Spring Concerts Planned

Since its appointment by the Student Senate less than two weeks ago, the Senate's Concert Committee headed by Glenn Schein has been working tirelessly to set up and book concerts for Bryant students.

The committee's original duty was to start planning concerts for next fall. However, there are now two concerts already in the works for this semester. The first will be on Saturday, April 17, starting at 8:00 p.m. This concert will feature recording artist Bert Sommer, whose latest album is called "Berta... Bert Sommer." Also featured on the program will be Bert's piano player Michael Bosan, and the Bryant Coffee House's top drawing act, Debbie and Ron. This concert will be held on the Bryant campus.

Tickets will be available shortly.

A second concert is planned for May 15. It is being planned as an all-day event. According to Glenn, chairman, "Sixteen hours of music, food, fun, and sunshine at Smithfield is our goal!" The committee feels it is too early to announce a line-up of acts but promises that the program will be "first rate!"

Masquers' Presentation Next Week

The Masque's, Bryant's own drama club, will present Molière's "The Imaginary Invalid" on Monday and Tuesday, March 29 and 30, at 8:00 p.m. in the auditorium of the Student Activities Auditorium.

Molière's "The Imaginary Invalid" has an interesting history. This acting version is based on one of the earliest and best translations into English. In 1789, Henry Baker and James Miller translated "Le Malade Imaginaire," calling it "The Hypochondriac." This play was reprinted in 1791 by Robert Urice and was sold by John Gilmour, a Glasgow bookseller. The present acting edition is based on this 1739 translation, arranged and adapted by Kenneth Weston Turner. Molière's play may be interpreted as farce, comedy, satire... depending upon the audience's feeling concerning Molière's approach to the universal problems of sickness and health on the one hand and the medical profession on the other. However, one tended to interpret the play, first and last, Molière was a great entertainer.

His plays were written to be acted and not to gather dust in the archives of libraries and museums.

Members of the Masque's who will be acting in "The Imaginary Invalid" will be Steven Argosy, Gary Zysk, Beverly Kern, Alan Salzenso, Donna Struzio, Sherry Chait, Stephen Bobian, John Onderdonk, and Ned Greenstein. Remember the Dates, "The Imaginary Invalid," March 29 and 30, 8:00 p.m. in the Student Activities Auditorium.

Two New Electives Added To Bryant Curriculum

The curriculum committee has announced the addition of two new electives for the fall semester. The first is P 5, Abnormal Psychology, (3 semester hours), which will be a study of abnormal behavior emphasizing the theories of behaviorism, its epidemiology, symptoms and treatment. Mr. Piperopoulos will be teaching the course which will be held Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday at 1:00 p.m. Pre-requisite for the course is Psychology 1.

The new other course is E 21, Marxism System, (3 semester hours), which will be an examination of the world view espoused by Karl Marx. Marxist philosophy will be given to his theory of history and the state, and to his economics. Marx's relation to his predecessors and to competing systems of thought will be examined and a brief survey of his influence will be attempted. The course will be taught by Mr. Sini and held at 12:00 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Pre-requisite for the course is Economics 2.

No-Knock Law Hard on Doors

WASHINGTON, D.C. (GPS) — A controversial crime act passed by Congress last year has given police in the nation's capital new arrest powers and a new piece of equipment: a four-man, six-foot long, 175-pound battering ram.

The steel ram brutally simulates the no-knock provision of the new D.C. Omnibus Crime Bill, which Congress limited to the District of Columbia, hoping to test its constitutionality at the local, and as a model for state crime laws. This week, the first official no-knock search warrant was used in D.C. in a series of raids on a byzantine gambling ring. Information on the ring was obtained through a twelve-day court authorized warrant, the first of its kind under the new crime law.

The raid was heralded as a success, and reporters were alerted to the police actions even before they occurred in the early morning.

The various provisions of the crime bill, including the no-knock, the wiretap and the detention without bail of "dangerous" persons by local authorities, serve to legally sanction certain police actions currently unconstitutional, which are currently common behavior on most metropolitan police forces.

The new battering ram, if used, has never been tried in a court case, in a court sanction or a no-knock warrant, on several occasions this year in Washington, mostly in connection with alleged marijuana or narcotics cases.

