent, or a resolution of declaration of war, to his gradually escalating commitment in Southeast Asia.

President Nixon has changed his earlier views on the subject. He has come to believe that the Vietnam war is constitutional; rather, he said that he inherited the problem from preceding administrations. Moreover, he did not argue that the President, in conducting an undeclared war, became the proper party to bring the case. But Massachusetts? When the world could not be destroyed in thirty minutes. If there is any force in this observation, it certainly does not apply to Vietnam. As the Massachusetts complaint filed in the Supreme Court points out, there was at least ten years' time, between 1964 and 1966, during which the President, if he believed in the Constitution, could have asked Congress for its explicit consent, or a resolution of declaration of war, to his gradually escalating commitment in Southeast Asia.

But maybe the over-50 group will prove to be right for a reason that has nothing to do with law; namely, that the Supreme Court has taken the view that the President can make war the same way the President can make war. This is something over which the young lawyers working on the Massachusetts case have no control. Yet the situations entailed in the Presidents' actions are not the same as those the President could not make war.

And Justice Stewart did dissent from the denial of certiorari that I have mentioned, saying in effect that the Court had no business deciding this issue. And then there are several other things on the President's side: the War Crimes Act of 1950, which is interpreted to require that high officials be held with veterans and responsibility for War Crimes. Broad should be placed where it should be.

But it is not the precise doctrine of "political questions" that the constitutional experts have in mind when they dismiss the Massachusetts action as unconstitutionality that the Massachusetts complaint is based on. The Court should not risk its stature by deciding a case that is fraught with political overtones. The Vietnam War has gone on for years. It has strained the economy of a number of countries, and political; in short, it has become a sacred cow. This mental bent reaches the level of moral certitude when the constitutionality of the Vietnam War is questioned. Even if Massachusetts tries to bring a legal case, it is one thing for a draft resister to argue that the war he is going to die in is unconstitutional. Ever since President Eisenhower decided to make war a political question, and even if the Supreme Court refuses to grant certiorari to review his case, the President cannot be made responsible for his actions.

What business is it of Massachusetts if thousands of her young men are killed? After all, a 1928 case said, in passing, that a constitutional law is to the national government, and so to the states, that the citizen must look for protection. And this old case has taken on an aura of infallibility over the years.

Besides all this, Massachusetts has taken on an investment in the 1962 cases, is inclined to re-read it and ask: how can a citizen realistically be required to look to the federal government for protection? Is the President, if he was the proper party to bring the case Massachusetts? The Constitution does not provide for anything like this. It is for the President to declare war, but also on whether Massachusetts has standing to sue the Secretary of Defense for conducting an illegal and unconstitutional war? About the only action that could result from such an approach would be to get a remand.

But the 50 over-50 group will prove to be right for a reason that has nothing to do with law; namely, that the Supreme Court has taken the view that the President can make war the same way the President can make war. This is something over which the young lawyers working on the Massachusetts case have no control. Yet the situations entailed in the Presidents' actions are not the same as those the President could not make war.

And Justice Stewart did dissent from the denial of certiorari that I have mentioned, saying in effect that the Court had no business deciding this issue. And then there are several other things on the President's side: the War Crimes Act of 1950, which is interpreted to require that high officials be held with veterans and responsibility for War Crimes. Broad should be placed where it should be.

And Justice Stewart did dissent from the denial of certiorari that I have mentioned, saying in effect that the Court had no business deciding this issue. And then there are several other things on the President's side: the War Crimes Act of 1950, which is interpreted to require that high officials be held with veterans and responsibility for War Crimes. Broad should be placed where it should be.
Reconciliation-Report of President's Commission on Campus Unrest

WASHINGTON—(CBS)—The bulk of the report of the President's Commission on Campus Unrest was released Saturday including a series of recommendations to the President, the government, law enforcement officials, universities, and students.

The sections dealing specifically with the killings at Kent State and Jackson State, which prompted President Nixon to appoint the nine-member commission headed by former Pennsylvania Governor William Scranton, had a release date four days after the main report. That main report will strongly condemn the Kent and Jackson State killings as completely unjustified.

The strongest theme of the report was reconciliation, between the students who protest and the Establishment which seeks to limit that protest. The primary responsibility for the reconciliation of what the Commission calls "a crisis of violence and a crisis of understanding" is placed on Nixon. The report calls upon the President to exert "moral leadership to bring the country together again."

Five Conditions Contributing to Campus Unrest

*The pressing problems of American society, particularly the war in Southeast Asia and the conditions of minority groups.
*The changing status and attitudes of youth in America.
*The distinctive character of the American university during the postwar period.
*The act of expression of student protest to public opinion and an escalating spiral of violence.
*Broad evolutionary changes occurring in the culture and structure of modern Western society.

