Love That Bank

Donald W. Nelson, Assistant Vice President, Old Stone Bank, will discuss the Bank's new Flintstone Advertising Campaign at 10 a.m., Wednesday, April 21, at Bryant College in the main auditorium of the Student Activities Building.

Mr. Nelson will explain why the bank selected cartoon characters to advertise the Bank's services and will show the radio and TV commercials and some of the Bank's ads.

All interested students are invited.

The Concert Committee of the Student Senate proudly presents Bert Sommer, a radio recording artist, live and in concert tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 p.m.

Bert's third album was just released. Appearing with Bert will be Mike Brown, who used to be a member of the Left Banke and Deb & Ron, the group which has frequently appeared at the Bryant Coffee House.

All tickets are $2.00. Tickets are available in the bookstore and at Music Club International on Fones Alley. They will also be available in the Coffee House tonight.

“Dump Nixon” Rally April 18

PROVIDENCE, R.I. — Thousands of college students from Rhode Island and New England will converge here Sunday (April 18) to voice their desire for a new President and an end to the Vietnam war.

The students will be participating in a rally at the State House at 4 p.m. The rally, characterized by the national press as the start of a “Dump Nixon” movement, is sponsored by Citizens for Alternatives Now, a broad-based coalition of Rhode Island Republicans, Democrats and others.

Enthusiasm for the rally is running high on most campuses, said Gary Dotterman, who is coordinating that aspect. Arrangements for chartered buses to bring the students to Providence have been made in several areas, he said.

Other speakers will be announced as their commitments are received.

The basic aims of the rally, said co-chairmen Malcolm Farmer, 3rd and State Sen. Harold C. Arcaro Jr., (D) are to voice a demand for new national leadership, a reordering of national priorities, and an end to the Vietnam war. Farmer, a Republican, is an attorney and former executive director of the Governor’s Committee on Crime, Juvenile Delinquency and Criminal Administration under former Gov. John H. Chafee.

Senator Arcaro hailed the rally as the “first formal opportunity for a large segment of the population to voice their reaction to President Nixon’s speech on TV last Wednesday.” In that speech the President gave no specific date for a complete withdrawal of American forces from Vietnam and no indication that he would divert “even a single dollar” from defense and military spending to domestic needs, said the senator.

He urged people to take advantage of Sunday’s opportunity to make their desires known to the President.

The day’s program will begin with a series of forums starting at 1 p.m. in the Biltmore Hotel, a short distance from the State House. The aim of the forums is to acquaint people with alternatives to policies followed by the current administration in areas such as welfare, the elderly, public housing, education, the working man, health, ecology, and the poverty program.

The largest forum will be on the war. Subtopics will include the legality of the war, release of the POWs, the Calley incident, the draft, “citizens speak on the war,” and the Paris peace. There will be a separate forum on programs for peace.

A voter registration forum geared to launching a long-term registration drive for the newly enfranchised 18-to-21-year-olds, will also be held. Information on registration requirements in several states will be available. This forum will probably continue after the rally.

A program of organizational meetings is tentatively scheduled to follow the rally. The meetings will be held from 5:30 to 7 p.m. in the Biltmore to give potential Presidential candidates an opportunity to sign up campaign workers, to further organize the voter registration drive, and to sign up volunteers for the April 24 peace march on Washington.

Several professional rock groups will provide entertainment at the Biltmore and the State House, with music at the latter to begin at 3:30 p.m. Among those performing will be Joni Mitchell, Alex Taylor, Peter Yarrow, and Paul Butterfield.
Letters:

Dear Editor:

I would like to compliment the Masques for their fine job of producing "The Imaginary Invalid." With special congratulations to the acting in the role of Mrs. Teazle.

Anyone who has seen Meryl Streep's performance of Miss Lovelace in this production would have thought that Bryant has an open star in Be Vera. An excellent and artistic job!