Last week, police barged through a door, without a warrant, into an apartment of a Northeastern neighborhood heroin dealer, and an undercover agent was shot and killed in the battle that followed. Nearly 7000 D.C. police marched in NO-KNOCK
Dear Editor,

The following is a letter sent to the members of the Bryant College Board of Trustees for a concern dealing to Youth Guidance.

A true you, our organization is a volunteer "Big Brother - Big Sister" program working with underprivileged children from Central Falls, Rhode Island. We were founded at Bryant in 1964 and presently have about sixty member students.

We are completely self-supporting and must generate our own funds. These funds are raised from the free-will contributions of students, faculty, and administration. The monies raised thus enable possible a Christmas party, field trips, picnics, and transportation for the youngsters we serve. We have also established a fund to help any small group which would help to alleviate a serious transportation problem.

This year we are hopeful that the members of the Board of Trustees will help us in a contribution of several dollars or more. We shall deeply appreciate your active participation and involvement in this worthwhile undertaking.

Sincerely yours,

Stephan A. Rosenburg
President

Editor's Note:

Many students have criticized our dining hall facilities. The purpose of this article is to justify some of these remarks and to show the directors of ARA food service where they are lacking.

There are a great many small ailments that students have been encountering. When a college has some 7000 boarders and residents and usually in more than fifty table spaces (and these are only brought out on the weekends), then ARA must be criticized.

We have heard several groups of people threatening to boycott the state who are attempting to collect books for the prison library. This Outreach For Education program has not been begun in this area yet. For this reason we would like to join the Campaign should see one in the Archway Office, which is the place where books can be deposited.

Books will be sought throughout this and neighboring communities. If for some reason you are unable to physically help out the inmates and myself would greatly appreciate your donating some of these books at the Archway Office.

Reading is one of the few directions that an inmate can turn for "escape" from the dehumanizing conditions that exist behind the gray walls and barred wire.

Sorry, no Playbys Magazines can be accepted.

Sincerely yours,

Rob E. Rounds

Dear Editor,

In my recent visit to the Adult Correctional Institution (A.C.I.), in Cranston, Rhode Island, it was brought to my attention that the library in the maximum security unit was being used to store books of all types. At the present time only about half of the shelves contain books, and the books that are there are extremely old and ancient.

Many of the inmates find themselves with nothing to do except wander through the corridors where there is much racial tension and the constant threat of violence occasionally imposed, which seems to be quite frequent. The inmates have asked the administration at the prison for more up to date books but nothing has been done thus far. As a result the problem of the administration to provide the library with 'several reading material has forced the inmates to seek "outside" help in obtaining the needed books.

We have written to several groups of people threatening to boycott the state who are attempting to collect books for the prison library. This Outreach For Education program has not been begun in this area yet. Reader's Comments

It appears that President Nixon and his Congress is out to get you. The President's power to dismiss executives or vice-presidents, as he did for J. Borden, is under attack now. The President is asking for an extension of the Roosevelt L.A.W. which we are urging students to copy and return back to us. These letters, as a collective group, will in turn be sent to Senators Stevens and Muskie, the two senators who have the power to make the above revisions.

Senator John C. Stennis, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, and Senator Edmund S. Muskie are pressuring the Congress to make the above revisions as well as the renewal of the law. Reliable Senate sources are indicating that the bill will pass through Congress with little difficulty.

As an alternative to this bill, Senator Mark O. Hatfield has, with co-sponsors, a joint House-Senate Bill — No. 29 — to repeal the Draft Law. Their position is that there is no need to draft reluctant men into a war they do not want to fight.

It is the position of The National and State Legislative Committee of Bryant College to support the Hatfield Bill. It is also our feeling that the situation is so critical and a failure of the "milke" action, we are distributing this information to students and the general community of Bryant College. Included in this material is a simple letter which we are urging students to copy and return back to us. These letters, as a collective group, will in turn be sent to Senators Stevens and Muskie. The purpose of these letters will be to request the renewal of the Draft Law.

Bryant has had only one of over 200 colleges taking this action. Our set goal is 1,000 letters to be mailed by April 1, 1971; therefore immediate action is imperative. We need your support in this action if it is to have any effect upon your elected officials. Remember, with the lowering of the voting age, Congress will be more apt to listen to your positions. Let other colleges, as well as Congress, know that Bryant College has taken a stand and is against this action. Let them know that the students are concerned and not just "well-meaner businessmen." Don't let indifference stand in the way of progress.