The report also contained longer chapters on a history of student protest in the '60s, the causes of student protest, the black student movement, the university's response to campus disorder, the law enforcement response, university reform, and the government.

The report attributes blame to each of the groups involved in the violence. The recommendations made in the report, admits Scranton, won't solve campus unrest. The goal is to bring about a reconciliation between disputing factions in the country.

"We feel very strongly that divisions in the nation between blacks and whites, old against young, are of such proportion at this time that we have a matter of great urgency before us," said Scranton, at a news conference Saturday, "if something isn't done soon, we'll wind up with anarchy or repression, and in America the choices would be repression."

Such strong statements were not present in the report and recommendations were largely vague and general, and unpecific in terms of their desired implementation.

Report Recommendations to Nixon

convey his understanding of the seriousness of the divisions in this country to its citizens, particularly to students;
use the moral authority of his office to convince all Americans of the need to confront candidly the serious and continuing problems of the nation;
deliberate to address reafirming the nation's and his administration's commitment to realizing the long-desired birthright of Black Americans;
urge members of his Administration and American of all parties and persuasions to resist the temptation to place the divisions within the country for partisan political gain;
deal with students and young people generally as constituents, citizens;
renew the national commitment to full social justice, and to be aware of increasing charges of repression;
and his personal support and assistance to American universities to accomplish the changes and reforms suggested in this report;
*call a series of national meetings designed to foster understanding among those who are now divided."

The report also recommended that:

*"state and local officials . . . make plans for handling campus disorders in full cooperation with one another and with the universities, including the establishment of guidelines";
*"the government increase financial support of higher education at minority black schools";
*"public officials should not punish universities for the actions of some of its members";
*"the Department of Defense establish some alternative to ROTC";
*"the government should sponsor more financial aid for students, particularly to recruit black, Mexican-American, Puerto Rican and other minority groups";
*"prompt enactment of strict laws over the sale, transfer, and possession of explosives, at the state and federal level."

Recommendations For Law Enforcement Officials

better trained and equipped policemen control campus firms, justly, and humanely;
joint contingency plans between forces;
the use of shoulder weapons like shotguns and rifles should be prohibited from campus use except in the case of sniper fire or family participation;
the National Guard receive more training in riot control; that they receive riot equipment;

Recommendations To Universities

*"promulgate a code making clear the limits of permissible conduct and announce in advance what measures it is willing to employ in response to impermissible conduct";
*"when criminal violence occurs on the campus university as an institution, promptly call for the assistance of law enforcement agencies";
*"respond internally to disruptive but non-violent conduct";
*"make its teaching programs, degree structure, and transfer and leave policies more flexible and more varied in order to enhance the quality and voluntariness of university study";
"not permit "faculty members who engage or lead disruptive conduct" to remain on campus;
"universities as institutions must remain politically neutral . . . university and faculty members should reduce their outside service commitments;
*"large universities should take steps to centralize or reorganize";
*"university governing systems should be reformed to include student and faculty participation";
"students should be reminded that language that of violence and dissent is inimical to all the values that university stands for.""students ought to "learn from our nation's past experiences, to recognize the humanity of those with whom they disagree, to disarm their opponents with reason and understanding";
*"students should not expect their own views, even if held with great moral intensity, automatically and immediately to determine national policy";
*"students should not try to "learn from our nation's past experience, to recognize the humanity of those with whom they disagree, to maintain their respect for the rule of law."

CONTINUED (FROM PAGE 2)

Vietnamese peasants," said Robert Johnson, an ex-Army Captain, a West Point graduate, and a Vietnam veteran. "If we applied the Nuremberg Principles in Vietnam, Westmoreland, Nixon, Johnson would be hanging—plus key people in corporations, foundations, government, and universities."

The Detroit site was chosen because of the proximity to Canada, which will be necessary for the testimony of Vietnamese veterans, information which is not allowed in the United States. The hearings will be linked by electronic transmissions.

"Almost every veteran has witnessed atrocities," said Johnson. "But many times they don't even realize that what they're doing is a war crime, because it's an accepted part of their jobs."

Johnson witnessed the burning and destruction of villages, and has given testimony at that effect at a number of local-level war crimes commissions that the national Committee has helped organize in nine cities since March.

Veterans who have testified they would like to give can call or write the committee. Vietnam Veterans Investigation, 156 Fifth Avenue, Suite 1003, New York, N.Y. 10011, or phone 2784. They will also be glad to give any assistance in setting up community committees against the war. And speakers and local committees can be set up on campuses by contacting the national committee.

Bryan Cinema
October 14
in the Gym

The glamour and greatness... The speed and spectacle!

