Ex-Addict Speaks to Capacity Crowd

Marathon House is different from other treatment centers in that the staff is really concerned and tries not to be unreasonable. For example, he stated that the reason he left California was that they placed demands on him that were unreasonable, "like taking showers regularly."

To get involved in Marathon House Mr. Germano says to call, and show that you are sincere. "You may have to call several times during a week" to show you are concerned or you can come down and make your self useful.

Mr. Germano gave two reasons for people's use of drugs: 1) People who use drugs do so because of their anesthetic qualities, for pain relief, and for a sense of well-being, and 2) those who use drugs to socialize or be socially acceptable. In other words "for the same reason people drink martinis at cocktail parties." He also says that he can't believe people don't know what they're getting into when they start using drugs. He feels that the main reason people gave was that "it was a rush that was even before anyone was scared about the evils of drugs."

Mr. Germano stated that he was against pot or any drug. "First of all its illegal," and secondly "people shouldn't need some sort of tool to socialize." He concluded by saying that people shouldn't be afraid to vote against pot or any drugs. The debate was over.

Drop Your 2-S and Avoid the Draft

Any man who is now deferred, or who is in the lottery selection pool for induction if he were not deferred, now has a method to take advantage of his high lottery number and use it to escape the draft now.

Under an advisory memorandum sent by National Selective Service Director Curtis Tarr to all local draft boards recently, such men may voluntarily relinquish their deferments and enter the 1-A pool. Prior to this time, this matter had been open to debate, and draft boards were supposed to make no recommendations in their deferments as long as they continued to qualify for deferment.

SystemSpeakers are quite confident that no registrant whose number is higher than 156 will be called this year, unless there is a declaration of war or a national emergency which requires massive mobilization. At the end of the year, those men whose names have not been reached by their local boards and who are classified 1-A, 1-D, or 1-O are moved to a second priority pool. Men have not been called from this second priority pool.

Dining Hall Specialty A Success

As part of A.R.A.'s efforts to provide students with special meals occasionally, this past week they brought a live rock group, The Blue Jays, to the dining hall. The students seemed to enjoy the music and the atmosphere created by the band.

Kent Defense Fund Institute

KENT, Ohio (CPS)—A total of $3,000 has been collected so far for the legal defense of the 25 students and faculty members indicted by a special Ohio grand jury investigation. Nine of the 25 still remain to be arrested. The money, collected during the first week following the indictments, wasfunneled through two organizations that were immediately set up. They have since merged into one fund. The Kent Legal Defense Fund, which is run by the Kent Peaceful Defense Fund created by members of the Youth International Party, is still receiving donations through

"Help Wanted—Nice People" is the way an ad for the lodging industry might be headlined.

Success in the innkeeping business is not dependent on the ability of one particular skill for, according to Herbert C. Blum, president of the American Hotel and Motel Association, "for our industry has enough different skills generally to go on by itself that there is room for all kinds of skills. The one real requirement for success is a pleasant disposition—a feeling of warmth toward other people."

The typical modern hotel or large motel is not simply a lodging place but rather a complex organization where employees perform a range of $20,000 yearly, and many hotel and motel managers are eager to train and hold on to good people.

Kent State Student President Seeks Student Involvement

KENT, Ohio (CP)—Craig Morgan, president of the student government at the State University (Oct. 21) before assembled students.

"I would like to address myself briefly to the nation as a whole. Not to those students and faculty members who already agree with us, but to those students who are apprehensive about the concerns expressed. It is understood here that a college education means to you. This opportunity may seem too precious for you to jeopardize by becoming involved with what appears to be extraneous to your studies.

Awarded Scholarship

The brothers of Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity of Bryant College, Dr. Harry R. Reardon Jr., '56, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reardon of 6 Oakhead Court, Hamilton, New York, and Peter Runila, '62, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Runila of 147 Midwood Road, Paramus, New Jersey, were recently the recipients of the award, which is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Denzer of Rombout Road, Pleasant Valley, New York. He was presented with a scholarship, character and campus participation.

