DURHAM, N. H. (CPS)""Of course, if I blew it, all that would happen is that humans would disappear,"" says Dr. Richard Schreiber, Professor of Botany, telling of the possible disadvantages of a biological weapon to control population growth. He thinks the hazard is well worth the risk.

"The way we're going now, we're going to destroy every living form on earth, including us," he concludes.

Schreiber is convinced that the only solution he can see is to release a virus into the air which would make all women sterile by interfering with the reproductive process. At the same time that this was done, he says, an antidote, probably in the form of a shot, would be administered to the entire population. If the virus were released in the same way, he thinks, it would go into the air, which would bring about the ecological death of the planet.

"There is no way to stop it. The only solution he can see is to release a virus into the air, which would make all women sterile by interfering with the reproductive process. At the same time that this was done, he says, an antidote, probably in the form of a shot, would be administered to the entire population. If the virus were released in the same way, he thinks, it would go into the air, which would bring about the ecological death of the planet."

"You don't see how much more efficient this would be," he asks. "For the first time every baby would be a certified baby, and it would have to decide to have a baby, instead of having one by accident."

Schreiber, a molecular biologist, says it is possible to develop a virus which would go into cells and inhibit one part of the female reproductive process. It would do this by preventing the production of an enzyme which would normally produce the next step in the process.

Once this enzyme is formed and injected into the cell, the virus will attach itself to the cell, and it will become a part of the cell's genetic material. This will prevent the cell from producing any further offspring.

Happy Thanksgiving

From The ARCHWAY Staff

Letters:
Dear Sir:
As a former student of Bryant I feel a strange sense of obligation in writing this letter.
Most of us know, or at least we knew, what we wanted when we entered as freshmen. I, for one, came thoroughly disillusioned with the whole concept of a business education up to that point. By the time the drawing of traitorous lottery numbers and the long semester were completed, Bryant College and I was on separate ways. Within the 6 months that have transpired, I have gained a whole new education which you would have missed had I continued at Bryant.
One most important part of that education has come in the last two months while I have been in face contact with people starving, constrained with stomach sores of stress that they can barely eat, and women sitting that is to support 11 children on $400 a month. This is happening in the United States of America, people. As a matter of fact these people live under worse conditions than the world (Parris Island). (The staff of the Marine hospital was not integrated until 2 years ago.)
Stop kidding yourselves—it is not the Dick Nixons and spiro Agnewes that are hurting these people and keeping them the way they are. That's the American business community—that illustrious group of men and women whom most of you will become associated with when you leave those halowened halls. If that little slip of paper saying that you passed salesmanship and advertising.
Please, after reading this letter step back for the afternoon and evening and look at yourself. Turn off your stereo, your radio, and the T.V. Bogotad the frat bar and find a quiet place where you feel comfortable. Now tear down everything you ever believed, feel at your life, your ambition, your relationship with yourself and with others. Criticize yourself to the utmost. If you find yourself comfortable in the position you are in after this— congratulations—you will make a fine businessman and a lousy human individual. If you see yourself only in relation to yourself and not others, you are made of the same fine material as the first chap. If you find yourself questioning yourself in relation to others, you then will be able to help them. If you find yourself sucked into the business community—remember the dependence others have on you and re-examine your motives frequently. Most importantly make sure that this competition does not get the best of you.
As you read my name at the bottom of this letter, many of you may say "Who the-- is he?" There is a reason for that. While I was at Bryant I came in contact with many self-centered, selfish, obnoxious human beings. Just the stuff that makes good businessmen. The more of these people I met, the more I disliked them and the more I limited my acquaintances to a very few. (This was not by the mere fact of the more I was limited, it is not meant to be derogatory in any way). It does mean to me that hopefully I can make one future business leader slightly more aware of his role in relation with the poor and thereby save several poor people from being "screwed" once again by this illusory business community.
Very sincerely,
Lincoln Williams

"I believe in an America where every family can live in a decent home in a decent neighborhood— where children have safe playgrounds, not the streets of slums— where no home is unsafe or unsanitary— where a good doctor and a good hospital are neither too far away nor too expensive— and where the water is pure and the streets are safe at night."

"I believe in human dignity as the source of national humanit y as the source of national action, the human heart as the source of national compassion, and in the human mind as the source of our invention and our ideas."

"I believe in an America where every child is educated, not according to his means or his race, but according to his capacity— where there are no literacy tests for voting that mean anything because there are no illiterate citizens."

"Every time we deny to one of our citizens the right of equality of opportunity before the law, the right to send their children to schools on the basis of equality, so much weaker are we in Africa, Asia and Latin America, where we are a white minority in a colored world."

"Terror is not a new weapon. Throughout history it has been used by those who could not prevail either by persuasion or example. But inevitably they fail, either because men are not afraid to die for a life worth living, or because the terrorists themselves come to realize that free men cannot be frightened by threats and that aggression would meet its own revenge."

"When the youngest child alive today has grown to the cares of manhood, our position in the world will be a long and hazardous one but we are all partners in a great and historic journey."

"It has been suggested that, whether I serve one or two terms in the Presidency, I will find myself at the edge of that period to which we turn for the figures of the future."