NETO CLOYD HINES

GrandPrix

A SUPER TRANSPARENCY METALLIC

Page 8

The Archway

Page 3

War Crimes

(Continued from Page 2)
Letters:

Freedom Not License

To have final exams or not to have final exams: that was the question. Is the question now? Although the problem of finals has been solved, we cannot forget how the solution came about. We have the students' and the faculty's approval. It is important to remember that it was the students who took the initiative to abolish finals. For those unfortunate few who want to retain it, we will have to say: Your limited ability in the world will not be finals. If you need to limit the activities of females to those Platonic-appetitive whims, between those peaks of passion, there just might be some other elements of life that excite and stimulate.

I suggest that you broaden your "invitation to action," Mr. Krishman. The enlightened woman is ready to accept the responsibilities of strengthening family life and of contributing to the enhancement of all life. If a woman chooses to express herself beyond the roles prescribed in society, there is no need to abandon the distinction between the sexes in order to correct the inequalities. Viva la difference!

Aless de Tocqueville (Democracy in America) has said, "If I were asked . . . to what singular prosperity and growing strength of that people ought mainly to be attributed, I should reply: To the superiority of their women."

Mr. Krishman, thank you for your observation. I support you in your belief that girls are needed on this campus . . . but please don't limit the dimensions of our lives; men over 30, women over 30, and large feel the same way about "little boys." But if there's no need to limit the activities of females to those Platonic-appetitive whims, between those peaks of passion, there just might be some other elements of life that excite and stimulate.

I suggest that you broaden your "invitation to action," Mr. Krishman. The enlightened woman is ready to accept the responsibilities of strengthening family life and of contributing to the enhancement of all life. If a woman chooses to express herself beyond the roles prescribed in society, there is no need to abandon the distinction between the sexes in order to correct the inequalities. Viva la difference!

Clarissa M. H. Patterson
Bryant Faculty

Response To Krishman's Critique

Your column spotlighted a naked truth—the need for women . . . IN ALL ENDEAVORS AND IN ALL ASPECTS OF SOCIETY. "Thank Heaven for little girls . . . without them, what would little boys do?" So goes the tune, the sentiments of which are known to girls watchers the world over. And I'm sure the female population by large feels the same way about "little boys." But there's no need to limit the activities of females to those Platonic-appetitive whims. Between those peaks of passion, there just might be some other elements of life that excite and stimulate.

I suggest that you broaden your "invitation to action," Mr. Krishman. The enlightened woman is ready to accept the responsibilities of strengthening family life and of contributing to the enhancement of all life. If a woman chooses to express herself beyond the roles prescribed in society, there is no need to abandon the distinction between the sexes in order to correct the inequalities. Viva la difference!

Aless de Tocqueville (Democracy in America) has said, "If I were asked . . . to what singular prosperity and growing strength of that people ought mainly to be attributed, I should reply: To the superiority of their women."

So, Mr. Krishman, thank you for your observation. I support you in your belief that girls are needed on this campus . . . but please don't limit the dimensions of our vision. We want to be partners all the way.

Larry Spizman

DeSimone Supporters

Many faculty members here at Bryant College have indicated an interest in Herb DeSimone's election as Governor of Rhode Island.

I would like to help form a student / staff / faculty committee to actively participate in the election of Herb to the Governorship of our State.

As Governor, Herb will give us the kind of decisive leadership, action, and firm results we need in our State. His cooperative planning ability, outstanding leadership qualities, and his commitment to the welfare of all Rhode Islanders will get our State moving again!

Clarissa M. H. Patterson
Bryant Faculty

ELECTIONS SHOW

APATHY PERSONIFIED

Last weeks' elections for class officers certainly held true to the tradition of apathy at Bryant College. Apathy seems to be the social disease of our time. In an era when so much depends upon personal involvement, we find that fewer and fewer people are willing to get involved. And yet, almost everyone complains.

Apathy at Bryant is nothing new nor is it new at most other colleges. But the degree of apathy this year has to be unparalleled. At a meeting of the dorm council Dean Kurtz stated that our students are apathetic. When I heard this I smiled and said, "We could have told him that." I first began to realize just how bad the situation was getting when I realized that few people were coming into the office to sign up to work on the newspaper. Upon inquiring, I discovered that the Archway was not the only organization that was having this problem. Most paramount among the others was the Student Senate which in the past has attracted many willing and able people. It seems that it too is faced with a shortage of willing and able people this year. This could prove to be a very crucial situation with the new restructuring.

However, to return to the subject of the elections last week, this year as every year, each class had to fill four positions. But there were not enough candidates to fill these positions. The senior class had one official candidate for president and one official candidate for vice-president. Two last-minute candidates entered the race for president as write-in's and one write-in for treasurer and one for secretary. The apathy did not end there.

Out of a possible senior total class vote of 316, only 64 votes were cast. This gives a percentage figure of only 20.5. The Junior Class had 120 ballots cast out of a possible 391, while the sophomores cast 145 ballots out of a possible 437. These give them percentages of 31.5 and 33.7 respectively.