The award is given in memory of two Phi Kappa Tau brothers killed in action in Vietnam—Richard Reardon, '66, and Mrs. Gerard Denzer, of Midwood Road, Paramus, New Jersey. The brothers of Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity, as well as the forty active members of the group, were on hand for the presentation. Mr. Richard G. Estensen, Director of Phi Sig Theta, and Mr. Kenneth W. Cedergren, Director of Alumni Affairs at Bryant, were on hand to make the presentation.

Specially invited guests included Dr. Harry R. Reardon Jr., of Bryant College, Dr. Harry F. Evarts; Mr. Fred C. Kenyon, Director of Financial Aid at the College and former President of the Bryant Alumni Association; Mr. Peter Runila, current President of Phi Sigma Theta, Phi Sig Theta; Mr. Kenneth W. Cedergren, Director of Alumni Affairs at Bryant; Mr. William C. Smith, Vice President for Student Affairs at the College; and the three faculty advisors to the fraternity, Cornyllis J. McAuliffe, Assistant Professor of Marketing; and Stewart C. Yorks, Associate Professor of Psychology.

ASK THE ARCHWAY

Rumor has it that the college is planning to phase out the Secretarial Studies program. The Administration replies that the rumor is false.

Q. Why has the number of girls at Bryant declined this year?

A. Simply I because the college is receiving more applications as many applications as it has in the past from co-eds. There are many changes for this: 1) many girls are at

Krishman's Critique

Irony Maximus

It is said, that there once lived an evil king in a land far, far away. The king had murdered his own father and had married his sister in order to obtain the crown. The king held an iron hand (statin quid flip come fust serve) which had meshed a steel group over the kingdom. The king was known as "Koke, ruler of the land."

It came to pass, that one evening, a group of young gladiators gathered together in an underground cavern. The purpose of this meeting—to plot the overthrow of the evil king and liberate the enslaved populace. "Ferrous, not, of his iron hand—but, lead (7b) us beware of his metal some followers. Remember his onslaught of warriors, the iron pigs (coppers-Cu later) who may mix to any level of chicanery to deceive. Truly the fate of the land depended upon the success of these seven gladiators. These unanny warriors were to battle up the kingdom and by a carbonation of those other rebels in jail already and the people they held loyal to them—they would surely be able to defeat the power of the mighty King Koke.

As the time for battle drew near, the gladiators attempted to gain the aid of the church. But, alas, the Pope (Sigcola) refused to aid in the shake-up. "The church can not aid a revolution," he said. "It is neither revolution against another cause which, merely because it permits the restrictions of certain facets of life, should be classified as unlawful. Just as this is true, so be it that to control birth is to control life." The gladiators were forced to shoot "Pope Ferrous (Fe) not, spoke the 7, "for we shall still fulminated like ye royal pancake." Unbeknownst to the 7, the king's pigs had discovered their underground, and the king broadcast over the land of his copper's discovery. Though he was a bit funny, he remained flat, calm. The gladiators were taken and hung from the trees they had once been, and the glasses had not been invented. The King declared (in reference to the gladiators) "7 up, I am, and Koke, still on top. And so it was, or was it, for was it not Achilles (heel that he was) who had a tendon no—no, it was a ligament—or was he, or was he.

Let Me Be Perish

They are as they try to be—never being what they need—just what they want.

To feel a part is their life ambition—

To be together is to walk alone.

Each is as blank as the next—Mind filled with void.

Your mind always flying—

To walk as to crawl.

To fly in the sky like a bird—

With no mind.

Your mind always flying—

Beneath the clouds—

Each other's eyelids—

Your eyes are closed.

Confusion is you and you are—he'll show you—you dummy—

you really don't know all.

You walk around with your stone head in the sky—

but the bug is really smart—yourself—

He really knows how to fly—

How does he do it—

who's the boss of the mirth—

He will be able to teach you to walk on the face of the earth.

Dear Mr. Monroe:

After reading your reply to Mr. Gruccio's letter in the Archway last week, we have come up with a few points of interest.

In your reply you stated: "Our primary concern is objective coverage of the news and as many of the events of the campus as possible."

We feel that you have blown this statement out of proportion in recent issues of the Archway. It is our opinion that lately more line space is being dedicated to off-campus "news," as you call it, than to coverage of events on campus.