The play was enjoyed by all who attended. I am sure that I speak for the majority of Bryant students in hoping that there will be more entertainment of this type in the future.

Sincerely,
Tony Iannou

Dear Mr. Mancini:

Your attention is called to an article which appeared in "The Archway" on Friday, March 26, 1971. The article was written by Robert E. Rounds and asked for donations of books for the Manuscript Library at the Adult Correctional Institutions. Mr. Rounds is to be recommended for his interest in these institutions and I want him to know it is appreciated by the inmates and the staff.

However, Mr. Rounds has been ill advised when he states "the inmates have asked the administration to place for more up to date books but nothing was done to alleviate the problem. The refusal of the administration to provide the library with more reading material has forced the inmates to seek outside help in obtaining the needed books." For Mr. Rounds' information, these shelves were once filled to capacity with books, either purchased or donated. However, upon the advice of the State Library Services Department, many books were discarded to make room for recently used new books.

The plot of January 15, 1969 in which the remaining books were destroyed by the inmates causing the shelves to be emptied in total.

In our 1969-70 budget requests we asked for $6,728.00 and in our 1970-71 budget requests we asked for $7,350.00. Unfortunately, we did not receive money.

The Library Services have been coming to these institutions for approximately four (4) years and visits monthly. Each inmate is permitted to increase up to eight (8) books and may request books which are not included in the booksale. Loss or damage is extremely high as the inmates are allowed to have one book at a time and must return books damaged or destroyed. We have invited interested persons or groups in the community to observe the inmates and evaluate the supply of books.

I would like to take issue with Mr. Rounds' statement that deplorable conditions exist beyond the grey stone walls and barred wire. For his information, prisoners are not a thing of beauty. They are human or external, but, unfortunately, this is society's way and places must exist.

Conditions are far from being deplorable and we attempt to do the best we can with what we have. This institution, in addition to suffering the instability of anything that is one hundred (100) years old, also bears the burden of being understaffed. Under the circumstances, I believe that we are doing a good job.

I welcome the assistance of persons in the community who can help in improving present activities, toward students, books and articles which may be of some use to the inmates both educationally and for recreation.

We are interested in hearing your concerns and this is evident as we do not attempt to keep any groups of citizens, students, etc. from visiting the institution. If, in fact, if we had something to hide we would not allow such tours or visits. College groups are especially welcome as we hope to recruit future personnel from these ranks.

Yours truly,

Mr. Rounds and discuss any and all problems he observed during his tour of these institutions. If Mr. Rounds will agree to access corrections to these criticisms and this is evident as we do not attempt to keep any groups of citizens, students, etc. from visiting the institutions. If, in fact, if we had something to hide we would not allow such tours or visits. College groups are especially welcome as we hope to recruit future personnel from these ranks.

Yours truly,

Sincerely yours,

Robert H. Houte Assistant Warden

$50 Prize For Can Collecting

Next week, April 19 to 26 has been set aside by Ecology Earth Week. The Bryant College Ecology Committee is sponsoring a can collecting contest to be held Wednesday, April 21 from 3:00 to 10:00. The person or organization that collects the most cans and bottles will win a $50 Prize. Any individual or organization interested in participating should contact Marcia Senk, Allan Hall or Gary Bouyer, Dy- er Hall. All cans and bottles must be in plastic garbage bags and presented at the gym by 10:00 to be counted.

Thursday night there will be three movies on Ecology shown in the Student Activities Auditorium. The movies will be about the population explosion, air pollution and water pollution.

Saturday, April 24 there will be two state wide workshops. The first starting at 10:00 is called "Household Insect Workshop" will deal with organic living and consumerism. The workshop will be held at St. Martin's Episcopal Church on Orchard Avenue in Providence. The second workshop will start at 1:00 and is entitled "Energy Resources for the Future." It is a panel discussion on the topic of Non-Power Resources, tribal students, books and articles which may be of some use to the inmates both educationally and for recreation.