What more can be said? Surely this is a sorry showing for a generation of Americans who keep saying that they want to be involved. This is a sorry showing for a generation of Americans that accuses its elders of nothing but rhetoric.

At the top of the pre-election issue of the Archway, we ran the quote, "Democracy is not a spectator sport." This was not a coincidence, nor was it done in jest. But rather, we were attempting to emphasize a point.

Larry Spizman

The Library will be open
Monday, October 12
8 A.M. - 10:30 P.M.

INVESTMENT CLUB MEETING
THURSDAY
October 15—5:00 P.M.
Board of Trustees' Room
Faculty House

SENIOR CLASS MEETING
TUESDAY, OCTOBER 13
11 A.M. IN THE GYM

Smithfield

Progress Committee on September 30.

Phase I—Situation

Part I—The water, electrical power, and gas situation of one side of the village is satisfactory.

Part II—5% complete, Part II—basically 80% of the work is very good.

Phase II—completed.

Phase III—completed. New work and progress—19% as of August 9.

Phase IV—This project will not be completed by October 9.

Phase V—completed.

Phase VIII—entirely complete. "Contrary to popular belief, all Bids were open and award shall be made.

Phases VIII—XII. Progress are not negotiable.

Page 4
Insights by Alan Kluger

In accordance with the changing tempo of today, and in anticipating the changes of tomorrow, it has become the role of the present administration to relate present administrative structure at Bryant College. Since Bryant College is primarily a business school, I beg you to consider what Board of Trustees is the Board of Directors... they are a bunch of employees and we, the students, are the raw material. The College processes these raw materials as it can, as the new as the machinery of society, the business community. I do not imply that the world that awaits us should be rejected, but rather that we should have a say in determining the final product and its distribution.

From a legal standpoint, the College is run by a group of men called the Board of Trustees. While I cannot dispute their qualifications in the field of Administration, I sincerely question their ability to deal with the "generation gap," since they must irrationally and have almost no contact with the student body. They must therefore work on the assumption that what is good for business is therefore good for Bryant. Instances in the past have proved this reasoning to be both unsound and unworkable. Therefore, it is imperative that an alternative be found.

As they exist now, the recognized college committees have representatives from all three segments of this college. They have formed a somewhat workable unit that has resulted in much needed changes and implementations. We now must go one step further and have these segments represented on the Board of Trustees who determine the policies. There are many benefits to this addition. It would serve as a rewarding learning process in the area of Administrative responsibilities. It would bring to the surface issues that are peculiar to the students and frequently go unnoticed by the administration. Student representation on the Board of Trustees would help open the new changed lines of communication and most important would be a monumental move in unification at Bryant College.

This is a most important one to be dealt with at this time. For when we move to our new home in Smithfield, the legal representatives of Bryant College will be the Board of Trustees. This means that all legal issues such as contracts, charters, and state recognition will be handled by Board of Trustees approval. Needless to say, student representation on this omnipotent body is greatly needed. If we, the students, are to become a truly active voice in determining academic and community policies, then real representation is necessary. This real representation can be achieved when students are given voting powers on the Board of Trustees. Only then can we begin to work in an era of change, hoping to bring Bryant College together in solidarity and purpose.

Superstars (Continued from Page 1)

was also a heavy drinker, known to down a quart of Southern Comfort during a performance. Like Olate, Redding, Buddy Holly, and Sam Cooke, Hendricks and Joplín will not be easily or quickly forgotten. Superstars need to die. They just leave the physical world for a better gip.

Janns Joplín

Dorm Council Establishes Planning Committee

During a recent Dormitory Council meeting, a planning committee for the new campus in Smithfield was elected. The committee's main purpose is to aid the architects, Mr. Hillier and Mr. Blauth, and the administration in determining what the students want on the new campus, especially pertaining to facilities and regulations in the dormitories.

The five members of the committee are Danny Ahearn, Jim Burns, Mary Carroll, Stew Cohen, and Sue Williams. These students met with the architects on October 1, 1970. The committee was told what has already been planned, and the committee members were given the opportunity to ask questions relating to the new campus.

There are still some minor or decisions to be made about the facilities, and the committee members have made a few. They talk about bamboo poles, window treatments, and community gardens.

But the North Vietnamese will tell us nothing, and will make our lives miserable.

For the facilities at home, there is no need to worry about, because he's dead. The war is being won. There is nothing, except the occasional Jerry truck. Maybe you can change this. By writing to your congressmen who represent the President of North Vietnam.

And not to mention the names of prisoners, allow them to write to their families, and the Red Cross can improve the chances to improve proper medical treatment and living conditions.