To the members of the Board of Trustees,

I would like to thank Dr. William Fishman for his prompt and generous response to our letter. He was the only one of our fifteen trustees who wrote any response.

I can only wonder about the other members. These people are mistaken and respectful in their fields and are unquestionably eligible. It is only when people are unable to send a small donation, they would have sent at least a reply to our appeal.

These two's failures to consider Bryant College have been shown in many other ways including Mr. Cornelius' refusal to communicate with the student body. Don't these two have any social conscience? They don't even seem willing to help students in a constructive cause within the college they administer.

I have this school with a sense of frustration, even bitterness, because nothing productive can be achieved here that goes against tradition even more than in other schools. The trustees - Captains of Industry, High Priests of Capitalism, and Educators — have padded themselves in the middle class and moved to the side. Only when people are outside their bank, office, factory, or school windows will they realize these people are demanding and will be receiving. Then it will be too late.

There is another time left for our comments. It is unfortunate that Dr. Fishman must be associated with this group. Student involvement is a must.

People’s Peace Treaty Draws Attack

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CPS) —The People’s Peace Treaty, and organizations working with it, drew sharp response last week from the State Department and the conservative Young Americans for Freedom (YAF).

YAF announced it would “challenge the radicals identified as People’s Peace Treaty on the campuses and in the communities around the nation” by a “spring offensive entitled ‘Don’t Sell Out’” designed to defeat the treaty through referrendum.

The State Department denounced the treaty, saying “this ‘treaty’ is not a program for a reasonable or lasting peace.” In a statement made Friday afternoon, March 5, the department noted that “the provisions of the ‘peace treaty’ signed in Hanoi are in direct contradiction to the same terms which have been put forward repeatedly over the past two years by the communist negotiators in Paris.”

The statement names the National Student Association as the “chief sponsor of the public relations effort of the radical element of American foreign policy.” It said that the people of South Vietnam and the American people are “in the process of finding their way to the ‘effulgent light’ promised by the radical leaders.”

The treaty, however, only states that “the parties will ‘enter discussions to secure the release of all American prisoners, including pilots captured while bombing North Vietnam.’”

The State Department interpretation of the treaty to mean that the U.S. government will “act alone ... to remove the government of South Vietnam.” The treaty, however, only states that “the American people will ‘act alone ... to remove the government of South Vietnam.’”

Adults now read about, talk about and see more about sex in a year than their parents did in a lifetime, but the subject has been more exploited than explored," the publisher, Interpersonal Publications, Inc., claims. "Millions are beset by unanswered questions, misconceptions and frustrations."

"For these reasons, many of America's leading authorities on sex education have joined together to make available to the public this honest, scientific and hopeful discussion of material about sex," they said.

More than 100,000 people already have taken a year's subscription in advance to the magazine.

Dr. Lief, who is chairman of the magazine's Board of Editors, is outspoken about what he terms "the most exciting and vitalizing sex material."

"It is high time that the newsstands made room for valid, scientific articles that are understandable, accessible and helpful to the layman. There has long been a need for a thoughtful discussion of sexual matters, and 'Sexual Behavior' will on a long way to fill this need," he believes.

Foreign Students Speak Their Minds

by Richard Kaplan

Have you ever wondered what your life would be like if you did not live in the United States? How would you compare your life in the U.S. as a great world power or an imperialistic country with many problems? The answers you will get are likely to be quite different from each other, depending on where you live and who you are. Here are the views of a few of Bryant's foreign students.

The interview was conducted in English, and the students were asked to compare their life in the United States, their home country, or their current living environment, with the United States and its society. The interview was a way to understand how students from different cultural backgrounds perceive the United States and its way of life.

SANTA FE, N.M. (G'PS) The New Mexico Senate last week killed a bill to exempt New Mexico from serving in an undeclared war.

The anti-Vietnam war measure, defeated on a 24-15 floor vote, was patterned after a Massachusetts legislative action of last year, which the U. S. Supreme Court refused to hear.

The Minnesota Senate State has passed a slightly different anti-war bill, allowing the individual to commence a class action suit at the Federal District Court level, instead of deferring it to the State Attorney General to seek a ruling with the Supreme Court.

Meanwhile, in Maryland last week a bill patterned after the Minnesota proposal was defeated in committee by one vote after a seldom-used "renew " provision allowed the legislature's majority to cast negative votes in the committee.