We are interested in hearing your concerns and this is evident as we do not attempt to keep any groups of citizens, students, etc. from visiting the institutions. If, in fact, if we had something to hide we would not allow such tours or visits. College groups are especially welcome as we hope to recruit future personnel from these ranks.

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CPS)

Two women, both clerical employees of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said today that they have been forced to resign from their jobs because the FBI fired them for their volunteer work for the National Peace Action Coalition during the evening hours.

A third FBI employee, insisting that she does not resign her of her "off-duty" time is not illegal, has applied for the concern of the agency, initially rejected a re- quest that she submit her resigna tion. However, her employ ment status was unclear today.

Disclosure of the forced resigna tions comes at a time when the FBI is beleaguered by some of the most severe criticism it has faced in the last few decades, including demands from several Democrats in Congress for the resignation of J. Edgar Hoover, its 76-year-old director. Three of the women involved in this latest dispute hold any security clearance or works with sensitive political clas sification information, and one said in an interview. All were employed by the FBI's identification division, performing routine filling and sorting chores usually involving fingerprint and arrest records and other data.

Since mid-February, the three have volunteered two or three evenings each week at the downtown offices of NPAC, which is coordinating the April 25 marches on Washington and San Francisco to protest the Indochina war. The three are natives of small towns and are among the hundreds of young men and women recruited annually by the FBI in such communities across the country and brought to Washington to perform various clerical, secretarial and mechanical jobs.

The women are: Janice Bush, 19, of Nunea, N.Y., Linda Jana ca, 21, of Bikini, Miss., and Linda Jonnes, 19, of Wood- bridge, Va.

Bush initially planned to re main with the FBI and to carry her petition for reinstatement into the federal courts, if necessary. But April 7 she reportedly said she was do ing as an alternative to engaging in a "bail in" battle with the agency.

J. Allison Conley, the official of the FBI's identification division who reportedly presented the trio last week with an ultimatum to cease all anti-war activities or resign from the agency, declined to discuss publicly the controversy, "I can make any comment on it," he said in a telephone interview.

Bush, who was born in the "black light on the airwaves," Last Week, they called us in (to Conley's office) and they said to us, 'you couldn't tell us not to work at the NPAC office or to take part in the protest, but they showed that they didn't like it. That night, I went back to the NPAC office.' She said, "I was told that the FBI learned of her participation in NPAC activities through "paperwork" from the Justice Department and was then referred to the FBI's headquarters office about eight blocks away from the building that houses the Identification Division. Janca said she "kept repeating my answers" when he questioned her about associations with "foreign, communist, and Adolf Hitler.

"He warned me that if any trouble breaks out around me (during a rally), 'administrative action could be brought against me,'" she said. "He thought of my background and the peace groups are against the administration -- and Nixon," Janca said in an interview. "I said the war isn't political, it doesn't matter who's in office." she said.

The president's govern ment," he explained. He said he couldn't do political work, because he might have to be called on the witness stand of the committee," she added.

Janca said, in response to a question, that she described as "a frame-up" the investigation which led to the conviction of the Chicago Seven in connection with the demonstration during the 1969 Democratic National Convention.

"All I can tell you," he said as we rolled the onto the office course for government, "I can't tell the people of my country's interest, making a difficult thing difficult and confusing it's the way it's been since the day the world was created and since Walt Whitman's time."

"I don't speak for the people, but for the country." he said.

"I can't tell you," he said, "to think in terms of a country's position because the people are looking for an answer."

Bryant College has been chosen for the first "premiere" showing of a prestigious three-dimensional film, "Over There." This film presentation will be the highlight of a Symposium on "Domestic and International Operations of a Growing Business," scheduled to begin at 1:00 p.m. on the Auditorium of the Bryant Student Activities Center (corner Hope and Power Streets, Providence).

Chrysler Corporation, in cooperation with Mr. Al Smokey Cervone, owner and President of Harris Auto Company, Inc., of East Providence, is sponsoring the Symposium, the first program of its type to be presented to a college audience. Mr. Peter Dow, Advertising Director for Chrysler Corporation, will moderate a panel discussion following the film.