Are You Bashful, Shy...
Trinity Square Presents
Son of Man and the Family

Providence, Rhode Island
If a subject is too hot to handle, it should be handled.

This Wednesday, the Trinity Square Repertory Company opens its Market Square Series with the World Premiers of the Adrian Hall-Toby Layton play, SON OF MAN AND THE FAMILY, and the "hot subject" is Charles Manson.

In examining Manson and his "family," the play inevitably deals with the related phenomenon of cults, from the early Christians and hippies and the Jet Set. It also inevitably deals with drugs, which have been widely used by cults throughout history.

Adding to its controversy is the fact that SON OF MAN AND THE FAMILY is one of Project Discovery, the nationally renowned production which has involved thousands of Rhode Island high school students to live theatre. Before seeing the play, some people have already judged it unsuitable for a young audience.

Unfortunately, more high schoolers than will probably ever see SON OF MAN have already died of drug overdoes. The problems portrayed in the play are very much with us and they will not go away more than Hiltri did 30 years ago.

Authors Hall and Taylor feel there is much to be learned by studying the history of Manson and his family. They feel that far from being an isolated freak of nature, this cult which horrifies us is a product of our own society.

SON OF MAN AND THE FAMILY attempts to be frank, unselfconscious, honest and sometimes humorous. It does not glorify violence or drugs or attempt to make Manson out a hero. On the contrary, it uses music that ranges from Gregorian to rock, history from the Bible to yesterday's headlines and every theatrical tool available to put Manson in some sort of meaningful perspective.

The play will run through December 19. For reservations and ticket information concerning SON OF MAN AND THE FAMILY, contact the Trinity Square Repertory Company Box Office, Room A, The Arcade, Providence, R. I. 02903, 231-6012.

V. A. News
A major piece of legislation designed to assist millions of veterans to get homes of their own was signed by President Nixon on September 23 by President Nixon.

One provision witnes an ending date for GI loan benefits for all veterans who served after January 1, 1950, and also restores these benefits indefinitely to 9.9 million Korean Conflict and World War II veterans who did not use them earlier.

Another provision offers a veteran for the first time a program of loans for mobile home purchases—up to $10,000 for a mobile home alone; up to $17,500 if he gets a lot to place it on.

A third authorizes VA to make direct loans in any part of the country to certain seriously disabled veterans who are entitled to specially constructed housing.

Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson also called attention to provisions of the new law:

"Eliminates a VA funding fee of 5% on guaranteed home loans to veterans who served after January 31, 1955.

"Authorizes VA to guarantee loans to refinance existing mortgage loans or other liens on homes owned and occupied by veterans, and allows borrowers to pay lenders any required discounts.

"The guaranty may be for up to $12,500, whichever is less.

"Authorizes VA to guarantee up to $12,500 of loans for veterans to purchase family units in condominium projects insured by the Federal Housing Agency.

"Eliminates January 31, 1976, as the terminal date for V.A.'s direct loan program.

The V.A. has announced that the amendments for total semester hours for full time students (in order for them to receive full benefi can be lowered from 14 to 12.

Imtrural Outlook
By Steven Diamond

Intramural football is flourishing along quite nicely still and here is a rundown of the latest scores.

Ed Beucher starred as the Bags defeated Scott House 9-0. The Bags' rookie quarterback, Scott Barth, connected to Ed Beucher in the end zone for the game's only touchdown in the game. Beucher added three more points to the cause with a field goal. Ron Albach, John Isabah, and Bill Paolino gave the Scott House a quarterback a pretty rough time which helped in keeping them scoreless.

Tav Epsilon Phi defeated Phi Epsilon Pi 10-0. With minutes remaining in the first half Russ Haggar took a forty-yard field goal to put TEP out in front. Then Jeff Kleinman threw a pass to Stan Sovern behind the line of scrimmage and he in turn threw a touchdown pass to Lloyd Goldman.

Gardner Hall defeated Scott House by a score of 7-6. Bob Bakerman threw a touchdown pass to Jay Goldberg and then Russ Haggar added the deciding point by kicking the extra point through the crossbars. Ron Haggar threw a pass to the Scott House for their lone touchdown.

School kids in Kalispell, Montana, are having an invisible plastic film painted on their teeth in an experiment designed to prevent tooth decay. Preliminary tests in New York indicates that the new paint provided better protection after one year on healthy teeth, says the November SCIENCE DIGEST.

Golden Opportunity - Freshmen Vs. Alumni December 1st.

By Steven Diamond

On December 1, 1970 you will have an opportunity to recapture many dramatic moments of Bryant College's previous basketball seasons. The freshmen team has challenged the alumni of the past basketball teams to an exhibition game preceding the regular scheduled varsity game. Here is a list of the alumni who have accepted the invitation to play this game.

From the 1965 graduating class Richard Tellier, from the 67 squad Ted Alsup, Tony DeQuattro, from the 68 team will be the return of the co-captains Ben Billie and Dave Greenblatt, also from that team will be Joe Goddard, John McVeigh, James Squadrito, and Stuart Springer. From last years team returns the quickest hands in the East, George Peckham, Donny Gray who holds the individual record of having the highest field goal percentage in one season. The big man himself, George Yates will be entertaining everyone. Dave De Sousa has also accepted the (Continued on Page 5)