Before you restate the fact that you are understaffed, it seems to us, the Archway, had gotten rid of most of the Greek columns your staff would have had sixteen more members on it to help you with campus coverage. Maybe it is because you are married, Mr. Monroe, but you must realize that the Greek organization sponsor a majority of the "events on our campus" which you stated was one of the most important subjects for coverage by the Archway. You questioned Mr. Gruccio's ability to interpret student opinion concerning the content of the Archway, We would like to know what you have done to determine this "divisive information." We think that the Archway should be able to conduct some type of survey as to what the Bryant student readers wants to see in his newspaper.

Sincerely,

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to reply to Steve Diamond's "Sports Editorial" that appeared in last week's Archway.

Although an entertaining fairy-tale, the editorial lacked in factual content. First, Mr. Diamond stated that protests of unchecked L.D. were filed two days later. The protests were filed before the votes were counted, a reversion of the original vote in the other offices but because no protest was filed for any office except President. Thirdly, Bill Street, Doug Hazlett, and I wish to make it clear that Mr. Bulkin concerning the complaints of the other candidates. When the Executive Council met to discuss the revote, we assumed Mr. Bulkin was aware of the situation.

Why does Mr. Diamond assume that Mike Bulkin faced "obvious defeat?" Just because other candidates pulled together to attract more votes does not mean that Mike Bulkin was bound to lose. Nothing prevented Mike Bulkin from attempting to swing more votes to his side by using the same methods employed by his opponents.

To simply state that this revote was "an obvious power struggle between the higher echelons of our student government" is an absolutely asinine observation. Mr. Diamond knew that Doug Hazlett was in charge of the Freshman election, yet he never once approached Doug or myself to discuss his feelings on this matter. How can anyone make heavy statements like this without hearing all sides of the issue? Anyone who has who the power struggle was for has the right to express his view in a public newspaper can not stand on the sidelines and observe only one side of an issue... the side he wants to see.

Thank you for this opportunity to straighten out the facts.

Yours sincerely,

Reuben Abraham

Insights by Alan Kiger

The irony of the Black Panthers and other militant black groups is that though doomed to fail insofar as their own avowed goals are concerned, they will in the end achieve some of the moderate goals for which less pressing civil rights groups have unsuccessfully been fighting throughout the past decade.

They will fail in their own program because, as the stated rhetoric of their recent pronouncements in Philadelphia suggests, they are hopelessly out of touch with political realities in America. They decry, and rightly, their treatment at the hands of the police, but continue to behave as if in ignorance of the full capacity for violence which the police in America possess. Their strategy of confrontation, unless it does in fact legitimate self-defense or not, flies in the face of the enormous preponderance of armed police forces and the will to use them—which the police and the National Guard have more than adequately proved they enjoy.

America May Be Headed for a Revolution

Of course, America may be headed for a revolution. As Kent State, Jackson and Vice President Spiro Agnew’s words have any meaning, it surely must be that kind of revolution, if and when it comes, will not come from the left. Rather, judging from the current tough measures being adopted by Federal, state and local authorities in America and the high toll which the police, in one form or another, have already had upon the leadership of the Black Panther party, it is safe to assume that the Panthers will be the targets of these alternative courses of action, inflicted by police gunfire, jail and forced exile, or respectable existence devoid of revolutionary pretensions.

The former may destroy the Panthers, and the latter, redundant; both spell the same fate as far as the current radical movement in America is concerned.

Nevertheless, as they travel this road to extinction, the Panthers are performing a service to the black community which the one million civil rights groups such as the N.A.A.C.P. never quite managed or even attempted. They have, in a very short time, the Panthers and similar militant groups, actually forced the States to recognize that black people, who have never been regarded as such, are people something even the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., has all his abilities and devotion, never succeeded in selling them: a sense of pride in their own race and heritage.

Sense of Pride Through Emotional Appeals

What does it matter that this sense of pride has sometimes been generated through emotional appeals, not an oversimplified and glorified image of Africa, or even through the conscious cultivation of black racism? (The Bible, the color purple, etc.) If, however, there has been no effort made to restore to the black people they are not proud for centuries, and in the welding of the races, and the Panthers have changed the relationship upon which white discrimination was founded.

Whereas this relationship formerly was one of contempt by whites for blacks, the Black Panther commitment to direct action and guns and violence in defense of the black people's interests is the black race's first move in so short a time it has been possible to restore to the black people they are not proud for centuries, and in the welding of the races, and the Panthers have changed the relationship upon which white discrimination was founded.