“Cold Turkey” Not A Thanksgiving Treat

When most people refer to "narcotics" this group of drugs, what they are talking about. Opiates are used medically as pain killers. On the street they cause pain for the user and society in general.

Opium

a white powder from the urine seeds of the poppy plant. Opium can be eaten, but it is usually smoked in an opium pipe.

Morphine

is extracted from opium. It is one of the strongest medically used pain killers, and is strongly addictive.

Heroin

this strongly addictive drug is prepared from morphine. Outlawed even from medical use, heroin is the most commonly used drug among addicts. It can be sniffed, injected under the skin, or into a vein. Street slang for heroin includes "scag," "smack," "H," or "Junk.

“On the Nod” or nodding. The state produced by opiates. Like being pruned on the edge of sleep.

Maiming

or "to shoot up"—injecting a drug into a vein

Track

sears on the skin left from the repeated injection of opiates.

Overdose

cause of over 200 teen age deaths in New York City last year. Death is caused by the part of the brain that controls breathing becomes paralyzed.

Addiction

depends on a drug, so that when the drug is taken repeatedly, and stopped suddenly, physical withdrawal occurs.

“A Hit”

street slang for an injection of drugs.

Works

the apparatus for injecting a drug. May include a needle, and a bottle cap or spoon for dissolving the powdered drug.

A Fix

one injection of opiates, usually heroin.

Junk

heroin, so named because it is never pure as sold on the street.

Junkie

an opiate addict.

Skin Popping

to inject a drug under the skin.

A Bag

packet of drugs, or a single dose of an opiate.

Amount of the drug in the bag is denoted by price, a nicked bag ($5), a dime bag ($10).

“Cold Turkey” describes the withdrawal that occurs after repeated opiate use. The addict can become irritable, fitful, perspiration increases, there is a lack of appetite. The main problem in discontinuing opiate use is not getting off the drug, it's staying off.

Dormitory Council Establishes Planning Committee

During a recent Dormitory Council meeting, a planning committee for the new campus in Smithfield was elected. The committee's main purpose is to aid the architects, Mr. Hillier and Mr. Blauth, and the administration in determining what the students want on the new campus, especially pertaining to facilities and regulations in the dormitories.

The five members of the committee are Danny Ahearn, Jim Burns, Mary Carroll, Stew Cohen, and Sue Williams. These students met with the architects on October 1, 1970. The committee was told what has already been planned, and the committee members were given the opportunity to ask questions relating to the new campus.

There are still some minor or decisions to be made about the facilities, and the committee members have made a few. They talk about bamboo poles, window treatments, and community gardens.

But the North Vietnamese will tell us nothing, and will make our lives miserable.

For the facilities at home, there is no need to worry about, because he's dead. The war is being won. There is nothing, except the occasional Jerry truck. Maybe you can change this. By writing to your congressmen who represent the President of North Vietnam.

And not to mention the names of prisoners, allow them to write to their families, and the Red Cross can improve the chances to improve proper medical treatment and living conditions.

“Cold Turkey” Not A Thanksgiving Treat

When most people refer to "narcotics" this group of drugs, what they are talking about. Opiates are used medically as pain killers. On the street they cause pain for the user and society in general.

Opium

a white powder from the urine seeds of the poppy plant. Opium can be eaten, but it is usually smoked in an opium pipe.

Morphine

is extracted from opium. It is one of the strongest medically used pain killers, and is strongly addictive.

Heroin

this strongly addictive drug is prepared from morphine. Outlawed even from medical use, heroin is the most commonly used drug among addicts. It can be sniffed, injected under the skin, or into a vein. Street slang for heroin includes "scag," "smack," "H," or "Junk.

“On the Nod” or nodding. The state produced by opiates. Like being pruned on the edge of sleep.

Maiming

or "to shoot up"—injecting a drug into a vein

Track

sears on the skin left from the repeated injection of opiates.

Overdose

cause of over 200 teen age deaths in New York City last year. Death is caused by the part of the brain that controls breathing becomes paralyzed.

Addiction

depends on a drug, so that when the drug is taken repeatedly, and stopped suddenly, physical withdrawal occurs.

“A Hit”

street slang for an injection of drugs.

Works

the apparatus for injecting a drug. May include a needle, and a bottle cap or spoon for dissolving the powdered drug.

A Fix

one injection of opiates, usually heroin.

Junk

heroin, so named because it is never pure as sold on the street.

Junkie

an opiate addict.

Skin Popping

to inject a drug under the skin.

A Bag

packet of drugs, or a single dose of an opiate.

Amount of the drug in the bag is denoted by price, a nicked bag ($5), a dime bag ($10).

“Cold Turkey” describes the withdrawal that occurs after repeated opiate use. The addict can become irritable, fitful, perspiration increases, there is a lack of appetite. The main problem in discontinuing opiate use is not getting off the drug, it's staying off.