Intended as a springboard for discussion of many manufactured products and services, the Symposium will point to consumer problems that are unique in that it requires special project engineering and accessories. "Over There" describes the various advertising media that create "markets." While the film emphasizes newspaper advertising, other media are discussed—televislon, outdoor advertising, radio, and magazines, and representatives of each group will participate in the panel discussion.

Francis M.秦雁, Regional Account Executive for Young & Rubicam, the advertising agency that handles the Chrysler account, and Hal Licker, Vice President of the Bureau of Advertising, are coordinating the program.

Bryant's Chairmen for this event are Kenneth M. Long, Assistant Professor of Management, and J. Paul McKillop, Associate Professor of Marketing. The program is open to the public.

Peter A. Dow, Advertising Manager of Chrysler-Plymouth Division, is responsible for supervising, guiding and co-ordinating the planning and programming of all phases of Chrysler-Plymouth car line advertising. A former advertising executive with Young and Rubicam, Inc., Mr. Dow had ten years of automotive advertising experience before joining Chrysler-Plymouth Division in April, 1948, after nearly two years with Young and Rubicam, Inc., as an executive on the Plymouth advertising account.

A native of Detroit, Michigan, Mr. Dow was born October 7, 1913. A high school scholarship student at Lawrenceville School, in Lawrenceville, New Jersey, where he graduated cum laude, Mr. Dow was the recipient of a one-year fellowship at Rugby School, Rugby, England. He graduated with a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Michigan in June, 1935, where he was a three-letter man on the U-M Varsity Swim Team.

During America's heyday, "America the beautiful," "land of the brave," or "land of the free" were popular phrases associated with the United States. The early 1900's were America's heyday, and immigrants flooded gang planks to board ships bound for America. At that time America was a young country, then growing, sailing on an ocean with a course for greatness. Occasionally the ocean became stormy, making the voyage a difficult and costly one. Such was evidenced by the loss of American lives during World War I and World War II. Our country's voyage is now over, and it appears to have landed on a shore of greatness. However, greatness has been brought to those on our shores, like those once on England, the security of the free world. On numerous occasions, countries inflicted with domestic conflicts have knocked on our country's door for financial or military assistance.

Many Americans, including a number of our distinguished politicians, feel that our country should take in the welcome mat and lock the door. Such Americans have turned the doors of patriotic phrases down to a whisper, replacing them with shouts of disapproval towards our foreign policies. They fear that all this door knocking will cause our country's shoulderers to weaken like those of England. I believe such thinking not only to be pessimistic, but detrimental to our country's security. Where ever there exists a threat to our security, our country should take appropriate action to diminish that threat. Vietnam falls under such a classification. Many of you might find it difficult to comprehend how a Communist victory in Vietnam could have much effect on our country's security. I look upon South Vietnam as being but a stepping stone from which Communist aggression can once again be launched against other non-communist countries.

Communism is like a gigantic red lake from which many streams flow. Such a stream is now trickling its way down South Vietnam. Allow this trickling stream to gain momentum and the result will be a raging river that could empty into the United States as though it were a dry reservoir.

Having greatness without patriotism can be compared to having victory without honor. "America the beautiful," "land of the brave," and "land of the free" phrases that best describe our great nation. To hear these phrases whispered distracts me greatly. By supporting our foreign policies that exist as a protector of our country's security and greatness, these whispers could develop into the patriotic roar that once were so prevalent during our country's heyday.

Small amounts of alcohol can set off extremely violent reactions in some people, says Dr. George Thompson, a Los Angeles psychiatrist. In the December SCIENCE DIGEST, Electroencephalograph recordings of the brain waves of some people who have had only two drinks look similar to those of sufferers from psychoneurosis epilepsy, an ailment characterized by violent behavior and anomalies.