Most of these efforts at the improvement of the self-image of black people in America stem from fear of violence rather than any genuine commitment to civil rights. To the extent that in the eyes of white Americans black violence has become associated, rightly or wrongly, with the Panthers, the moderate goals of the civil rights groups will be served by the extreme tactics of the Black Panthers.

And if it is ironic that the Black Panthers should perpetrate violence or even encourage it, and if the whole series of events leading to the demise of the Panthers is tragic, to say the least, that more than a century after Emancipation America still needs groups such as the Panthers to prod her into granting her black citizens their constitutional rights.

TAE EPSILON FRA­TERNITY was founded in 1929 by Dr. Gardner Jacobs. The chapter at Temple University, founded in 1952, is the last active TAE chapter in the Southeastern United States. TAE was founded for the purpose of promoting good fellowship, brotherhood, and welfare among its members.

Athletically, we have won the bowling trophy for the last two semesters. Temple's bowling team was second in the 1980 basketball season. We are 3-2 in football this season with three games left. Next Wednesday we play TKE at Bryant Field.

Socially speaking, we are very proud of our accomplishments. TE took home the first place trophy in the "Campus Pollies" with our presentation of "Breakfast at Tiffany's". Last year we placed second in the Fall Weekend. Our Spring Weekend candidate was unable to execute our plans, as he had recently taken honors as "Mr. Temple." TAE EPSILON sponsors an annual weekend here at Bryant College. This year's weekend will be held later on in the school year and proves to be one of the most enjoyable weekends of the year.

Each fraternity member, when running for a candidate to be judged on talent, question and response to various topics. This weekend's weekend is followed by a dance at a major hotel on the streets.

Many community drives have also been in TAE's history. One of the major roles that the brothers have taken part in is the Campus Police Pollies. ### For New Majors

The new spring for the new majors continues last spring as the increased offerings in management and finance, including concentrations in management degree of bachelor of business administration, and management degree of bachelor of business administration, etc...
Pro Football Forecast

By Steve Diamond

This past week wasn’t much to talk about, so let’s not. I am although very pleased at the number of people who criticized my picks and my winning percentage. As many people know I am not a professional handicapper, but rather a sports writer, and my main objective is to get people to read my column.

This week the predictions were subject to a six-man board with me as the final decision maker. The scores have been added to give the gambler an idea of the point spread. My six assistants were Dave Tatele (who cast a lone vote for the Redkams), Steve Manesco, John Duda, Fred Wisbrun, Glenn McLeod, and Howie Dornfield.

Here are the predictions for this Sunday’s games:

- New York Giants over Dallas 24-21
- St. Louis over Boston 35-10
- Jets over Pittsburgh 17-10
- Buffalo over Cincinnati 17-14
- Los Angeles over Atlanta 35-21
- Oakland over Cleveland 24-17
- Sandiego over Denver 20-14
- Detroit over New Orleans 27-13
- Kansas City over Houston 30-10
- Miami over Philadelphia 21-7
- San Francisco over Chicago 31-24
- Minnesota over Washington 27-24
- Green Bay over Baltimore 14-6

Soccer Team Ends Season

The Bryant Soccer team ended their season with a 4-2 win over Roger Williams followed by a 9-0 loss to Quinnipiac.

Ed量子isukey led the scoring with two goals, one each from Hunter, Haskins, and Gray Clark scored the other two goals. Bryant's record is now 5-3.

The Bryant team took third place in the first tournament of the season held at Hamden Lanes in Connecticut. Coach Nelson feels the team should have taken first but because of the new members who had “butterflies” the team settled for third. The experienced Steve Monaco led the squad shooting 600 for the 3-game team event. Freshman John Duda also shot very well for the team finishing with a 568. One year veteran Don Dunning shot a little below his average hitting 608. Steve Diamond began a little off his pace the first 2 games but contributed a 190 game to enable the team to finish with a respectable 2678 series.

Bob Bakerman, all played well. The game ended in a 7-0 victory for the Senators. Quarterback Daughton found Bob in the end zone for the lone touchdown. V.P. Bill Smith and Jeff Gerlach kept the game clean as they both played referee.