Send a letter to North Vietnam.

Right now hundreds of Americans are being held captive in North Vietnam. They are prisoners have made bad. They talk about bamboo poles, window treatments, and community gardens.

But the North Vietnamese will tell us nothing, and will make our lives miserable.

For the facilities at home, there is no need to worry about, because he's dead. The war is being won. There is nothing, except the occasional Jerry truck. Maybe you can change this. By writing to your congressmen who represent the President of North Vietnam.

And not to mention the names of prisoners, allow them to write to their families, and the Red Cross can improve the chances to improve proper medical treatment and living conditions.

RECRUITING STATEMENT

Recruiting that he is bound by the 1962 Geneva Convention which his country signed. And to the bilateral resolution.

North Vietnamese leaders can rest assured that they are talking about American public opinion. And if they think they they can get anything by howling to us, they're out of luck. This is an American interrogrator that's classified. Maybe it will make millions. So we've got to write more. All of us.

Write a letter tonight. And send it to the Office of the President, Democratic Republi of North Vietnam, Hanoi, North Vietnam.

It look you a quarter. But it might save a life.

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS +

Maybe they'll open it.
DELTA OMEGA. The first ADD R E S BRYANT'S be clinner-spe aker meetin g of Monday ev ning, October ant College will take place composed of business ad­ in Seekonk, Rhode I - and Governor Frank Licht will on politics in busines . The Delta Omega Society is a the College.

the plans to addres s the group professiona l organization Meeting of this organiza­ Missouri. Dr. Harry Bryant , will represent this F. Evarts, President of CIATION. The 53d Annual WILLE' N EXC ER­ conservative meeting on Mon­ 7-9; 1970, at the Chase ­ the organization will be held October 14, 1970, in the Student Activities Au­ er, Robert G. Cooper , the Account­ence IN CONNECTICUT. Dr. Charl es Goulston. "Pro­ cut. Discussion at this day­ al institutions in this area have been invited to attend. Accompanying Dr. Goul­ from Bryant College will be Richard J. Fontaine and Michael Filippelli, both Assistant Professors of Acc­ at Bryant.

other plans also include a dinner meeting on Mon­ day evening, October 26, 1970, in the Faculty Dining Room. The meeting will include a full course dinner, beer, and a special guest speaker. November plans will take in several Association meet­ings with faculty speakers, a "get-together" with the senior chapter of the AMA, a field trip to an advertising agency, and another dinner meeting.

New members are invited to attend the meeting on Wednesday evening, October 14, 1970, and sign up to take advantage of all the benefits of belonging to the American Marketing Association.

The officers of the club are

Jay Duffy—President
Barry O'Brian—Vice-President
Mike Lareau—Treasurer
Sharon Outwin—Secretary
Mr. George Bates and Mr. Paul McIlhlap will share responsibilities for Faculty Advisors.

Kimco Tape

Head Cleaners — Captain Cleaners — Caddies — Blank Tapes for Cassettes and

8 Tracks

Dist. Distributor Price
See

STEWART COHEN

301 Gardner Hall

A. M. A. Semester Highlights

The Bryant College Chapter of the American Market­eting Association launched its Fall activities Monday evening, September 21, with its "Semester Sign-up." The organis­ational meeting proved worthwhile as 16 new members were received.

The first meeting of the semester was held on Sept­ember 28. At that meeting 9 new members were signed up, bringing the club mem­bership to 25 people. Plans for dinner meetings were made, and Mr. George Bates discussed careers in Market­ing.

Future plans of the club include an Association meeting on Wednesday evening, October 14, 1970, in the Student Activities Auditorium. Mr. Steve Soulou, a new addition to the Bryant Marketing Department, will provide some insights into the related area of Ad­vertising and Marketing. It is requested that the $5.00 membership and banquet fee be paid in full by October 14, so the final mem­bership list and banquet ar­rangements can be made.

Bryant College Chess Club

ORGANIZATIONAL MEETING

Wednesday, October 14th at 3:15 P. M.
Room 2-A of South Hall
Under Direction of Dr. Piperopoulos

ALL ARE WELCOME
Nader Blasts “Corporate Responsibility”

By Steve Sidorak

When Ralph Nader speaks, people listen, and General Motors takes cover. Such was the case last Monday night at Rhode Island College, where Mr. Nader spoke before an estimated 600 persons.

His topic was “Corporate Responsibility,” which covered such diverse things as auto makers and the supposedly cancer-causing formaldehyde used in maraschino cherries. His speech lasted about 50 minutes, and was followed by a question-and-answer session. Prior to his talk, he held a press conference.

Nader spoke without notes, giving facts, figures, and examples. Some of these examples caused reactions of shock, while others, which he spoke of in a caustic manner, brought on chuckles.