Most of the people who have violent reactions to alcohol have undergone head injuries that suggest brain damage.

Youth Committee Supports Draft Laws

A polling of the Selective Service System's Youth Advisory Council reveals that the great majority of U.S. territories show strong support for a temporary extension of the draft, the phase-out of non-smokers' draft deferment and the adoption of a uniform national all.

The three issues are covered in the Administration's All-Volunteer Force/Draft Reform proposals.

According to the Youth Advisory Council's report sent to Selective Service Director Curtis V. Tallman today, a majority of Committees responding to the advisory council's agreement that the authority to induct should be extended until June 30, 1973. In addition, the young people favor, by about 23:1 margin, a phase-out of student deferments, and by about 18:1, the initiation of a universal national draft.

"We are very much in agreement," said Dr. Tallman. "We were very uncertain about the feelings of these young people regarding our proposed legislation, especially concerning the extension of the authority to induct. A great majority of the committees, however, declared that they 'relinquished' agreement that the draft should be temporarily extended. As far as the student deferments are concerned, we have seen a significant increase in the number of students being accepted.

The Youth Advisory Council's report was begun by President Nixon in June 1969, with passing now going in all 56 State Selective Service Headquarters. The approximately 650 young people range in age from 17 to 26 and represent diverse backgrounds. They are chosen by their individual State Selective Service Directors, based on their qualifications for the assignment and their ability to represent a particular segment of their state's young population.

Campaign Spending Examined

WASHINGTON (WGN) — As new hearings on limiting the influence of big money in national elections begin on Capitol Hill this week, a report being issued by Congress this week will address the issue of campaign spending and its impact on American politics.

The report, which was issued by the Selective Service System, is based on a survey of 2,000 poll respondents about their views on campaign finance reform.

The report finds that most Americans believe that campaign spending is too high and that the system is biased in favor of the most well-financed candidates. However, the report also notes that many Americans are skeptical about the feasibility of campaign finance reform.

NEW YORK, N.Y. (CP) — "We may be hard to find... But we're worth it"

The court may rule on the section of the law as related to the Baird case, that of birth control information, or it may decide on the entire question of these rarely enforced laws regulating the sexual behavior of consenting adults.

Baird, who now heads the Parent Aid Clinic in Hempstead, N.Y., is lecturing on college campuses to raise funds for his legal defense. Should the highest court reverse his appeal, he will face two more months in prison.

Baird's Parent Aid Clinic is one of the many abortion clinics opposed in New York since the state liberalized its abortion restrictions. Baird's clinic is noteworthy in that it charges no referral fee, it has a maximum charge of $150 and it does not contact the family of its clients except upon request.

A team of gynecologists perform up to 50 abortions per day in the Long Island office. Baird revealed that thus far this year, 63 per cent of his patients have been Roman Catholics, and three have been Roman Catholic nuns.

Bowlers Go To Kansas City for N.A.I.A. Finals

On Thursday morning, April 22, the Bryant College bowling team will leave for Kansas City, Missouri representing the eastern coast in the N.A.I.A. finals. They will be competing against seven other university team members representing areas throughout the United States. Teams from California, Minnesota, Missouri, Arkansas, Wisconsin, North Carolina, and West Virginia will meet in that College to determine the best collegiate bowling team in the United States. Coach Bob Nigohosian will escort the first team in twelve years to represent Rhode Island. The five bowlers are: Steven Macean, Steven Diamond, John Duda, Lee Wheeler, and Don Dunn. Also accompanying the team is Fred Wisbemin who made it possible for the team to qualify.

The NAI.A finals will be covered by local television, and newspapers across the country. After bowling 15 games in head to head competition Friday and Saturday the team will fly back to Rhode Island Sunday afternoon.

Bryant College besides winning their division of the Tri-State league with a 27-1 record also won the entire Tri-State Tournamemt. Being that the Tri-State rosters are at the same time as the NAI.A finals in Kansas City, the team had to forfeit the right to play in Madison Square Garden for this event.