In referring to some aspects of the food industry, Mr. Nader told of watered-down fruit juices, fat laced frankfurters, and foul-tasting butter. He translated it—into the weight. Nader said, “Nader’s put so much fat for air and water.” At the new conference, he was asked about a recent report on the Shell No-Post Strip. He said that the report disposed of the fact that the strip insecticide contained some of the same ingredients as the nerve gas that the army buried at sea recently. Nader also told about a fault of the tobacco industry.

“The reconstituted tobacco process, which picks up stems and other waste products, and with the addition of inorganic additives such as wool, glass fibers, and diamonaceous earth, and even asbestos...posing very potentially critical hazards to smokers of not just cigarettes, but of cigars and cigarillos.”

Unsafe cars, pollution of water and air, and unhealthy working conditions were also included as an example of corporate chicanery. Nader said that the auto industry’s major source of income is from the sale of replacement parts, such as fenders and bumpers, which crumble on the slightest impact. Businesses have more than enough money to pay for advertising which adds to consumer’s confusion, but they can’t seem to afford antipollution devices. And coal mining company doctors, who had to tell employees that the cough and breathing difficulty they had was due to asthma inhaled coal dust.

A hormone pill to control the ill effects of the jet travel syndrome may soon be as common as antihistamines, says the June SCIENCE DIGEST. The pill, being developed by TWA and Syntax, a pharmaceutical house, will push our 24-hour cycle, called the “biological clock,” backwards or forwards depending on whether one zone we’re headed for. Hormones from the pituitary gland are believed to drive the biological clock.

A horse with blinders is restricted from seeing things going on around him. The Greek body (no direct reference to the sororities) has remained with their eyes closed to the things around them. Last year their was an attempt to ratify the situation, by the creation of two major weekends rather than the previous nine weekend system. The hope, of course, was that the Greeks would be able to gather themselves together (Leonidas and how many Spartans?) and united attain success. Truly, an admirable idea; however, failure, rather than success, was the resultant. Rather than giving the two weekend idea a further chance, it was disbanded and these Greeks reverted back to the nine weekend setup. The general activities of these weekends, you may be wondering—Queen crowning (teency hoopin’), talent competition in everything from cooking to pig chasin’ (how bout that, you porkers out there), and other archaic and outdated games (?) The reason—selfishness, interest in merely their own (unattainable) goals.

In order for fraternities and sororities to continue to exist if to exist might be considered to live, they must work together, for alone they shall surely fail. Recently, one of the campus fraternities, Delta Sigma Phi, held its “weekend,” the last of this year’s season. The success of this weekend was important not only to DSP themselves, as a matter of pride, but also to the other groups, which have only just begun. The hope, of course, was that the Greeks would be able to gather themselves together (Leonidas and how many Spartans?) and united attain success. Truly, an admirable idea; however, failure, rather than success, was the resultant. Rather than giving the two weekend idea a further chance, it was disbanded and these Greeks reverted back to the nine weekend setup. The general activities of these weekends, you may be wondering—Queen crowning (teency hoopin’), talent competition in everything from cooking to pig chasin’ (how bout that, you porkers out there), and other archaic and outdated games (?) The reason—selfishness, interest in merely their own (unattainable) goals.

A horse with blinders is restricted from seeing things going on around him. The Greek body (no direct reference to the sororities) has remained with their eyes closed to the things around them. Last year their was an attempt to ratify the situation, by the creation of two major weekends rather than the previous nine weekend system. The hope, of course, was that the Greeks would be able to gather themselves together (Leonidas and how many Spartans?) and united attain success. Truly, an admirable idea; however, failure, rather than success, was the resultant. Rather than giving the two weekend idea a further chance, it was disbanded and these Greeks reverted back to the nine weekend setup. The general activities of these weekends, you may be wondering—Queen crowning (teency hoopin’), talent competition in everything from cooking to pig chasin’ (how bout that, you porkers out there), and other archaic and outdated games (?) The reason—selfishness, interest in merely their own (unattainable) goals.

A horse with blinders is restricted from seeing things going on around him. The Greek body (no direct reference to the sororities) has remained with their eyes closed to the things around them. Last year their was an attempt to ratify the situation, by the creation of two major weekends rather than the previous nine weekend system. The hope, of course, was that the Greeks would be able to gather themselves together (Leonidas and how many Spartans?) and united attain success. Truly, an admirable idea; however, failure, rather than success, was the resultant. Rather than giving the two weekend idea a further chance, it was disbanded and these Greeks reverted back to the nine weekend setup. The general activities of these weekends, you may be wondering—Queen crownin...
Pro Football Forecast
By Steve Diamond

For some strange reason I felt that last week would be so odd that it would call for no predictions. To call this past week the week of ups and downs would be an understatement. Actually the sports page was quite full, and my predictions were cut out. I did pick a few ups last week: Miami over Oakland, St. Louis over Dallas, Denver over Kansas City, and New Orleans over the Giants. Even after watching Buffalo beat the Jets, I couldn't believe it. Who would think that the golden foot of Jim Turner would turn into a club foot. San Francisco also fell short of victory by missing a 4-yard field goal with minutes to play.

This week I will find the surroundings of Shoe stadium a welcomed place as they will defeat the strong Miami Dolphins. Pittsburgh, with their No. 1 draft choice Terry Bradshaw, should put Buffalo back where they belong as they pick up their first victory over the home crowd. They should chalk up their first victory after playing a strong game against Packer. - ../

In the West, the LA Rams will find themselves on top of the Pack. After playing a strong game against Miami, the Rams will be looking to push their winning streak to three games. With the acquisition of Homer Jones, the Browns have obtained the best deep threat in pro ball. Bill Nelson will definitely make things tough for the Chiefs. Johnny Unitas will find people coming from all over with the hopes of winning their first game against the Colts, who just got by Boston, will find the going tough against the Atlanta Falcons. Their running game has been short of glory as the Bengals learned their lesson against St. Louis last week.

The Giants are faced with a must game. In front of a hometown crowd they should chalk up their first victory after watching Buffalo beat the Jets, I couldn't believe it. The Giants have obtained the best deep threat in pro ball. Bill Nelson will definitely make things tough for the Chiefs. Johnny Unitas will find people coming from all over with the hopes of winning their first game against the Colts, who just got by Boston, will find the going tough against the Atlanta Falcons. Their running game has been short of glory as the Bengals learned their lesson against St. Louis last week.

The rival game between the 4gers and the Rams will be a battle of two teams that have hotly contested the NFC West for years. With the acquisition of Homer Jones, the Browns have obtained the best deep threat in pro ball. Bill Nelson will definitely make things tough for the Chiefs. Johnny Unitas will find people coming from all over with the hopes of winning their first game against the Colts, who just got by Boston, will find the going tough against the Atlanta Falcons. Their running game has been short of glory as the Bengals learned their lesson against St. Louis last week.

A Day At The America's Cup
By Bob Burwell

Being somewhat of an avid sports fan I became aware over the summer of Bryant's proximity to one of the world's oldest and greatest sporting events - the America's Cup Challenge. For most people the event itself is something for a few weeks out of the season and an excuse to get out of the office. As I inquired as to the best place to watch the race, "A boat" came the reply. I asked if there wasn't someplace on the shore that I could watch and was told to find the American boat. I found it and watched as the American boat was beaten by the Australian boat. Now it was time to watch the race and see the American boat start. It was a beautiful day and the boat was exactly at the start line. The race was on.

Arriving at the scene of the race, I found that the star had been completed by the navigator of the American boat, Intrepid, and had to be airlifted out of the water. The American boat's navigator was found and the race was about to start. It was a beautiful day and the boat was exactly at the start line. The race was on.

As I watched into the NEWPORT NAVY NAVAL RECREATION BUILDING, I couldn't help but remark to myself about this good fortune on such little money. Reaching home with only $20.00 in my pocket I had had a pretty good day. My glory was short lived as I walked through the bus station lobby towards the men's room hoping to find that it cost money.

Bryant Soccer
By Steve Diamond

The Indians hosted Rhode Island College Monday night, October 5, in an intercollegiate soccer game. The first period was scoreless and with a fine defensive play by Don Dunn, RIC broke the ice with a goal by Tiddino in the second period. Tiddino then made a repeat performance to make the score 2-0. Gary Clark put Bryant on the score board with a goal set up by Billy Marshall. RIC then put the icing on the cake with two more goals to make it 4-1. J. J. Lynch scored a penalty kick, completely fooled RIC goalie to give Bryant the final goal. Bryant lost the game 5-2 under the lights of old post war glory.

X-Country Continues
By Bob Burwell

The Bryant Cross Country Team hosted a triangular meet with Clark University and New Haven College on the new five-mile course at the Tupper Cam­ pus this past Saturday. Once again Roy Lapidus finished first, establishing a course record of 28:12, and leading Bryant to a winning score of 29 to 45 for Clark and 48 for New Haven. Following right behind Roy were Bob Arm­ strong, third; Tom Sargent; Tom Taylor, fifth in 31:33; Don Macaulay, eighth in 34:29; and Irving Segell, twelfth in 35:07.

The team will travel to Harrington tomorrow for dual meet and then to SMU next Wednesday for another dual meet. The team's defense of the SNEC championship, which they won last year, is looking strong. Prospects for a successful defense of the SNEC title were greatly enhanced this week with the addition of Charlie Giugliemetti, Steve Rosvold, and Bill Robin to the team roster.