TKE Wins Basketball Tournament

by JEFFREY DIPPELT

"TKE won despite Joe Byrza," the controversial guard, who is noted for his disparage at everyivet of the whistle. Cohen was a scorer first and a defender second. Rhode Island led Theta Chi to a 52-51 opening game victory with 22 points, but Cohen brought TKE back. In the second game TKE led 21-11 at halftime. However, Theta Chi closed the gap in the second half and moved to within 5 points at 23-18. Then Cohen went to working and scored 9 points and ended the game as higher scorer with 16 points all in the second half. TKE went on to win 47-33 and Cohen was the game's big scorer.

It looked like TKE was no match for Theta Chi in the finals as Bob Nigohosian took charge early, scored 14 points in the first half, and led Theta Chi to a 30-21 halftime lead. The second half was a see-saw battle as each team exchanged baskets until Barkadoic's 3 point play and a foul shot by Jim Burns cut the Theta Chi lead to 5 points, 35-30. Holzman then scored for Theta Chi but TKE came back with successive baskets by Barkadoic and a foul shot by Cohen which put the game out of reach of Theta Chi. Cohen stole the ball again and scored tying the game at 45 all.

Nigohosian put Theta Chi in a hole with only 2 points. Cohen had a big chance to tie the game with less than a minute to play but a Bob Nigohosian technical foul was issued and TKE came back with a quick basket by Ferro who came in for Buchel. That tied it 47-47. TKE forced another turnover and Ferro hit the winning shot with 3 seconds left. Theta Chi called time out and were assessed with a technical foul for too many timeouts. Cohen missed the technical but made both. Final score TKE 51, Theta Chi 47.

Bob Nigohosian was outstanding for Theta Chi taking game high scoring honors with 19 points. Steve Barkadoic bel TKE with 15 points. TKE is the 1971 N.A.I.A. champions in basketball.

A new experimental rattle snake vaccine that protects against bites by the venomous reptiles has been developed at the University of Utah. Fifteen dogs vaccinated with fluid obtained by milking rattle snakes survived lethal doses of venom with only minor swelling, says the February SCIENCE DIGEST.

When the news spread around campus, students were eager to try the new vaccine. Many students offered to contribute their blood to the research team. Some even offered to be bitten by a rattle snake. The scientists were relieved to find that no one was bitten.

Mistletoe, with all its quaint, pretty Christmas influences, isn't the friendly little "plant" you might think. It is a grim parasite that grows on almost every variety of tree in the U.S., sometimes causing the host to sicken or die, says the December SCIENCE DIGEST. Birds spread mistletoe by eating its berries and then spitting their bilts on trees to get rid of the sticky seeds.

O’Brien and Barnicoat Voted Baseball Co-Captains

Bryant’s baseball team has elected Steve Barnicoat and Dennis O’Brien as its co-captains for this year. Dennis, a native of Sommerville, New Jersey, will be the team’s starting center fielder. As a sophomore Dennis batted a strong .273. He was second on the team in runs scored and led the team in doubles. Dennis’ fielding was near perfect. In 52 attempts he made only one error for a fielding average of .981. Because of a mix-up in his academic schedule last year, he was one credit shy of the minimum course requirements of the N.A.I.A. and could not play varsity ball. According to coach Steven Diamond, John Duda, Lee Wheeler, and Don Dunn.

Steve, from Marlborough, Massachusetts, will play a dual role for the team this year. He will be the starting first baseman and will also pitch. Steve’s pitching choices will be mainly as a relief pitcher. His record of 4.39 last year is not indicative of Steve’s pitching ability. Two of his better pitching performances were the 2-0 shut out over St. Francis. In a game against Barrington, Bryant was losing 10-9 in the bottom of the eighth inning when Steve came to bat and hit a 3 run home run to put Bryant in the lead and add another game to his pitching win column. Last year Steve batted a cool .333.
